VALLEY GUARDING AGAINST SABOTAGE

Ickes Is Named Oil Czar

VETO POWER GRANTED IN TRUST CASES

Co-Operation Is Due From Oil Leaders

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Secretary Ickes was given the job Saturday of solving gasoline and oil problems arising from the defense program, and the Justice Department immediately placed in his hand a potent weapon — the veto power over negotiations in anti-trust suits against 22 major oil companies.

ICKES

Attorney General Jackson said in a statement that the suits would not be permitted to impede regulation of the oil industry by Ickes, and mentioned that negotiations were under way to reach an agreement with the oil companies on the anti-trust actions. Then, he added:

"To avoid any conflict with the administrative program which may be established by the secretary of the interior further negotiations in the pending proceedings will be submitted to him, to the end that national defense objectives of the new oil control shall be in no way impeded."

Known Some Time

Although Ickes' appointment to be "petroleum co-ordinator for national defense," was only announced Saturday in Hyde Park, N. Y., by President Roosevelt, it was learned that the interior secretary already had conferred with representatives of the oil industry.

Aides said he was arranging for conferences soon in Washington of all federal agencies dealing with oil, industry representatives, rail and water carriers and officials of oil producing states.

It was not clear exactly how extensive Ickes' powers were.

President Roosevelt directed him to make "specific recommendations" for "action which is necessary or desirable" and cited these as problems for immediate action:

1. Development, production and utilization of reserves of crude oils and natural gas that are of "strategic importance both in quality and location."

2. Elimination or reduction of cross hauling of oil products, ex-

DARLAN FLAYS BRITISH RAIDS

Says Shipping Attack Just 'Piracy'

VICHY, Unoccupied France—(AP)—Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan denounced Britain Saturday, evidently with the approval of Chief of State Marshal Petain, for what he called piratical attacks on French shipping.

Coincident with Darlan's statement, made before French editors in Nazi-occupied Paris, it was reported reliably that the French North African port of Stax had been attacked by British planes for a third time and the 3,313-ton Italian freighter Florida II set afire.

"I remain decided, more than ever," Darlan said, "to force respect for France's right to free ues of her ports and her routes of communication."

Ranging himself squarely on the German side in his expose of French-British relations, the No. 2 man in the Vichy regime asserted that "even in the improbable case of British victory," or in "a triumphant Anglo-Saxon world, France would be only a dominion of second order."

BRITAN SURPRISED THAT FRANCE IS "NEUTRAL"

LONDON—(AP)—Informed British sources, commenting on French Vice-Premier Admiral Darlan's speech Saturday at Vichy, said they were "surprised that France considers herself neutral."

There was no further comment immediately in authoritative quarters, but the view was held in other circles that Britain is hopeful of preventing open hostilities with Vichy.

CIO May Fight War

NEW YORK—(AP)—The National Maritime Union (CIO) said Saturday it would petition the CIO to call a nationwide congres of trade unions and people's groups to organize a fight to remain clear of the war.

Stock Vaccinating In Cameron Will Begin Sunday To Halt Sleep Sickness

Disease Drops In Southern Area Now

SAN BENITO — Continuing the intense campaign to control spread of sleeping sickness among horses and mules in Cameron county a vaccinating service will go into effect Sunday which has been provided by the county commisisoners court in co-operation with the county health unit and the county agent's office.

Dr. Grady Deaton, health director, said Saturday that the disease was worse now in the central section of the county and had declined sharply in the southern part where it was first reported.

Dr. Deaton, Jimmy Walker and Morgan Finley of the county health unit will work with Frank C. Brunnemann, county agent, and his assistant, Ab Weatherby, on the vaccinating service which is available to all farmers.

Schedule Planned

Schedule for the first three days of the coming week has been planned by Brunnemann who asks that all farmers desiring vaccination of animals to bring them to designated places and to wait awhile if officials are late as unexpected delays may interfere with slated time.

The service has arranged with the Animal Byproducts Company in Harlingen, telephone 9539, to remove dead mules and horses from farms within 12 hours after the company is notified. The company is open all day Sunday.

Vaccinating service will be available at the following places:

Sunday: 7 a. m., Laurellis; 9 a. m., Goates store; 11 a. m., Grover Weikel farm.

Monday: 9 a. m., Los Indios, R. O.

PAPPY SPEAKS HERE JUNE 5

Harlingen Talk Will End Valley Tour

HARLINGEN—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel will speak in Harlingen Thursday night at 8 o'clock, to climax a day of visiting in the Valley during which he will make two other talks, it was announced here Saturday.

Governor O'Daniel will be the fourth candidate for the U. S. Senate post left vacant by Morris Sheppard, to visit the Valley during the current campaign. Attorney General Mann and Congressman Martin Dies were here a week ago; and J. C. Williams of Rockport has been in the Valley during the past week.

Leon, and 20 to 25 others, will accompany O'Daniel to the Valley Thursday. A big sound truck, hillbilly music and all the trimmings that proved effective in 1938 and 1940, will be on tap at Fair Park, where O'Daniel spoke during his first campaign for governor.

Other Thursday speeches by O'Daniel will include one at Brownsville at 10 a. m. and the second at Archer Park in McAllen at 1 p. m.

Sleeping Sickness Can Be Cured Says Doctor

Its' Lot Of Work, But It Will Save Your Prize Stock, San Benito Man Says

By HARRY FOEHNER

HARLINGEN—"If you have an extra fine horse or mule that is stricken with sleeping sickness, don't give up hope because there is a chance save it."

That was the ray of hope offered Saturday by M. Zellmer of San Benito, formerly a veterinarian in the north, who told how such afflicted animals might be saved provided that the malady is not too far advanced.

Hundreds of Cameron county and other Valley horses and mules have died of equine encephalo-myelitis and most farmers are vaccinating their animals against this dread disease which may be carried by mosquitoes, horse flies and possibly the Mexican "kissing bug," a blood sucking beetle sometimes found in this area.

Lot Of Work

It takes a lot of work to save an animal but if farmers are serious about curing a favorite horse there is a good chance for accomplishing it. Three horses that Zellmer knows of have been saved already by the method he suggests.

Zellmer said that horses should not be vaccinated after developing fever for then it is too late. If vaccine is effective it may still help but if it is not effective, it works the other way, making the horse's plight worse.

Animals afflicted with sleeping sickness really die of lock-jaw, Zellmer said. Fifty pounds of crushed ice should be placed under the afflicted horse's head and 50 pounds over his head. This may be necessary for 16 to 24 hours to reduce the brain fever from which the animal is suffering. The animal usually regains its sight when the fever leaves.

In addition 1,500 units of tetanus antitoxin should be administered. If this is given in the evening, it should be repeated some time the next day and even a third injection may be necessary.

Apply Enema

An enema may be applied with a water pump, the dose consisting of a teaspoonful of salt to a bucket of water applied several times daily.

A small board with the edges rounded off to prevent injury to the mouth may be inserted between the teeth and worked so as to exercise the jaws. Sometimes the jaws will not be locked, only the tongue being stiff, and working a board back and forth will help, Zellmer said.

Fallen animals should be sprayed or green flies will blow them. Spray also will keep away mosquitoes and prevent even further spread of the disease says Zellmer who is farming a mile north of Lantana on the San Benito-Rio Hondo Road.

Houston Arrives

Texas' Senator Now In US Capital

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Andrew Jackson Houston arrived in the capital Saturday to carve his own niche in history as the oldest person ever to enter the United States Senate.

Appointed as interim senator from Texas, Senator Houston at 86 years is taking a seat occupied by his illustrious father, Sam Houston, in 1846, or five years short of a century ago.

Tired by the 1,500-mile train trip from La Porte, Tex., he asked newspapermen to delay interviews until Monday when he will take his oath of office in the Senate chamber.

JUNE LOVE BUG BITES HIDALGO SWAINS EARLY

EDINBURG — Dan Cupid was working overtime in Hidalgo county Saturday.

June was just around the corner, and young men's fancies were lightly turning to thoughts of—

Well, anyway, during the first few hours of business Saturday morning six couples marched into the county clerk's office and filled out their marriage license applications.

"It's always like this," commented Deputy Clerk Bill Levermann, "just before the first of June."

"That's the magic date."

GOOD COTTON YIELD SEEN

Despite Pests, Rain, May Equal 1940

HARLINGEN — The Valley will produce as much cotton this season as last year although between 45,000 and 50,000 acres of the crop have been entirely eliminated by rains and floods, it was predicted by Douglas Carroll, manager of the Harlingen Cotton Oil Company.

"A tremendous damage has been done by rains and we believe that 20 per cent of the entire Valley cotton acreage has been knocked out," Carroll said. "The 1941 cotton allotment in the Valley is 223,961 acres and a fifth of this would be somewhere between 45,000 and 50,000 acres that have been abandoned."

This does not take into consideration the poor stand and condition of some of the remaining crop, the local man said.

"There is a greater flea hopper infestation than ever before, but even with all these unfavorable conditions we have fair prospects for as much cotton as last year when the yield per acre was low," Carroll stated.

There were 95,335 bales produced last year on 211,447 allotted acres.

Texans Okay Market Control For Wheat

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—(AP)—Texans voted overwhelmingly Saturday in favor of a Department of Agriculture proposal to establish marketing quotas on this year's wheat crop.

Results Saturday night from 96 of 133 counties showed 10,541 for and 833 against wheat quotas. Farmers of Gray county, a heavy wheat producer, voted 377 to 9 in favor of the plan.

Zamzam Survivors Freed Saturday But 21 U. S. Ambulance Drivers Held

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, At The French Frontier —(AP)— A United States embassy official said Saturday he would go Monday to Biarritz, in occupied France, to find out why 21 American ambulance drivers were detained while 119 other American survivors from the Egyptian liner Zamzam were permitted to enter Spain en route to Lisbon.

The ambulance men were confined to a hotel in Biarritz. A representative of the Berlin foreign office ordered them held, saying their cases would be decided in Berlin.

The Americans who crossed over, including two ambulance drivers who apparently were released by mistake because their passports were marked "student," reported that Germans referred repeatedly to "bad treatment" they said was given German sailors arrested in American ports.

Reaching Spain among the survivors of the ship, torpedoed by a German raider in the South Atlantic, were six pregnant American women.

W. H. Edwards and his wife, Edna, missionaries of Detroit, Mich., who were en route to their post in the Belgian Congo, also were aboard the British liner Athenia when it was sunk the first week of the war.

They said the sinking of the Zamzam was "more pleasant," since she was hit at dawn instead of at night

ARMISTICE IN IRAQ WAR IS NOW SIGNED

Mop-Up On Crete Is Nearly Over

BAGHDAD QUITS

Nazis Rush Belated Aid To Iraq

By The Associated Press

The European - African - Middle Eastern conflict once again is a war in search of a battlefront.

With the strange battle of Crete all over except for the German-Italian shouting, the mop-up and Britain's formal acknowledgement of another great defeat, high strategists of both sides, it can be taken for granted, are looking around for the likeliest zone of offense and defense.

And Iraq, by all indications Saturday night, appeared to be it."

The British Imperial command knew that and it was an impelling factor in the speed (one month) with which British Middle Eastern forces cleaned up the Iraq war-within-a-war before the Axis could or wished, to give all-out aid to the anti-British dictator-premier, Rashid Ali Al Gailani.

Iraq Sues For Peace

The British campaign in Iraq was capped Friday by a plea for peace from a Baghdad committee which took the reins of Iraq government upon the flight of Rashid Ali into neighboring Iran.

The British indicated that an armistice had been or would be promptly granted, even as a Palestine motorized force drove into the riot-ridden capital.

A British radio report said that the armistice became effective late Saturday afternoon and that the city of Baghdad was quiet.

Axis aid for Rashid Ali and his military cohorts had been too little and, unless the Axis can now turn the tables, too late.

The offensive with which Germany blasted Crete by air and then swamped Greek and British Imperial defenders with an unprecedented air-borne invasion virtually had sidetracked the help for which the pro-Axis Rashid Ali had appealed.

Just A Trickle

Two weeks ago the signs forecast a great German aerial incursion into Iraq, by way of neighboring French-mandated Syria. But the trickle of German warplanes and technicians remained just a trickle.

The latest report—from Cairo—was that these same warplanes were flying out of Iraq.

For the last 12 days the Germans, and more recently the Italians, have been preoccupied with the conquest of Crete. In Iraq, British troops, already there by treaty with Rashid Ali's predecessors in power, mopped up the Iraq forces.

The biggest crumb of comfort—if any—falling to the British from the battle of Crete is that the die-hard defense of that strategic Greek island, besides costing the Germans heavily in man and planes, may have saved British positions in Iraq.

That land of forbidding desert and scrub country, as rich in Biblical lore as in coveted oil, is a path to the Suez Canal.

The problem of defending it now is principally one of swift pacification of native forces and solidification of defense lines before the luftwaffe, once it has had a breathing spell, can, as the military men

There were 186 traffic deaths, 46 drownings, 7 killed by trains and 40 by miscellaneous causes.

Study Fragments

Irish May Identify Bomber Raiders

By The Associated Press

DUBLIN — Authorities Saturday night preserved for future examination fragments of four bombs which unidentified warplanes dropped on this neutral capital early Saturday, leaving 27 persons known dead, 25 missing, and probably 200 injured.

The government declined, however, to speculate on the identity of the bombers in this third and worst attack Dublin has suffered. Unidentified planes killed three persons and injured 12 the night of January 2-3, and bombs again were dropped May 5 without causing casualties.

(Strongly suggesting the identity of the raiders, RAF headquarters at Belfast, in British-ruled Northern Ireland, announced that German planes crossed that territory during the night, but dropped no bombs.)

Bridges, Water Works Are Closely Watched Saturday

Excitement Seen In Mercedes, Aid Asked

McALLEN—An attitude of caution prevailed Saturday night in the Lower Rio Grande Valley after county, state and federal officers and special guards hired by companies operating international bridges had been warned of the possible danger of sabotage along the international boundary this weekend.

Mercedes Patrolled

A brief flurry of excitement resulted Friday night at Mercedes when county and state officers patrolled the city most of the night after receiving reports that saboteurs planned trouble in that vicinity. Hidalgo county sheriff's deputies, Texas Rangers and Texas highway patrolmen watched the city after Mercedes citizens reportedly transmitted directly to Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel some of the reports they had received. While the governor's office maintained Saturday that no such calls for assistance had been received from Mercedes, there was no denying the fact that officers moved quickly and in force Friday night to protect public utilities in the Mercedes area. At least eight state highway patrolmen in four scout cars, half a dozen deputy sheriffs and Texas Rangers participated in the patrol activity which lasted most of Friday night.

The Mercedes water district added an extra watchman at the Mercedes river pump, just west of the Rio Rico international bridge, an American customs officer remained on duty at the bridge itself throughout the night although they ordinarily leave the bridge when it closes at midnight and other officers checked the Willacy county pump east of the bridge.

Kahn Issues Warning

Anxiety for the numerous pumping plants along the Rio Grande, nearly all of which provide water for domestic as well as irrigation purposes in Valley cities, arose after the office of Assistant Customs Collector A. R. Kahn in Laredo warned Valley customs collectors of reports it had received of possible acts of sabotage directed against international bridges and pumping plants along the river. This warning was followed by announcement by Mayor

SKEETERBLITZ OPENS MONDAY

Federal Aid Is Given Cameron Unit

SAN BENITO — Mosquitoes in Cameron county are in for a wholesale depopulation Monday when a crew of 14 men armed with spray guns go into action to relievee residents of an itchy situation and in particular to control the malaria carrying insect.

Dr. Grady Deaton, head of the county health unit, under whose department the reorganized mosquito control project is directed, said Saturday that federal participation in the program officially begins Sunday.

This federal aid will add some $4,000 to the county's $5,800 budgeted for the cause and includes furnishing a truck, equipment, oil, gasoline and spray materials. The W.P.A. will also assist in the project about July 1.

Regular county crews of four men have been at work since May 15 under the direction of Jack Lewis but the control program has been seriously hampered by the heavy rains.

Beginning of this intensive control work is expected to end the touchy situation developed in the county among residents, officials and commissioners when the program was discontinued weeks ago by the county court.

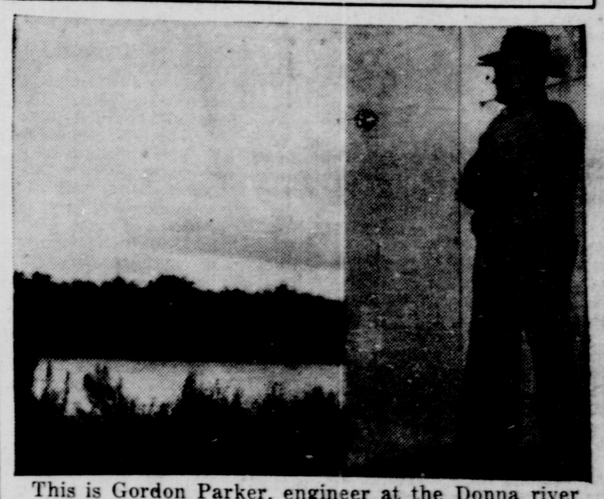

Proponent of the project's reorganization was Commissioner Charles A. Morris of San Benito Commissioners are reported to be exceedingly pleased with the new program as planned by Dr. Deaton and Joe Winston, county sanitary engineer. Particularly are officials elated over the federal aid which will assist in providing one of the most efficient mosquito control units in the state.

British Raid Toll More Than Fighting

LONDON—(AP)—Nearly twice as many Britons have been killed in bombing raids as in action against the Axis, figures issued by the government indicated Saturday.

The war so far has cost Britain fewer than 5,000 military casualties a month, it was announced, and the total killed in all three fighting services during the 21 months since the conflict began was 18,627.

Nation Is 'On Alert'

Defense Factories, Waterfronts Guarded Against Threats Of Holiday Sabotage

By The Associated Press

"All quiet" was the word Saturday from defense factory and waterfront, power plant and oil field, but watchful soldiers, police and civilians continued an alert patrol against any hint of the sabotage which an undercurrent of rumor had predicted for Memorial Day.

The guards were called to duty Friday at strategic centers throughout the nation, apparently as a result of telephoned warnings from the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington. But the only reported result was the arrest of a man caught crawling through a fence at an ordnance plant in Milan, Tenn.

Military officers did not comment on the source of orders for the alert, but civilian authorities in several communities said the FBI had recommended extraordinary vigilance during the holiday week-end. Many defense factories were closed for holiday period, but the patrols were not confined to such premises.

There were guards on the international bridge at Laredo, Texas; and the Delaware River bridge at Philadelphia; visitors were barred from the Lake Washington ship canal in Seattle; naval vessels augmented the harbor patrol at New London, Conn., and armed guards watched the Huntington Beach oil fields in Southern California.

Other strategic points where vigil was maintained included:

Aircraft factories in Southern California and the New York metropolitan area, oil storage depots in Jacksonville, Fla., and Corpus Christi, Tex.; the Baldwin Locomotive Works and the navy yard in Philadelphia; the navy submarine base and the Electric Boat Company at New London, Conn.; and waterfront areas in Port Arthur, Tex.; New York, Seattle, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Miami, Fla.

MEXICO HINTS U. S. WAR AID

May Join U. S. If Time Comes

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Asked if Mexico would follow the United States into a war against the Axis powers, President Availa Camacho said Saturday night it would "take whatever measures are necessary to assure its sons a future of honor and independence."

In the most comprehensive statement he has yet made on foreign policy, the president declared in answer to the question asked by Vicente Lombardo Toledano, head of the Confederation of Latin American Workers:

"The collaboration of Mexico and the United States is not the result of a military alliance but of a regional understanding of a defense nature. Thus, if the government of the United States should declare war on any Asiatic or European power, this fact alone would not oblige Mexico to adopt, automatically, a like attitude.

"But it would be a mistake to think that in the present state of things the destiny of one of the American nations could remain iso-

JERSEY CITY FLAMES RAGE

$25,000,000 Defense Goods Threatened

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(AP)—The U. S. Coast Guard said Saturday night that at 9:20 p.m. (EST (8:20 CST) a spectacular fire in the Erie railroad yards on the Hudson River waterfront had been brought under control after sweeping through two grain elevators and causing heavy damage to a warehouse, railroad equipment and piers during its four-hour rampage.

JERSEY CITY—(AP)—A spectacular fire that sent huge clouds of smoke billowing over the New York metropolitan area raged unchecked Saturday night through the huge yards of the Erie Railroad on the Hudson river waterfront.

Flames that shot 400 feet into the sky roared through two eight-story filled grain elevators, baked the outer walls of a seven-story brick warehouse and ignited several piers and tied-up barges. The fire then swept north into the Erie ferry terminal which connects with midtown Manhattan. A moderately strong south wind shifted later and apparently limited damage to part of the wooden structure.

Warehouse Aflame

The fire next broke into the lower three stories of the seven-floor Mid-Hudson warehouse, filled with what police said were defense orders of grain, oil and rubber. A policeman said merchandise in the building was valued at $25,000,000.

At least two men were injured. Fire Captain Leo Duffy was treated for heat prostration and P. C. Hannon, president of the Carscallen and Cassidy Grain Company, received finger burns when he and Police Sgt. Mark Fallon ran into one of the grain elevators and raced to the top floor where they got company funds from a safe.

The other elevator was owned

Topic Of Lengthy FDR-Winant 'Phone Talk Not Revealed

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—President Roosevelt had a long telephone conservation Saturday with Ambassador John G. Winant, but there was no inkling of what they discussed.

The temporary White House said Winant would spend the next two days compiling a report and "checking on certain information he must obtain over here," then see Mr. Roosevelt in Washington Tuesday.

The ambassador, who returned Friday from his post in London, presumably will give the chief executive a detailed account of current conditions in Britain and the British attitude toward the war. Whether he brought with him any confidential information from the British government was not disclosed.

White House Spikes New Bureau Rumors

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—The temporary White House said Saturday "it is not true" that President Roosevelt had ordered creation of an Office of Transportation and thereby wiped out the last remnant of the old national defense commission.

Asked whether Mr. Roosevelt had inferred that he did not intend to create such an office, Secretary William D. Hassett replied in the negative, but said he had not inquired about that angle.

Model Plane Notes

By GARVER MURRAY

Well, school is out and now we can get down to some real flying again, that is if the weather gives us a break. Get those motors tuned, and be sure your batteries are new, and come on out to the airport here this afternoon around 2 o'clock, and we will see what we can do to start the season off—with a crash!

I have heard from almost all the gang up and down the line, and they are all going to be here.

Jimmy Jolly of San Benito has rebuilt his plane and reports that it sure has the old wanderlust—lost it the other day, for about six hours. Scotty Bowlin of Harlingen lost his plane last Sunday, but it turned up about a mile north of the Stuart school—some flight, for so early in the morning.

Earl Gibby writes that he might have to work but that he will notify all the gang there in Weslaco—also gave us a nice spot on the air, over KRGV—Thanks Earl. M. A. Tennison Jr. has been slightly under the weather since he broke his finger and then got it infected.

Jimmy Younkin from McAllen has been down for the last few days and has a Gull all ready to go for the rubber-powered event.

Wayne Cole missed out on the last few days of school, by getting down with a slight case of pneumonia, but since school is out, he is feeling fine. He will have his class A job ready, I hope, and should have his Baby Shark ready before long. His running mate, John Maltby, is on his way to Oklahoma and points north. (He took his plane along though.) We have a new modeler or so around Harlingen, and from the fine work they are doing on scale jobs, it won't be long before they are out there with a big contest job.

Bo Scott is even getting the bug again, and although he won't have a ship out today, he will have a new job ready before long—maybe a Buzzard? I have just about got my ships back together again, and hope to have Gene going.

I had a nice letter from our old friend Jim Thomas. He was over in Memphis at the time of writing, and said that in all his travels, since leaving here, he hadn't seen a model meet yet. He was in Fort Smith, Ark., the day after their big meet there, and just missed seeing Sadler and Thomas, the designers of the Peacemaker, and other fine flying planes. He also missed out on Tulsa, Oklahoma's, big contest by about three hundred miles, but that doesn't seem to bother him as much as not hearing anything from the gang down here. He still claims that he likes his new job, though.

Leo Savage, up Raymondville way, is getting his plane and motor ready again—I have often wondered if his cousin ever found the plane that he lost over around Lyford? We are liable to have Snow with us this afternoon. (He lives over at Santa Rosa) and he keeps his dad busy getting supplies for him. I understand he has a Comet Gull about ready to test—just needs about 60 feet of rubber.

Rather surprised the other day to receive a card from Phil Atteberry. I thought he had flown the Valley, but sure enough he is still alive and ready to get back to his Madam Butterfly—also reports that he is building a new six-foot job—you all know Phil's big jobs? He said that quite a few of his gang were still going strong, and that they were just waiting for a get-together so that they could show the rest of the gang up. Hal Tom is still building his Spook. ((No fooling that's what Phil said anyway). I guess I could write a continued story about that.

Well, you guys better come out ready to fly, because after you check-in, and your motor don't run or anything else comes up, it's just going to be too bad—no refunds! Don't be a whiner—but try to be a winner! Adios.

by the Erie. Hannon said both were almost completely destroyed He would not estimate his company's loss. The company elevator was filled with corn and other feed grains.

Trains Wet Down

Harried railroad crews hastily wet down long strings of passenger and freight cars on sidings.

Fifteen freight cars, loaded with general merchandise, including automobiles, were reported destroyed. The Erie suspended ferry service to New York at 5 p. m., soon after the fire started at the foot of Sixth street. It swept five city blocks along the waterfront to Pavonia avenue.

Firemen said they were handicapped in fighting the blaze because it was low tide, and they had to move their pumping lines further out in the river.

Police Inspector Walter Cieciuch said it was Jersey City's biggest fire since a warehouse fire in 1917.

"Geographically, historically and logically we form a democratic unit which the dictatorial forces are, undoubtedly, going to try to disrupt in order to obtain a victory which would imply sooner or later the disappearance of the postulates on which our existence as free and sovereign peoples are based.

"Only those countries which know how to assume in time, and courageously, the corresponding political responsibilities will save themselves from the totalitarian wreckage.

Carol, Lupescu Now Arrived In Havana After Long Flight

HAVANA — (AP) — Former King Carol of Rumania and Mme. Elena Lupescu were ensconced temporarily Saturday in a $540-a-month hotel suite at the end of an eight-month flight from the German-controlled homeland.

Hundreds of persons applauded as 47-year-old Carol, Mme. Lupescu and Ernest Urdareanu, the ex-king's faithful aide, landed Friday.

Carol's flight carried him and Mme. Lupescu to Spain, where they were virtual prisoners for a time. Eventually, they eluded guards, reached Portugal by automobile and took a ship from Lisbon to Bermuda. There, they boarded the ship which brought them here.

British To Resume Oil Sales To Siam

SINGAPORE —(AP)— British and Thai (Siamese) representatives arranged Saturday for at least partial resumption of petroleum sales to Thailand by British and, possibly, United States oil companies after a lapse of almost two years.

Shell, Standard Oil and Texaco had withdrawn from the Thailand market because of the stringency of the Kingdom's oil control regulations.

Nazi Raiders Bomb British West Coast

BERLIN—(AP)—German night raiders bombed two important British shipping areas on the west coast, the Mersey region of Liverpool and the Bristol Channel, the high command reported Friday.

They said bomber crews reported raging fires in all those ports.

Rep. Dies Says He Fought Oil Control

DALLAS —(AP)— Rep. Martin Dies told the National Oil Scouts and Landmen's Association Saturday that it was his fight against federal oil control that prevented the Cole bill passing in the House.

Dies, a member of the House Rules Committee, said the bill—which he described as the "Ickes federal oil control plan"—had passed the Senate but did not get past the Rules Committee.

ARMISTICE IN IRAQ SIGNED

Nazis Rush Belated Aid To Ally

say, stage another "vertical envelopment" or before Germany can establish a land army in Iraq.

The future of the Suez Canal lifeline link, of the Alexandria naval base, of Britain's remaining naval power in the eastern Mediterranean, may depend on how fast and how well Britain can consolidate her Iraq and adjoining middle east positions.

The Axis foothold on Crete—the Nazis have called it an unsinkable aircraft carrier—is a stern challenge to the British fleet and the whole framework of British power in the Middle East. It is two hours by air from Suez—the same for Alexandria.

Crete is a potential stepping stone to Italian North Africa, being 200 miles from Libya. If the luftwaffe can control the air Britain may be compelled to rely on submarines and planes alone to keep heavy reinforcements from Axis forces in Libya and Egypt where, on the other flank, they threaten Alexandria and Suez. Britain lost heavily in surface ships in the defense of Crete.

Within Nazi Range

All three of Britain's now pivotal Mediterranean bases, Malta, Cyprus and Alexandria, are within easy luftwaffe range. Gibraltar, itself the target of an incipient threat from Spain or Spanish Morocco, does not figure immediately in the eastern Mediterranean situation. It would figure, however, once attacked, for it guards the western entrance to that land-locked sea.

As though feeling each other out for the aerial struggle to come, large German and British formations tangled yesterday over the Eastern Mediterranean. Two Heinkels plunged into the sea in this battle and, the RAF reported, "many" others were so badly damaged they probably didn't make home base.

British observers who like to call the resistance at Crete a diversion of Germany's Drang Nach Osten (march to the east), said in summary that it permitted:

1. Liquidation of the Iraq warfare.
2. Virtual windup of the Ethiopian campaign.
3. Tightened preparations to meet the Axis threat from Egypt's western desert and Libya.
4. Rest, reorganization and re-equipment of British Imperial Forces evacuated from Greece.

Turkey, still a paper ally of the British, or French-mandated Syria, or both, seemed to be in the middle of the Axis squeeze on Suez. When Germany gets ready to move, there undoubtedly will be pressure on Syria and perhaps Turkey for land right-of-way.

Full German use of Syria as a gateway to the Middle East likely would smash completely the already strained relations between Britain and Vichy, France.

Strain Heightened

From the French side the strain was heightened by reports of three bombing attacks by the British on the Tunisian harbor of Sfax, in French North Africa. The British ostensibly were attacking Italian ships but French ships also have been hit.

France's No. 2 man, Admiral Darlan, an old seadog who will never forget the pasting the British gave the French navy last June at Oran after the French surrender, followed up these reports by calling Britain a pirate.

Vice Premier Darlan, ranging himself on the German side, asserted that "even in the improbable case of British victory" or in "a triumphant Anglo-Saxon world, France would be only a dominion of second order."

". . . I intend to act in such a way that France retakes her place as a power in Europe and the world. That means she must participate in construction of the new order."

France Near Famine

He said the British blockade was driving France to famine while the British, in "a war of piracy" had taken 143 French ships to replace her own tonnage losses. These things, Darlan laid before an assembly of editors from the occupied zone before he returned to Vichy from Paris and the latest of his collaboration visits.

The total of known dead in a raid on Dublin early Saturday reached 22, while 30 were reported missing and possibly as many as 200 more suffered injuries. Prime Minister Eamon de Valera visited the damaged zones and authorities took away bomb fragments for examination without commenting on the possible identity of the bombing planes.

The Japanese press launched a new and vigorous attack on United States foreign policy, charging that the United States was influencing the Netherlands governmnt in connection with the Netherlands East Indies trade.

There's A Bit Of Rembrandt In Us All, Says Artist Who Forced Negro To Paint

By NORMAN WALKER
AP Feature Service

BATON ROUGE, La. — A conviction that in everyone lies latent a natural artistic flair prompted an advanced art student at Louisiana State University into undertaking an experiment.

Its success has 23-year-old Howard Mitchem thinking about tossing away his own brushes and turning to teaching.

One evening the Vicksburg youth, stone deaf, by the way, tired of completing canvasses. A Negro janitor, sweeping up after an untidy sculpture class, suddenly found Mitchem offering him a scrap of canvas, some tubes of colors and a brush.

Art Begins At Home

"Here, go home and paint me a picture," Mitchem commanded, and stalked off. The Negro, Felton Coleman, brought his materials home to a puzzled wife and children. But he went to work and soon brought back a picture, his own cabin done in brilliant colors.

Ever since then Coleman has spent his evenings painting at home by the light of a kerosene lamp. Intent neighbors crowd at his elbow.

Less than a year after he began, Coleman's brightly-colored and strongly composed "Baptism" appeared by invitation at the annual exhibition of Louisiana artists at the capital.

Uses Dime Store Paints

"Coleman can be the greatest artist of his race, at least in the south" Mitchem predicts taking up his favorite subject—hidden talents.

"It's a pity the opportunities to learn are not in the reach of more of his people. They all have talent. Painting gives them a way to express themselves. And they've got a great deal to say."

Felton Coleman, Negro janitor at Louisiana State University art school, was ordered to paint by Howard Mitchem, advanced art student. Coleman did, surprisingly well.

Tokyo Paper Backs Matsuoka But Asks Better U. S. Accord

TOKYO — (AP) — The influential newspaper Chugai Saturday backed up Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka's pledge that Japan would fulfill her Axis alliance obligations to Germany, but urged better relations with the United States.

"We believe the United States wants world peace," an editorial commented.

"If this is the case, the United States should cooperate with Japan. We believe the most urgent thing at this moment is a readjustment of United States-Japanese relations."

Nazi Raider Battle Cost Fleet 25 Men

LONDON — (AP) — British naval losses in the engagement which resulted in the sinking of the German battleship Bismarck total 25 killed and 13 wounded in addition to the 1,300 or more who went down with the battle cruiser Hood, the admiralty said Saturday.

Only three of those aboard the Hood are known to have been saved.

Dispatches from Reykjavik, Iceland, were they were landed, identified these survivors, as Midshipman Dundas, Signalman Briggs and Seaman Tilburn.

FHA Homes Continue At Peak During May

The agency received 8,401 applications for home insurance last week, a continuation of the almost unbroken climb to new high levels reported through the spring season.

Hugh Cluck of Laredo that he had been informed of a possible attempt to "blow up" the Laredo international bridge. At that bridge, special searchlights were set up to illuminate the bridge from end to end. extra guards were placed on the bridge to watch loiterers and to check suspicious-appearing automobiles and watchers were stationed along the banks of the river. Mexican soldiers patrolled the south side of the Rio Grande there.

Here in the Valley, special guards watched the Brownsville and Hidalgo-Reynosa international bridges, keeping all traffic moving steadily, both pedestrian and vehicular. Customs officers at both bridges kept an eye on the spans in addition to their regular duties. The Rio Rico bridge was also being watched to prevent any untoward incident.

Mexican Soldiers Watch

Mexican soldiers patrolled the south side of the river in the Matamoros area, opposite Brownsville, as in the Laredo area. No reports of similar patrols had been received from the Hidalgo bridge, and it was said reliably that no soldiers had been on duty there.

Valley Bridge Co. employes, operating the Hidalgo-Reynosa span, said the company usually kept a nightwatchman on duty when the river was up, but that there were no special guards on the bridge.

Chief Deputy Sheriff E. E. Vickers at Edinburg said he knew of no reason far particular alarm, but that the sheriff's office was "taking no chances in view of the national emergency." He said the office had discussed with water district officials "several times in the past" the vulnerability of pumping plants which provide Valley cities with water and that the office had offered its assistance in guarding the properties to any who might desire those services. He said no assistance had been asked until the Mercedes call of Friday night and that nothing developed there although the department took precautionary measures.

Several Upper Valley water districts had their watchmen and employes who live near the pumping plants on the alert for any disturbance. Few, if any, of the big plants were operating because the recent heavy rains had made irrigation unnecessary.

With the exception of the captain, the officers and crew were forced to remain aboard the ship 60 hours while it was tied up at Lisbon. Portuguese authorities would not grant the men permission to go ashore because a Spaniard who had stowed away at New York escaped into Lisbon a few hours after the Excambion docked last Tuesday afternoon.

4. Elimination of the drilling of unnecessary wells in proven fields and of "other unnecessary activities and equipment.

Ickes' recommendations are to be submitted to federal agencies—particularly the Office of Production Management and the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, to state officials, and to "any appropriate industry or party thereof."

White House officials, declined in the absence of a legal opinion, to discuss the question of whether or not Ickes had power to enforce any recommendations he makes.

OIL LEADERS PLEDGE FULL CO.OPERATION

TULSA, Okla.— (AP) —Statements from leaders indicated Saturday night that Secretary Ickes, the new petroleum co-ordinator for national defense, would have full co-operation from the $10,000,000,000 oil industry in the effort to adjust petroleum supplies to the nation's needs.

It was generally agreed that a transportation bottleneck caused by a recent transfer of oil tankers to Britain brought about the Ickes appointment. Oil men contend that the industry can supply any conceivablea demand for its products, even in wartime.

"This is an emergency action," said Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, "and is taken with the apparent intent of insuring that no friction or lack of co-ordination will be permitted to stop the flow of this important commodity to its most needed point of consumption.

"For this emergency, co-operation would seem essential and every agency in the oil producing states and the industry will no doubt respond to this situation now confronting us. The president will find the petroleum industry ready."

Oil leaders here privately expressed disappointment but withheld formal comment pending a study of what effect the appointment will have on the operation of the industry.

WINANT MAY PROVE TO BE FDR COURIER

Secret Information May Be Mission

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Informed Washington opinion is that Ambassador John G. Winant's hurried visit to this country is not so much for the purpose of bringing information to President Roosevelt, as of carrying highly important and secret information back to London.

The timing of his visit would suggest that such was the case. It follows immediately upon Mr. Roosevelt's Tuesday night speech, an address which stated American policy toward England and the war in positive terms and spoke vigorously but mysteriously of new measures to be attempted upon the Atlantic.

At a press conference the next day, the chief executive made it more than clear that he considers his plans for assuring the safe delivery of American supplies to England a military secret of the most important character. When asked what he proposed to do, he told a reporter that that was what Adolf Hitler would most like to know.

Now, it is hardly unusual for ambassadors to act as messenger boys, particularly in times of crisis. In days such as these there naturally must be exchanges of information so confidential in nature, and so valuable to Germany, should the Nazis by any chance obtain, it that it cannot be entrusted to coded cables or diplomatic mail pouches.

Sidewalk Symphony Packs Streets

High Tone Music Comes Down To Sidewalk Level In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—High tone music came down to the sidewalk level Saturday night with the Oklahoma State Symphony Orchestra scheduled to perform before a first night throng clad in slacks and overalls.

When Conductor Victor Allessandro steps to the podium he will be pursued by spot and flood light, just as though he were in some big auditorium instead of in a downtown street.

In order not to scare away too many customers for the novel concert, the orchestra went rather easy on the classics and let the public pick much of its own program.

When the sidewalk symphony was announced recently, sponsors were besieged with telephoned requests for favorite numbers. The public also was invited to come dressed in ordinary clothes, slacks, overalls, or anything else handy and comfortable of a warm evening.

Mrs. Roland Wright, president of the Oklahoma State Symphony Society, said the informal appearance would afford the general public a chance to hear symphonic music without cost and without depending on the radio.

The program offered such popular numbers as Tales From the Vienna Woods, The Blue Danube, Rhapsody in Blue, Stars and Stripes Forever, and God Bless America.

The orchestra is sponsored by the Oklahoma State Symphony Society with the help of the WPA. It has been giving formal concerts in the regular symphony tradition for some time.

Texas Senate Races Reach Name-Calling

Top-Flight Candidates Begin Hot Talks Following O'Daniel's Radio Campaign

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff

Substantial evidence that the senatorial campaign was approaching the bare-knuckles stage cropped up in week-end speeches by several top-flight candidates among the field of 29 aspiring to the seat left vacant by the death of Morris Sheppard.

With four weeks remaining before the June 28 special election, there was still plenty of time for name-calling. Thusfar the campaign has jogged along on an extra-ordinarily high plane, virtually devoid of personalities.

Very few doubted that Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's intensive week of radio "pre-campaigning," prior to his first open-air rally at Waco Monday night, was in a large part responsible for these first mutterings.

Lyndon Johnson, speaking at Corsicana Friday night, referred directly to the governor.

Hints At Change

"How many of you ever heard the governor say he'd fight for Roosevelt, before he asked to go to Washington?" He said at the Navarro county rally.

"Was the Texas governor the only Democratic governor in all the United States who, not one time, but several times, refused to speak a word for Franklin D. Roosevelt when he was under attack last September?"

Gerald Mann drew in the governor and at least two of his opponents when he said at Greenville.

"The office of congressman is a defense post. Those congressmen who are closest to and most trusted by the President should be at his side now. . . .

"The office of governor is at this time in a large degree a defense office. A week ago last Monday night the governor publicly enumerated the many functions he has performed in aiding the national defense program."

Just "Law Office"

Then, after saying everyone who has a place important to the defense program should not leave it, he expressed the opinion the office of attorney general is not a defense office "but simply the state's law office," and added:

"I was the first candidate in this race for the United States Senate. I am the first candidate in this race tonight and I shall still be the first candidate when the votes are counted June 28."

Martin Dies told a Waco audience he was for Roosevelt's aid to Britain and defense programs, adding: "but I don't agree with him 100 per cent on everything."

"The man you elect to the Senate will go to the second highest place in the nation," he went on. "You wouldn't want a man in the Senate who would 'yes' the President all the time. . . .

Boasts Of Experience

"Many of you have sons in uniform. What would you think if the captain who led them was a man of no military experience, who depended on a hillbilly band to get his position?"

Both Mann and Johnson were guests of honor at Athens' old fiddlers' contest, but stayed away from politics in their speeches. Mann gave a detailed history of the stringed instrument that was so much in evidence at the East Texas Fiddle Festival.

Names of the 29 candidates, including two Republicans, one independent and one Communist, were certified to county clerks for printing on the official ballot. It was one of the largest fields ever to enter the lists for one job in Texas' political lists.

Oldtimer In Valley Still Clings To Bonanza Hope

MERCEDES — West Texans are widely known for their optimistic spirit but Valley people excell them in extolling the good points of this fertile section and in clinging to the eternal hope of a future bonanza, in the opinion of H. W. Austin, veteran Fort Worth attorney, Valley landowner since 1913 and a former assistant general claim agent of the Wabash Railroad, who is spending several days in the Valley looking after his property.

Austin, who pioneered Valley development during the four turbulent years from 1913 to 1917, himself has an abiding faith in the future potentialities of this young economic giant who has not as yet "become of age." It is just a matter of time until the right kind of leadership and management will be developed to put this area on the economic pedestal on which it belongs, he points out.

Leadership 'Within'

This leadership, he believes, must come from within—it must spring from the desire of Valley farmers to co-operate out of their own free will in an effective system of marketing their products. Incidentally Austin was one of the keynoters in organizing the first marketing system in the Valley; the unit marketing system which probably, only a very few of the oldest residents recall. That was before the "citrus area" when vegetables were the sole crop in this section. The unit marketing system was a Valley-wide cooperative with approximately 60 per cent of the farmers as members and with a director in every community. All sales were handled by the manager of the association to whom farmers reported whenever they had some produce for sale.

Austin recalls that this system worked successfully for several years. He has been a landowner in the Santa Maria section ever since he landed in the Valley 28 years ago after resigning his lucrative position with the Wabash Railroad. He landed at Brownsville at 10:30 p. m. on December 31, 1912 and arrived at Santa Maria the next morning in time to eat the first dinner served in the new Santa Maria hotel, erected at that time as one of the leading Valley hostelries. "Forty six passes, on which I had been traveling for many years throughout the United States, expired that morning," he recalls.

Travelled Million Miles

During his fifteen years as assistant general claim agent for the Wabash Railway he traveled approximately a million miles and worked in every state of the Union except Maine. "Of all the places in the United States, I chose the Valley as the land of greatest opportunity," he says. "I still believe I was right even if the highest bid of four dollars a ton for grapefruit, offered me on my crop this year, is not much of an inspiration to my faith," he added. He is pinning his faith to the day when the great wealth of these alluvial lowlands will be properly harnessed through an effective marketing system. "That day will come!" he firmly believes in spite of his knowledge of the high rate of abortion of the many attempts to organize effective marketing agreements in the Valley.

Austin took a prominent part in Valley affairs during the "bandit era" and possesses much valuable information of the many incidents during this turbulent epoch. He is the brother-in-law of Mrs. J. M. Reynolds of Mercedes at whose home he is visiting during his stay in the Valley.

Dad Shoots Son

Late Dater Fails To Sneak In House

CHICAGO—(AP)—A father mistook his 19-year-old son for a prowler and seriously wounded the youth, Policeman James Aman said as he stole into his home early Saturday to avoid awakening his family.

"It's not your fault dad," Richard Aman, a Northwestern University sophomore, said as he collapsed in his father's arms, with three bullet wounds, one near the heart.

Officer Aman, a brother of the youth's father, Al Aman, said Richard had been scolded for staying out late nights and had gone to his sleeping porch by walking along a second floor ledge and removing a screen.

The father heard the noise, the officer said, and shouted a challenge toward a shadow on the porch. When there was no answer, Officer Aman said, his brother fired thrice.

Former Valley Boy Has One Of Two Highest Grade Records At College

McALLEN—High honors were accorded a former McAllen resident, George Taylor, who graduated last week from the Southwest Texas State Teachers College with the one of the two highest scholastic ratings ever made by students in the 37-year history of the institution.

Young Taylor, a graduate of McAllen high school in 1937 and brother of Mr. and Mrs. Lee W. Taylor, of McAllen, with whom he made his home, held an almost perfect A and A-plus record for subjects studied during his four years of college. One B grade in his sophomore year kept his scholastic record from being unbeatable.

Nor did Taylor spend all his time studying to acquire the enviable record. A major in Spanish, he was editor of the Star, college paper in 1939 and 1940; sports editor for two years; president of the Press Club; president of the Pi Kappa Delta; president of the Jeffersonian Club; held membership in the Alpha Chi and Y.M.C.A.; publicity director of the Star, 1940 and 1941; listed in "Who's Who in U. S. Colleges" for 1940 and 1941; and chosen at graduation as a member of the National Scholastic Society for college students.

His college scholastic record was a follow-up from high school days when Taylor graduated with highest honors in his class.

Taylor plans to enter government service as a Spanish translator or interpreter.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Taylor, Joe Taylor and Robert Cameron, all of McAllen, went to San Marcos to attend graduation exercises.

BRITISH METE OUT CLOTHES

Wearing Apparel To Be Rationed Now

LONDON —(AP)— The Board of Trade Saturday night announced rationing of almost all clothing, starting immediately.

The plan, prepared secretly, authorizes 66 coupons yearly for everyone and, as with wartime food dispensations, no traffic in coupons will be contenanced.

The new restrictions apply to clothing, cloth, footwear and knitting wool. Hats and infant clothing are the only exceptions.

Irrespective of the price of any article specified, coupons are required for its purchase. The most expensive gown from the most exclusive west end salon or the cheapest frock from the most humble east end shop require the same number of coupons.

The same rules apply also to the clothing of men, boys and girls. There is no distinction between the duds of duke and dockworker.

SAVING BONDS HIT NEW HIGH

First Month's Sales Hit $500,000,000

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Treasury officials estimated Saturday that the first month's sales of the new defense savings bonds would exceed $500,000,000 and sent the federal debt to an all-time high of approximately $48,500,000,000.

Actual receipts from the savings campaign in the first 24 days since it began May 1 totaled $347,861,000.

Actual receipts from the savings campaign in the first 24 days since it began May 1 totaled 347,861,000, but the final week was expected to bring in the heaviest subscriptions of the month.

Officials pointed out that many managers of trust funds waited until the end of the month to buy because interest on the bonds starts on the first day of the month in which they are bought, even though the purchase is actually made on the last day of the month.

These officials said the $500,000,000 figure would be highly pleasing to them and recalled that earlier Secretary Morgenthau said $300,000,000 would be adequate for this month.

RAIDER'S END DEFEAT OMEN?

Jutland Parallel Is Seen In Bismarck

NEW YORK —(AP)— A British radio broadcast Saturday quoted A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, as saying the German World War fleet never ventured out of its harbors after the battle of Jutland 25 years ago, and that the sinking of the German battleship Bismarck Tuesday 'might very well be regarded as an omen of a similar course of events."

Alexander spoke in Edinburgh. He referred to the battle of Crete as a grievous test of British sea power.

"Once more," he said, "it has fallen to the lot of the Royal Navy to conduct operations under almost overwhelming attacks from the air, from which it has not flinched.

"Our losses of ships, and damage, have been grievous and severe, but in the present great Crete battle the Royal Navy would not let the army down."

HIDALGO WILL RENEW STUDY OF DRAINAGE

Commissioners Hear Engineer Report

EDINBURG — Hidalgo county's farm drainage problem—accentuated by the fact that hundreds of acres of land are still under water or are still affected by faulty drainage from two heavy rains in May—will move back into the limelight Tuesday when the county commissioners meet.

Having decided to send a delegation to Washington to seek a federal loan or grant to finance erection of new drainage structures, the board will hear a report from County Engineer H. P. Griffin of McAllen on recommendations for the structures and his cost estimates on them. A meeting of the commission last week asked Griffin to speed his work on the proposal, anl he indicated he might have time to organize a definite report by the coming week.

County Judge J. C. Looney said Saturday that nothing toward naming the Washington delegation has been done. The subject may be taken up Tuesday.

Courthouse circles, however, mentioned the name of County Auditor B. F. McKee, who holds Hidalgo's financial reins, as a probable member of the group. Legal and engineering advisors will also probably make the trip.

The county will seek financial aid from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Public Works agency, the Work Projects administration and any other offices which indicate an interest in the county's drainage needs.

It was believed here that the U. S. Public Health service's attention had already been called to the Valley's need of relief from mosquito infestations, which followed the drainage of water into scores of low spots on farms, where the insects have hatched out by the millions. The health service and the state department of health late last week announced that they would finance mosquito control programs in both Hidalgo and Cameron counties. The work will get under way next week.

Pan American Program Of Good Will Provides At Least One Lassie From Honduras 9 Months Of School In U. S.

BROWNSVILLE—In these times of promoting better good will between the American Republics every little bit helps, and the reward of one source was revealed here when Miss Isabel Guillen, 23-year-old college student from San Pedro Sula, Honduras, paused at Brownsville airport on her way home from schooling in Alabama.

Miss Guillen applied for one of Pan American Airways System Travel Fellowships last year and was "lucky enough" to win one of them. She chose Alabama College at Montevallo, Ala., and passed through Brownsville last August on her way to a free nine-month education.

She studied hard for the nine months she was there, majoring in education and music and art. She hopes to secure a position of teaching in one of the schools in Honduras. She attended elementary schools in Honduras and graduated from the Central Institute for Women in Teguicigalpa, Honduras.

Miss Guillen thinks the American schools are great and "wish I could attend longer, but I must get a job now."

She plans to spend several days in Mexico City before continuing to Tegucigalpa on PAA's line and then on to her home. She left Brownsville at 9 a.m. Friday for Mexico. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Guillen of San Pedro Sula, Honduras, and "is plenty glad to be going back to see them after nine months."

Power Concentration Hit By OPM Man

This statement was made by Dr. William E. Wickenden, president of Case School of Applied Science, in a speech drafted for alumni. Simultaneously Dr. Wickenden disclosed he had resigned a month ago as chairman of the general production group of OPM's priorities division, a job to which he was called in February. He explained he took the post after agreeing with Case School trustees that he would devote only a limited amount of time to it.

NEW SOYBEAN CROPS URGED

Farmers View Results Of Experiments

EDINBURG—Efforts to introduce the soybean as a commercial and feed crop in the Rio Grande Valley will probably be made on a large scale next fall, Hidalgo County Farm Agent J. A. Oswalt said Saturday.

Oswalt reported on results of a soybean and tomato demonstration which attracted more than 100 Valley growers to the state experiment station at Weslaco Friday. W. H. Friend, superintendent of the station, was in charge of the program.

Several different varieties of tomatoes, all tested over a period of several weeks at the station, were exhibited. Complete tabulations showed their growing progress, yields and adaptability to Valley soil.

The soybean exhibit attracted most attention, said Oswalt.

A number of different types were shown, but three classes were in prominence. One of these is the commercial, or oil, variety from which soybean oil and meal for stock feed are obtained. A second class is the dual type, which is used for bean oil or for hay, also fed to stock. The third type is the kind of soybean edible among humans. The beans can be cooked or eaten dry in a number of ways.

The February soybean crop report of the experiment station was cited by Oswalt to show the value of the crop. Yields ranging from 8.7 to 13.5 bushels of dry beans per acre were obtained from the plats planted at the Weslaco station. The station used 36-inch rows, however, and Oswalt said 18-inch rows would probably double the production per acre without presenting any cultivation difficulties.

The middle of September will probably be recommended as the best time for fall soybean plantings in the Valley. On spring crops the best time is in February.

A possible market for soybeans, especially the oil type, is foreseen at cotton oil mills now operating in this section. One mill at Harlingen has already stocked a large amount of beans for next fall's plantings, Oswalt reported.

The commercial value of the type suitable for human consumption has been demonstrated, the farm agent explained, by the army's adoption of a soybean concentrate for aviators and tank drivers. The food appears to give the human body needed vitamins for heavy physical work.

Orange shipments by rail for corresponding seasons were 804, 873, 1,159, 834 and 1,751 cars respectively and mixed citrus 575, 902, 1,511, 1,004 and 1,849.

There were three cars of lemons shipped during the past season compared to two last season, eight cars two seasons ago, three cars three seasons ago and none four seasons ago.

Tangerines set a new record with four solid cars compared to none last season, two cars two seasons ago and one car three seasons ago.

The percentage of truck shipments was noticeably greater the first half of the current season than in past years. Through January 1, the truck movement for all types of citrus exceeded the rail and boat shipments by 870 cars, the truck figures totalling 6,288 and the rail 4,417 cars.

In 1939-40, the rail shipments to January 1 were 5,669 or 1,011 cars more than the 4,658 cars that had moved by truck to that date.

The 1940-41 truck shipments continued heavy until on February 16, the railroads serving this territory reduced their rates on Texas to most midwestern markets so that they were about equal to the prevailing truck rates to the various cities. This resulted in some proportional increases in the rail loadings but at the end of the season the truck figures were just a little more than 400 cars greater than rail shipments.

Boat shipments were light, consisting of only one forwarding from Valley ports that took out 57 cars of grapefruit and two of oranges compared to a total of 529 cars by boat in 1939-40 and 599 cars in 1938-39.

Prices received for Texas grapefruit that sold over the ten auction markets were some lower than those received in 1939-40. During the period that the auctions were reported to the Weslaco office, there were sales reported on 697,137 boxes of white fruit of various grades averaging $1.79 per box. The total number of boxes of pink fruit sold was 481,375 boxes which averaged $2.30. The 1,115,512 boxes of white and pink fruit combined averaged $1.98 per box which compared with the 1939-40 sales of 1,438,262 boxes at $2.10.

There were 100,489 boxes of oranges sold at auction at an average price of $2.12 as compared to 104,989 boxes the year before at $2.32.

UPPER VALLEY GUARDS GIVEN GOOD RATINGS

Maj. Mockbee Lauds 31st Battalion

McALLEN—The 31st battalion of the Texas Defense guard was highly commended by Major E. E. Mockbee, Brownsville, commander of the 24th battalion, who served as inspection officer at the final inspection of the Upper Valley battalion held Friday night before a crowd of 500 spectators at the high school athletic field.

Major Mockbee declared the battalion was "in excellent shape in view of the short amount of time spent on its training."

The necessity for an adequately trained force of civilians to care for possible emergencies was stressed by Major Mockbee and Lieutenant Colonel Harry Carroll of Harlingen, reviewing officer, in the brief addresses each made to the men at the close of the inspection.

Formal inspection was followed by an officers' assembly at Legion hall when Major Mockbee, Colonel Carroll and Major Lloyd Bentsen talked to the companies' officers on technical details.

Taking part in the inspection were the four companies of the 31st battalion which include: A, Mission; B, McAllen; C, Pharr; and D, Donna.

CAMPUS FLIER PLAN WORKING

7 U. S. Universities Supply Cadets

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Groups of army flying cadets have been formed quickly among students of seven universities, the war department reported Saturday, raising official hopes of obtaining thousands of additional fledgling fliers from college campuses.

At the outset of a pre-commencement campaign, units of 20 students each were formed at Stanford, University of Tennessee, Ohio State, De Pauw and De Paul Universities, Montana State and Utah State. Two groups each were organized at Tennessee and De Paul.

The special units, to be formed in cities as well as in colleges, are to be kept intact during the period of training or more than seven months.

The campus recruiting campaign, which started this week, was concentrated at the outset on institutions with more than 1,000 students. The first groups are expected to start training as pilots in a class of more than 2,000 starting July 19.

Nelson Eddy Admits He Had A Good Job, But Says It Is A Lot Of Bunk About His Shirts; Never Refuses Part

By JOHN SELBY
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK—Big, blond Nelson Eddy says that his six years of extravagant success is just the case of a young man trying to hold his job in Hollywood.

It's a good job, he admits, but he won't tell how good it is. This is because he gets too many requests for help when six-digit income figures are banded about. But it is admitted generally that Eddy makes more money than any living musician, what with films, records and concerts.

NELSON EDDY

He'll Take Any Part

Eddy has ideas about how to hold jobs.

"I've never yet refused to play a part they've asked me to play," he says in his deep, rich voice. "Even when it's not much of a part, as in 'Bittersweet,' I still take on the job. I'd rather work than not, and that's the truth.

'Heck, I can remember the kick I got when they moved me into the star's building after my first big picture, 'Naughty Marietta.'

"I can even remember how bewildered I was when they made 'Naughty Marietta.' The director said 'Go over there and do that' and I did. Then he said 'Come over here and do this' and I did. Then one day they said to go see the first version and boy, oh boy, did I get a kick? Because it made sense to me for the first time.

Unkind To His Ego

"In fact, I thought I should take myself seriously, but after a picture or so I decided that I wasn't a very important person, but my job was important."

Eddy hasn't much patience with great singers who go out to Hollywood and get their backs up because Hollywood won't make films to suit their operatic talents.

"Opera has no more place in Hollywood," says Eddy, "than films have at the Metropolitan. Some day something like opera will come out of Hollywood—but it will be something written directly for the screen.

"You put 'La Traviata' on the screen as it is now, and it would seem either foolish or naive, and be too slow in any case."

In The Winter, Concerts

Eddy likes to dress well and inconspiciously. He likes sculpture, and he sculpts. He went to Williamsburg and was delighted with the houses he saw, so he built himself one in California. When he has a free moment, he visits museums. And he still is a singer—every winter he does 30 or 40 concerts. He's just closing his tour now.

He has one all-consuming passion. It is to fight down the legend that he can't send shirts to the laundry because they are stolen; that women tear the buttons off his coat and snip at his back hair with scissors.

"So help me," he says, "it's all the bunk and I never lost a shirt or a button in my life."

Few Lease-Lend Supplies Yet Shipped To British

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va) asserted Saturday that practically no lease-lend equipment had been shipped to Great Britain in the two months since Congress approved the $7,000,000,000 appropriation implementing the British aid bill.

Contending that production of the most essential war equipment was bogged down, the Virginia senator said in an interview that if the British were to get the weapons they need speedily "something ought to be done toward putting one man at the head of this program and eliminating the strikes that are hamstringing it."

Byrd showed reporters a letter from Maj. Gen. J. H. Burns, assistant to Harry Hopkins, the lease-lend administrator, on which he based his conclusion that only an "infinitesimal" amount of supplies had gone abroad.

Burns' letter was in response to a request from Byrd for a report on actual dollar losses of lease-lend equipment due to sinking of vessels on the high seas. Burns said:

"Because of the status of our stocks and current production, together with the needs of our own forces, the foreign aid programs depend in most part upon procurement under the $7,000,000,000 appropriation.

"This in turn requires the establishment, in cooperation with the country to be aided, of the detailed programs, the negotiation of contracts or agreements therefor by the appropriate agency of the government, in most instances the production of the material, the transfer to ports and finally the overseas shipments.

"It is obvious that in the approximately seven weeks during which procurement funds have been available no appreciable flow of materials could have reached the ports, much less the danger zones in the combat areas. . . ."

Elaborating on his contention that production of essential weapons was lagging, Byrd said, "I understand that the British need for heavy tanks is acute and we are not producing any heavy tanks. In fact our production of medium tanks is just starting.

"My information is that we are turning out from 500 to 600 combat planes a month, but we are just getting started on the production of 90 mm. anti-aircraft guns which the British forces need badly."

Hot Water Ahead

Capital Dispute On FD Powers Seen

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A double-headed dispute involving millions of dollars for farmers, the public, and the government, gathered momentum Saturday on the Senate side of the capitol.

One clash involved the administration's powers to fix "price ceilings" on farm products, metals, or anything else involved in the huge national defense drive. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) contended that President Roosevelt had absolutely no authority to do this.

"If the president can fix prices he can fix wages and salaries and do anything else he wants to," Senator Taft said.

DONNA FRUIT UNIT ELECTS

Checks Distributed; Prices Reported

DONNA—L. W. Dillon and George Bell were re-elected directors of the Donna Citrus Association to serve two years at a meeting of the membership Friday night at the Woman's Club Building.

Holdover directors in the association are Ray G. Shelley, Bert Schroeder and C. K. Anderson.

Checks were distributed to members for fresh fruit returns received during the year. Average prices per ton on the tree on fresh fruit shipments through the association were as follows:

Marsh Seedless, $9.89; Marsh Pink, 23.36; Red Blush, $45.92; Foster Pinks, $15.79; Valencias, $32.81; Tangerines, $29.02; Hamlins, $20.43; Pineapples, $19.25.

Checks were also distributed to members who were in the association during the 1933-34 season, covering the return to them of reserve funds invested in the facilities of the plant during that season.

About 75 growers attended the meeting, and short talks were made by Bell and Shelley, president and secretary of the association respectively, C. T. Peters, plant manager, and R. B. McLeaish, general manager of the Rio Grande Valley Citrus Exchange. B. S. Mothershead made an auditor's report covering the operations of the plant during the past season.

The Donna association has made considerable progress during the past year in the way of increased membership and tonnage, it was reported. The directors and the management have, during this past season, worked out methods of performing additional services for their members in the way of financial assistance and cultural services.

Packing house costs were held at approximately the same figure as they were last season, notwithstanding increases in the cost of materials and labor due to current federal legislation.

NAZI ADMIRAL SAID SUICIDE

Gestapo Pays Visit To Hess' Friend

LONDON — (AP) — Norwegian sources in London said Saturday a German, Admiral Bohn, described as Nazi naval commander-in-chief in Norway and a friend of Rudolph Hess, recently committed suicide in Oslo after a visit from Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler.

These circles said reliable information from Norway was to the effect that Bohn's friendship with Adolf Hitler's deputy fuehrer, who flew to Scotland May 10, figured in the admiral's talks with Himmler.

The suicide was said to have occurred in the Grand Hotel in Oslo, capital of German-occupied Norway.

BOARD CALLS STRIKE TALK

Mediation Unit Will Not Compromise

By The Associated Press

The Defense Mediation Board adopted a "no compromise" stand Saturday in a fight to obtain acceptance of its recommendations by invoking President Roosevelt's proclamation of an unlimited national emergency.

A terse telegram signed by Philip Murray, president of the CIO and a board member, and by C. A. Dykstra, board chairman, summoned leaders of a strike in the Puget Sound area lumbering industry to a conference at Washington on Tuesday.

Board members declined to disclose what action would be taken, but Ralph T. Seward, executive secretary, asserted:

"There is no chance in the world that the board will back down. It is standing on its telegram of May 28. There will be no compromise."

The message to which Seward referred cited Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation, asked that the International Woodworkers of America (CIO) accept board recommendations and return to work, and requested that the message be brought to the attention of every one who had power to vote on the recommendations.

O. M. Orton, president of the union, responded by asserting that the recommendations had been rejected. Dykstra thereupon asked him again to bring the appeal to the attention of his membership.

To the second message, Orton replied:

"Recommendations of the National Defense Mediation Board as agreed in Washington by our committee have been submitted to a delegated conference of all local unions and from there submitted to the entire membership of locals with the right to vote and has been overwhelmingly rejected."

The point at issue, Seward contended, was whether the appeal had been brought to the attention of the union. It was apparently impossible to clear up the matter by telegram, he added, and for that reason Orton and his associates were called to the capital conference.

Asked the reason for Murray's signing the message, Seward said, "Mr. Murray signed in his capacity as president of the CIO as well as a member of the board."

The previous communications had been signed by Dykstra alone.

The strike started May 9 and the board said that it "constitutes a serious threat to the nation's preparations for defense."

Negotiations for a new contract between the Reynolds Metal Company, with plants in four cities, and 12,000 employes were suspended, but the federal labor conciliation service said that no deadlock had occurred and that the talks would be resumed in Washington on Thursday.

Interpreting The War News

Boom Over Britain

June Moon Brings Fears Of Rain Of Terror From Skies; Gap In Air Parity Closes

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

The June new moon is already showing over England o'nights to stir grim forebodings of a new rain of terror from the skies.

The last fury of sustained Nazi night bombing came in the cycle of the May moon. After it waned in mid-May, there was a definite lull in German air attack.

The new moon, now in its first quarter, will be full over England about June 9. Given clear skies, England will be bathed in moonglow that night from dark to daylight. There will be many hours which might see a renewal of the furious night battling in the skies to test afresh British night-fighter skill and the courage and dogged will to carry on of the masses in England.

For a week or more on either side of the full moon, nowhere about English ports or industrial centers can there be certainty of even the little protection darkness affords from air bombing. June weather in England means usually clear skies. That reduces the degree of satisfaction with which its bomb-besieged people look to still lengthening days and shortening nights down to the summer solstice. They cannot yet have forgotten what the May moon period and clear skies meant for them.

To offset their dread of the June moon, however, they can hark back to the fact that the May moon which lighted a sustained and furious luftwaffe port-by-port attack on England also illuminated the fiercest and largest scale British counter-bombing operations over Germany. That heralded a definite step forward in British efforts.

Nazi Dread It, Too

There must be as much dread of the June moon cycle in such bomb-blasted German cities as Hamburg, Bremen and even Berlin as there is in London, The Midlands and in English west coast ports. Even heavier British counter blows are to be expected in June than were given in May.

Slowly but surely the gap in air power between England and her Nazi foes is closing. President Roosevelt's solemnly reiterated pledges that American aid for Britain could and would be forthcoming increasingly and at any cost warrants freer use of British reserve planes to meet or counter German attacks.

CHURCH BACKS 'JUST PEACE'

Methodists Set Up Policy Of Unity

CHICAGO — (AP) — A Methodist peace conference Saturday set forth a policy for "a just and enduring peace" which demanded that "a co-operative plan must be worked out whereby the world's resources may be developed for the good of all."

Great limitation of the economic and political sovereignty of each nation was recommended as another cornerstone in the economic foundations of peace.

Statements on various aspects of peace were adopted in a four-day exploratory study conference under the auspices of the Methodist World Peace Commission. The national conference was the first of a series of denominational inquiries, the conferees said, "to create a demand for a peace that will be more than a truce."

Average Allowable For Wells Is Hiked

AUSTIN—(AP)—Average net daily allowable production of Texas oil wells for the week ended Saturday was 1,431,692 barrels, an increase of 4,058 barrels over last week, the railroad commission reported.

The permissable flow was 49,492 barrels in excess of the bureau of mines recommendation of 1,382,200 barrels daily in May but application of a normal 3.5 per cent under production reduced actual flow 617 barrels below the bureau's standard, engineers said.

State Liquor Taxes Jumped During May

AUSTIN—(AP)—Liquor consumers poured $381,224 in taxes into the state treasury this month, an increase of $28,832 over May of last year.

Liquor Administrator Bert Ford said revenue has increased consistently every month this year.

He reminded that the recent increase from 96 cents to $1.28 in the per gallon levy and the new impost of 22 cents on each liquor prescription becomes effective Sunday.

WET YEAR IS PREDICTED BY WEATHERMAN

May Above Normal For Valley

BROWNSVILLE — Drenching rains recently ran the total rainfall for May up to 1.70 inches above normal here for the month and boosted the total since January 1 to almost four inches above normal, according to the local U. S. weather bureau office.

A total of 3.97 inches of rain fell here from May 1 up until May 31, weather observers said. Normal for the month of May is 2.27 inches.

The total this year has been 11.51 inches, or 3.84 inches above the normal of 7.67 inches.

This is almost half of the yearly normal, and the rainiest months, September and October, are still ahead, observers stated.

Rainfall here in 1940 totaled 26.81 inches, slightly below the yearly normal of 27.40 inches. A total of only 2.40 inches fell during May of 1940.

Another unusual feature of the weather recently has been the uniformity of temperatures, the weather bureau said. There have been no unusual high nor low temperatures, and unless May 31 temperatures exceed the mark, Brownsville will have a "May without a 90," officials announced.

Highest temperature for May up until Saturday was 89 degrees, recorded on May 30, May 6 and May 7.

And the highest temperature for this year here is only 91 degrees, recorded on April 19, the only reading of 90 or above since Jan. 1.

This is unusual in that temperature exceeds 90 degrees sometimes in March here, the bureau pointed out. Record temperature for the month of March in Brownsville is 102 degrees.

VICE CONSUL BEGINS WORK

Office At Reynosa To Be Opened Monday

McALLEN—Vice Consul Henry T. Smith of the U. S. Department of State will open a temporary office at Reynosa Monday, according to information received here from Herndon W. Goforth, American consul at Matamoros.

The vice consul will open the office again this summer for the purpose of visaing passports of Mexicans who wish to enter the United States and must have a visa under U. S. laws passed last year. Paul T. Vickers, McAllen chamber of commerce manager, and other chamber officials have made constant efforts during the last two years to have a consul permanently stationed at Reynosa. This action of placing Smith at Reynosa is the result of their work.

Goforth did not announce how long Smith would keep the Reynosa office open. It was expected that it would remain open for business for more than a month to take care of the visaing.

Chamber Committees For US Air Base At Harlingen Set

HARLINGEN—Chamber of Commerce President L. R. Baker announced the appointment of six Harlingen business men Saturday to head committees that will be set up to handle matters pertaining to the Army air base.

Six committees will be formed by the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of working out certain anticipated problems in connection with the base. Appointments made by the board of directors include a chairman of the housing committee who has not been named; Earl M. Davis, chairman of the traffic committee; R. C. Pryor, chairman of recreation for enlisted men; Dan Murphy, chairman of recreation for cadets; L. R. Baker, chairman of entertainment for officers; Joe Penry, miscellaneous matters; Arthur Dabney, public works.

The plan of the Chamber of Commerce is to set up a housing department to assist in providing satisfactory living quarters for workmen and army men. This committee will work with the real estate board and attempt to formulate a plan to keep all available rental properties listed for those desiring houses.

Recreation Factor

The recreational committees will have charge of all entertainment for the three classes of personnel. An inspection of other army camps and air bases, shows that recreation is an important factor in their operations.

The miscellaneous committee will have charge of all matters not included in other committees, it being the opinion of the chamber that many other matters will be brought to its attention.

A bill is now pending in the U. S. Senate authorizing an appropriation of several millions of dollars for the purpose of aiding cities located in defense areas in their public works problems. The public works committee will make a thorough investigation as to the most needed projects of the city, before any requests are made for federal aid.

Traffic problems arising on city streets and highways, will be handled by the traffic committee. A study is now being made of the possible hazards that will likely occur during the construction of the base.

To Perfect Setup

These chairmen will appoint five men each to complete their committees within the coming week, and will perfect their organizations soon.

The Chamber of Commerce has spent considerable time investigating problems that have arisen in other communities where army camps have been established, and Manager Ratliff recently visited a number of these cities for the purpose of securing information valuable to Harlingen when the air base is started. The officials of the chamber felt that Harlingen could profit by the experience of other cities, and have used every effort to assimilate all useful data pertaining to camp centers.

Naval Fight Seen In New Perspective

By The Associated Press

AN ENGLISH PORT—Statements that the German Bismarck was a 50,000-ton super-dreadnaught—largest fighting ship in the world—with 2,400 officers and men threw into new perspective Saturday last week's mighty naval duel in which she destroyed the battle cruiser Hood and then was sunk in vengeance.

A British naval officer who participated in the seafight which cut short the Bismarck's fierce challenge to British naval supremacy gave the first indication the Nazi capital ship was bigger than the 35,000-ton rating generally accorded her.

She was a 50,000-ton battleship, the officer declared—"undoubtedly far above anything we had thought of."

That statement shed new light on an assertion by a survivor of the Bismarck that she was crowded with 2,400 officers and men, 400 of them naval cadets. Approximately 100 were reported rescued.

(Previously, supposing the Bismarck a 35,000-ton ship, it had been estimated she carried no more than 1,500 officers and men.

First Naval Action

(The big ship's first fight with the Hood and Britain's new 35,000-ton Prince of Wales last Saturday was the Bismarck's first reported naval action since her completion during the war.)

WASHINGTON — (AP) — British suspicions that the second German battleship Bismarck was substantially larger than 35,000 tons are shared by American naval men. They are inclined to doubt, however, that the ship displaced as much as 50,000 tons.

Laid down in 1936, the Bismarck was completed long after the war suspended treaties which might have limited her size. Side armor was reported to have been put in place only last year, and it was considered possible that the thickness of this protection against shells and torpedoes might have been increased beyond original plans.

Exceed Standards

Fully loaded with fuel and all supplies, warships generally exceed the standard displacement tonnage as defined in international treaties. The weight of the water displaced by the new United States battleships North Carolina and Washington, when fully loaded, is estimated at about 41,000 tons, whereas their standard displacement tonnage is 35,000.

The Hood, British battle cruiser which fell victim to the Bismarck, had a rated standard displacement tonnage of 42,100 but her weight when fully loaded was put at 46,300.

The Bismarck, 118 feet wide, possessed the widest beam of any warship yet completed and her design thus lent itself to additions of armor and other weight not figuring in original calculations.

Concurrently the inspection of blooms in the area bordering the Rio Grande on the Mexican side is under way. No positive results have been found in the inspection of 50 acres in the Reynosa area and of a comparable acreage in the Matamoros section.

NEW LIBRARY HEADS CHOSEN

Progress Of McAllen Institution Shown

McALLEN—Continued growth of the McAllen Public Library during the past year was traced in the annual reports of the organization, featuring the annual meeting Friday afternoon when election of officers was held.

Mrs. T. J. Chidlow was re-elected president of the council, entering the second year of its management of the library, Mrs. W. H. Moon, vice president; F. O. Swan, secretary; and Eleanor Hambrick, treasurer.

City Commissioner Fidencio Guerra was named by Mayor Horace Etchison to represent the city on the executive board. He with the officers and Mrs. Si Casady, head of the book committee, complete the board personnel.

Because the annual expansion of the library is consistently a major factor in the yearly report, this year the executive board voted to take steps toward acquisition in the future of a library building to replace the ground floor of the Archer park bandstand which now serves as the public library.

Receipts reported this year almost doubled those for 1939 with $850 listed. Of this amount $712.50 was listed as the return from the annual budget drive and about $140 received from fines and rentals at the library. The 1939 receipts were $450.

Inclusion of 1,100 additional books on the shelves was also reported. The total included 500 books from the state library, a quantity recorded as gifts from library patrons and scores of new books the council purchased.

In an effort to provide accommodations for all desiring to use the building, the library will remain open daily from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

Much discussion was held at the annual session on opportunities to secure larger accommodations for the public library building. The council voted to investigate methods of financing construction.

BRITISH LOSE 100,000 MEN

War Casualties For 21 Months Told

LONDON —(AP)— British war casualties have reached the 100,000-mark for all three fighting services in 21 months of war, it was disclosed Saturday.

Almost half the total were said to be prisoners of war in Germany.

The figures, computed from official casualty lists, show that the war so far has cost only a fraction of the 3,190,235 British men killed, wounded, missing or taken prisoner in the World War.

The Germans were reported to have taken 2,000,000 Frenchmen and 40,000 British prisoners in France and the Low Countries while the British have taken 200,000 Italian prisoners in Africa.

Should the British again use as they did in the last war, it huge armies against the Germans should be unlikely that there would be masses of men killed on either side because of mechanized combat, the British said.

British military and naval casualties so far numbered 101,056, of which 74,164 were from the army, 15,896 from the navy and 10,996 from the air force.

Tough On Minors

When the selective service act went into effect, baseball fans did considerable worrying about how it would affect baseball. Many were of the opinion the minor leagues would be hit pretty hard.

Now it develops that military service losses amount to practically nothing.

But the small leagues are being hit hard by the big-pay jobs that have opened up in the defense program. Many players who were exempt from service for various reasons are quitting baseball to take jobs that pay many times what the small minor league clubs can hand out.

And it would not be a bit surprising to hear many moans from football coaches this fall, both college and pro. A football career is okeh but a nice fat paycheck each week is a pretty sight. We have a hunch young fellows will pass up the bumps of the gridiron come the football season.

Comes Through

At the present writing, Roy Cullenbine is right up at the top of list of American League hitters.

We are reminded that several years ago Fred Haney, manager of the St. Louis Browns, told us that in his opinion Roy would some day be one of the games finest hitting outfielders. He played for Fred when the little fellow was manager of the Toledo Mud Hens.

When Cullenbine was turned loose by Judge Landis, he picked up a nice wad of dough for signing with Brooklyn. He failed to stick and finally landed with Haney and the Browns. The rest of the story is told on the daily sports pages.

Just a case of a manager having faith in a certain ball player and then getting the satisfaction of seeing him come through.

Cardinal Booster

At the start of the 1941 major league races, we picked the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees to finish on top of their respective circuits.

While the Cardinals are on top, we might as well do a bit of crowing while we can.

At that, the Red Birds look like the team to beat in the senior loop. They have the hitting power and the pitching and that combination should produce results.

So far we haven't been able to do much bragging about the Yankees. They lack sometning. We would not feel badly to see them out of first place when the season ends for they have reaped just about all the honors one club should.

Right now, the Chicago White Sox are setting a hot pace. Whether they can stand up through the long grind is a question but they have shown no signs of weakening. And the Cleveland Indians are having trouble winning except when Bob Feller is on the mound. The Tribe is leading the pack but the Pale Hose are right behind and the Yanks are not far back.

It might be a race worth watching in the American League and the National loop always comes up with a thriller.

Runyan Moves Up

Paul Runyan, the little veteran from Arkansas, has moved into the front rank of the favorites for the National Open golf tournament to be played over Colonial Club at Fort Worth June 5-6-7.

By scoring a smashing triumph in the Goodall Round Robin in New York last week-end, "Little Poison" caused a notable shifting of the odds in local circles. Rated an "outsider" after three years of only fair success, Runyan has now been moved up even with Lawson Little and Byron Nelson on the dope sheets.

Runyan was born in 1908 at Hot Springs, Ark. Like so many other stars, he became interested in golf as a caddy. Since he broke into the big time in 1930, he's played in scores of big tournaments. He won the National P. G. A. in 1934 and 1938 and the Argentina Open in 1938. Since then, however, his major victories have been few and far between.

About the size of Ben Hogan, Runyan isn't a long hitter but he is very accurate. That type of game will go well at Colonial, which is strictly a "tee shot" course.

Moved up with Runyan by the wiseacres has been Vic Ghezzi, the tall, handsome ace who also did well in the Goodall. Texas still is strong for Hogan, Nelson, Ralph Guldahl and Jimmy Demaret. Other observers still like Gene Sarazen, Craig Wood and Sammy Snead. Snead and Wood were unable to play at New York because of injury and illness, but both hope to play in the Open.

Stewart To Finals

EL PASO, Tex.—(AP)—Two links veterans, Spec Stewart of Roswell, N. M., and Blaine McNutt of El Paso, meet Sunday in the final round of the Southwestern golf championships.

Stewart, defending champion who is gunning for his sixth Youth-Western crown, was carried to the 35th green in Saturday's semi-final play by scrappy, 19-year-old Bud Hale of El Paso.

McNutt, El Paso city champion, fired blistering sub-par golf during the morning 18 and coasted to a comfortable 8 and 7 winner over Ralph Petty, former titlist and sharp-shooting Carrizozo, N. M., grocer.

Ticket Sale Exceeds Any Other Open

Little And Runyan Made Favorites

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex. —(AP)—Golfdom's greatest show, the 45th Open championship, heads into Texas Sunday.

Staged in the Southwest for the first time, the Colonial Club will welcome the nation's best, a field of 172 qualifiers, to its green and lovely tree-studded, 7035-yard, par 70 layout stretching along the arms and lagoons of the forked Trinity river.

Title rounds start Thursday, but so great is golfing interest here that the gate charge goes up Sunday, and a 50,000 gallery figure is expected for the week.

A record has been set with more season tickets sold than for any other Open. Four thousand went out, beating the Cleveland 1940 record by a thousand.

Nearly 10,000 will pay to watch four days of practice shooting, according to Marvin Leonard, the Texan who created the Colonial links and backed a three-year drive to capture the National Open.

"Texas probably is more golf-minded now than any other state," said Leonard. "We play the year around and Texas has produced the cream of the present crop. We have the players and the courses.

"Colonial is in good shape for play. Rain this week has been welcome but Sunday we'd like sunshine and gentle breezes."

Leonard figures a gallery of 8,000 for the opening 18 holes of play on Thursday, 10,000 for the second round Friday, and perhaps 25,000 Saturday when the field is cut to 60 for the final 36 holes.

Lawson Little, defending champion; Ben Hogan, mighty mite with the perpetually blistered thumb from too much practice; Wilford Wehrle, amateur top-notcher, and others are already testing the course. Each hour adds more to the list.

Along betting row here they established Little and Paul Runyan, winner of the Goodall Round Robin, as the men to beat.

Little and Runyan were quoted as six to one with Hogan and Byron Nelson, the mighty men from Texas, ranking as eight to one. The remainder of the field was offered at fifteen to one.

Club professional Bob Byrnes agrees with most of the entrants who have played the course that it is doubtful if 280—even par — will be broken for the 72 holes.

GRAPHIC GOLF

When the left hip fails to turn aside out of the path of the downstroke, the progress of the left arm is impeded, causing a collapse of this member and a hook to the ball. Quite often the player himself cannot immediately locate the cause of the trouble and attempts to steer the ball. This remedy does not straighten the ball's flight for the very simple reason that the let-up in swinging effort is not enough to force the left hip ot turn aside. What is required is a strenuous swinging effort, which will make the left side turn to the left and return the left heel to the ground. It is well for the player to keep continually conscious of the fact that the left hip turning movement is one of the first downswing motions, moving slightly forward and around as the downstroke gets underway.

During the national Amateur tournament of 1934, Lawson Little was having a great deal of this identical trouble with his drives. Easing up did not help matters at all and in desperation he tried hitting the ball hard to rid his game of the hook. This effort made the hip turn mandatory and forced the left heel down. Thereafter Little went on to win the title but it was only after the cure was effected that he realized just where the trouble lay.

Picard In Form

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)—Henry Picard, host pro at the Twin Hill Golf Club two-day match-medal 36-hole invitational tournament, was the best player around the first 18 holes Saturday, scoring a two-below-par 70.

Little Ben Hogan came through whenever Picard was out of a hole and they teamed up expertly for a lowball of 67.

That gave them a lead of 3 up on Byron Nelson and Sammy Snead at the halfway point. Hogan's score was 74, Snead's 76, Nelson's 76. The Nelson-Snead team had a lowball of 70.

The 3 Star Hennessy of Corpus Christi, owned by Tom Nichols of the U. S. Naval Air Station, and sailed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grobokski of Corpus Christi, broke the mast on the Meteor class boat, just at the start of the race, and had to withdraw. The Salty of Brownsville, skipper T. J. Majors, started in the race but did not finish.

On corrected time, based on handicap allowance, the Petrol of San Antonio placed second, the Alibi third, Bandolero fourth, Southerly fifth, Betty Jean sixth, Zipperina seventh, Gypsy eighth, Sedalia ninth, Helen tenth, Margo eleventh, Skipjack twelfth, Lark thirteenth.

At a meeting of the race committee following the race, the Petrol III of San Antonio was ruled out of the race, because her skipper, J. Shaffer, crossed the finish line in the wrong direction and on the opposite side of the mark. In a collision at the start of the race between the Alibi and the Bandolero, the committee gave the decision on the protest to the Alibi who had the star board tack and therefore had the right-of-way over the Bandolero who was on the port tack.

A large crowd of Valley spectators witnessed the regatta, one of the most successful events held by the club. Refreshments were served to the skippers and crews on the end of the pier at Laguna Vista by Mr. Roloff. A dance was held at the clubhouse at Port Isabel Saturday night at 8 p. m. and a race will be held on the bay on the regular six mile course at 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon.

Defense Industries Hit Minor Loop Clubs Hard

By ROMNEY WHEELER

DURHAM, N. C. —(AP)— Big pay in defense industries, not the army draft, is causing minor league baseball its number-one headache, says President William G. Bramham of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Right up the line, from Class-D stragglers to the big boys of the Southern Association, and Texas League, the defense magnet is pulling men from the lineups. The ratio varies inversely with the league salary limits—$1,200 per-month-per club in Class-D, $5,200 in Class A-1.

"Industrial employment is taking far more men than the draft," says the minor league boss, "as is reflected by voluntary retirement of players who have entered the branches of industry engaged in war activities."

And, he adds, this is just about as it was in the first World War. Most clubs, particularly those in the Class-D and Class-C divisions, are finding able players scarce. But no professional club has gone under, although several semi-pro organizations have done so.

"Attendance so far this year has been better than last year due to better weather," says Bramham, balancing up the ledger. "Last year we had a great deal of rain throughout the country, which has been absent this year, but we have had some cool weather. This is true every year, and when the season winds up we find a general average has been maintained. This year the rain has been in that section of the country which claims it never rains —the Pacific Coast, Arizona and Texas.

"I admit a total lack of any ability to forecast the future, and in doing so I think I am just about as smart as anyone else in that respect. It is always customary to predict good things and then howl if they do not come. All I know is that baseball will thrive as other activities thrive, and it will suffer in depression times just as other industries will."

Trainer Says Fighters Perk Up On Between-Rounds Oxygen Sniff

AP Feature Service

SEATTLE—What vitamin B-1 pills are to the St. Louis Cardinals, Joe Herman hopes his portable oxygen tank will be to his fighters.

Herman, from Oakland, Calif., created quite a furore in the Pacific Northwest recently with the mask and tank.

He claims a fighter between rounds can take a few sniffs through the mask and have normal breathing restored through the pumping of valuable oxygen through the lungs into the blood stream.

Herman took bantamweight Tony Olivera to Vancouver, B.C., for a fight with Vancouver's Kenny Lindsay. The Canadians kicked up a terrific fuss over Herman's intention to use the oxygen apparatus.

Despite a warning not to use the tank in the ring, Herman brought it along "just in case Lindsay's managers said 'okay'."

"The boxing commission ordered it out, so I hauled it out again.

"So imagine my chagrin after the fight was over (Olivera lost) and I started to let Olivera and Lindsay share a whiff of its magic elixir?

It Takes Consistent Golf To Win An Open But Champs Recall A Tide-Turning Shot

By DILLON GRAHAM
Sports Editor, AP Feature Service

THE heaviest firing in Texas since the early two-gun days on the Panhandle begins next Thursday in Fort Worth.

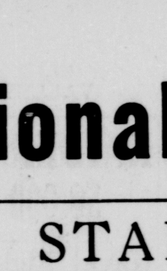

The modern shooting-irons, though, will be steel-shafted golf clubs, not six-shooters, as the state whose sons have won three of the last four titles stages its first U. S. Open golf championship.

Unless someone goes hog wild, the winner at the Colonial Club will use up about 285 strokes. In the final score one of these strokes will count just as much as another. But, chances are, the victor will be able afterwards to single out one particular shot and say that won him the crown.

Let's look back over the last 10 Open championships and spot these shots that won:

Little's Great Putt

A putt did it last year. On the 14th playoff hole Lawson Little held a two-stroke lead over Gene Sarazen. Little lay three, facing an 8-foot sloping, downhill putt. Gene was two off the green—but holed out on his third. A missed putt would have meant a 5 at best for Lawson—and that would have put the match all even and given Sarazen an upsurging psychological edge. But Lawson drilled it in, broke Sarazen's heart and went on to victory.

LAWSON LITTLE

A 200-yard clothes-line 1-iron shot was the clincher for Byron Nelson two years ago in his second playoff with Craig Wood. It came on the 4th hole and it bent Wood's back. Nelson slapped this iron shot straight for the pin and it rolled in for an eagle deuce and a Nelson advantage that Wood couldn't overcome.

A sand wedge shot enabled Ralph Guldahl to win the 1937 crown with an all-time low of 281. Sam Snead had finished with 283 and Ralph was roaring down the home stretch to outscore him. His approach to the 15th hole struck a spectator and bounced into a trap. Guldahl quieted his temper, performed a perfect blast and the ball sat down three feet from the hole. He canned his putt for a par and rushed on to win.

Niblick In '38

Guldahl thinks a niblick won for him the following year. It came on the 18th hole of his third round at Cherry Hills, Denver. His ball landed in a hollow just off the green. It seemed he'd lose a shot or two to par. "I took my niblick and chopped true to the cup for a par 4," he recalls. On the final round he fired a 69 that boosted him past all his foes.

GENE SARAZEN

Tony Manero figures a bold shot he played on the 16th hole of the last round won him the 1936 tournament. For his approach to this green, Manero had the choice of playing safe for a par through a wide entrance to the green or of banging away for the pin, stuck near a trap guarding the green. He dared, and hit a 5-iron for the flag. It stopped a few feet away and he holed it for a birdie. That, with pars on the closing holes, permitted him to whip Harry Cooper.

Parks Recalls 30-Footer

You'll recall how the professionals yipped and yelped about the rolling, close-cropped slick greens at Oakmont in 1935. That was the year Sam Parks, the home town boys, won. And because he knew those greens. But despite his familiarity, they gave him the jitters, too. Sammy says the 30-foot chip he sank with a 5-iron to give him an eagle-3 on the par 5 ninth hole during the third round was the one that gave him the confidence to putt boldly and win. And it also gave him the two-stroke margin by which he beat Jimmy Thomson.

BYRON NELSON

Olin Dutra credits a tricky putt with bringing him the 1934 crown at Philadelphia's Merion Cricket club. It was at the 15th hole of the last round. He needed to sink a 30-footer for a par to hold a stroke margin over Gene Sarazen. "It was a left-to-right putt with a five or six-foot break," Dutra remembers. "Two-thirds of the distance was uphill. The last third was down and to the left. I had to carry the incline and I wanted the ball to die about five feet from the hole. It did. It trickled on down and into the cup."

An impossible trap shot that came off won the 1933 Open for amateur Johnny Goodman. It was on the 16th hole of the last round. Goodman pulled his iron to the short hole into the sand. The lie was difficult and Goodman doubted he would be able even to reach the green. But he did and sank a five-footer for his par.

Downhill To Win

Getting down a tricky 6-foot downhill putt on the ninth hole of the third round of the 1932 championship at Fresh Meadow set fire to Sarazen's game. That putt rolled in for a deuce and touched off one of the hottest stretches in Open history. Gene played the next 27 holes in just 98 strokes, with a closing 66 that won the crown.

RALPH GULDAHL

A sand wedge shot from the rough won golf's most famous marathon—the 72 extra hole playoff for the 1931 championship — for Billy Burke. It was on the 12th hole of the final playoff round. George Von Elm was on the 520-yard par 5 hole in two. Burke's second was off the fairway and his third was over the green in the rough. It seemed that Burke must lose two or three shots to Von Elm. But Billy holed out his sand wedge shot for a birdie-4 to tie Von Elm. "I felt then that I couldn't lose," Billy says. He finally beat Von Elm by a single stroke.

They were great shots, all of them, winning shots. And it won't be long new before you hear the new champion telling about the shot that won for him.

'Lefty' Bumpers Appears Set For Try At Pro Game

Posted Fine Record With Aggies

COLLEGE STATION—(Spl)—One baseball scout recently was quoted as saying it takes five years to make a good left handed pitcher and in the case of Lemuel (Lefty) Bumpers, Texas Aggie ace hurler, that apparently is true.

Bumpers played his first baseball at Texas A. & M. as a freshman five years ago and then became ineligible for athletic participation for the next two years but got back into good scholastic graces last year to be among the leading hurlers in the Southwest Conference. All during his ineligibility he worked out daily with the team perfecting control which showed some improvement over his wild freshman hurling.

This year he was, right on top with the best crop of pitchers in the conference and held his 15 opponents to an average of 2.36 earned runs for each nine innings he worked.

He toiled 110 2/3 innings in 15 baseball games, allowed 83 hits and 29 earned runs while fanning 74 enemy batters and walking but 41.

He has several offers from professional baseball clubs but is weighing them all before affixing his signature to a contract. He will graduate this year and hopes to make professional baseball his career. If he falls down on that line he still has his education in animal husbandry to fall back upon and his grades over the past two years indicate that he will have no trouble in landing a good position with one of the several meat packers who are after him.

Jake Schuehle To Ellington

HOUSTON, Tex. —(AP)— Charles (Jake) Schuehle, former star fullback of the Rice Owls, has been appointed assistant athletic director of Ellington Field, and will take complete charge of the athletic program there within 15 days, it was announced Saturday by Col. Walter H. Reid, commander of the aviation field.

Schuehle recently was named assistant coach at Conroe high school, but passed up this appointment for the Ellington Field post, which comes under civil service.

The husky former gridder now is at Randolph Field in San Antonio, attending a meeting of athletic directors of the Gulf Coast area, and will report to the local field soon.

He will act as coach for the baseball, football and basketball teams at Ellington, and also will have charge of general physical conditioning of the cadets.

Schuehle's home is in Hondo.

Harlingen Selects Play Brownsville Team Today

HARLINGEN — The Harlingen Southern Selects will meet the Brownsville Merchants in a double-header at Fair Park here Sunday afternoon with the first game scheduled to get under way at 3 o'clock.

The Selects will be playing under a new manager Sunday, "Slim" Mills, former American Association hurler, taking over the reins. He will also pitch the first game with Guevara slated for mound duty in the nightcap.

Determined to climb out of the slump that cost them four games, the Selects will probably shift the lineup around to find more batting punch. No new players have been secured but the club is determined to put more figures in the win column and have high hopes of chalking up a double victory here Sunday.

It will be Ladies Day at Fair Park Sunday and with much advance interest being shown, a large crowd is expected.

The standings of the clubs in the Valley Semi-Pro League are as follows:

New York Wins IC4A Track Meet

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK —(AP)— Black-haired Leslie MacMitchell gave a courageous performance Saturday to lead New York University's track and field forces to an impressive victory over 40 other coleges in the 65th I.C.A.A.A.A. championships at Triborough Stadium.

After giving the Violets 10 points with his smashing wins in the mile and 880-yard runs, MacMitchell came back in the gloaming to run a vital second lap that enabled his team to capture the mile relay and clinch the team title with a total of 31 points.

Pittsburgh's well-balanced team took second honors with 21 19/28 points, despite the fact that the Panthers won only one first place all afternoon. Penn State took third with 20 3/7 points, with Rhode Island fourth at 18 3/4.

Great as was MacMitchell's individual showing, it was at least matched by that of Norwood Ewell, a fleet, springly little Negro running for Penn State. For the second straight year Ewell won the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump, smashing a long-standing intercollegiate record of 20.8 seconds for the 220 when he romped it off in 20.7 to beat his field by four yards. He tied the I. C. 4-A. record of 9.6 for the century.

Ewell became the first athlete ever to win three championships two years in succession, while MacMitchell's three long, winning runs gave N. Y. U. the first outdoor track title in ever won.

Big Al Blozis of Georgetown won both the shotput and the discus for the second straight year and established a new meet record of 54 feet, 3 inches for the shot. His own former mark of 53 feet, 9 1/2 inches was set in last year's championships.

The feature tidbit of the program, an extra-added attraction in which Greg Rice displayed his famous stride for two miles against Ralph Schwarzkopf, ex-Michigan captain, and Melvern Trutt, formerly of Indiana, didn't produce much excitement or particularly fast running.

Rice won it in 9 minutes, 5 6/10 seconds, with Schwarzkopf second about 10 yards back. As for Trutt, he resigned after five laps.

'Machines Beat Us' Menzies Declares

MELBOURNE, Australia — (AP) — Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, commenting on British reverses in Crete, declared Saturday that "machines are defeating us" and "it may be we have not yet reached the lowest ebb of our fortune."

The newspaper, Argus, declared, meanwhile that public opinion was prepared to pass over the defeat of British Imperial Forces in Greece without recrimnation, but said such restraint was conditional on no further continuation of the "unreal policy" which brought about the situation in Crete.

Joe Kuhel was the first member of the White Sox to hit a home run at home this year. It beat Washington, 3 to 2. The same day, April 29, Chet Laabs was the first St. Louis Brown to hit a four-sacker in his own park and it also resulted in a 3 to 2 vitcory for his team.

Fishing Rodeo Folder Out Soon

PORT ISABEL—Folders for the Rio Grande Valley Fishing Rodeo are now under process of preparation at Saint Louis, Mo., under the direct supervision of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company. These folders should be in the hands of the Rodeo organization next week. They will follow a similar pattern to the folders of 1940 except their size has been slightly reduced in order that they will fit into the standard business envelope.

As in the past the Rodeo organization urges all Valley business institutions and individuals to secure a supply of these folders from their local Chamber of Commerce office or they may write directly to the Rodeo office at Port Isabel and that they be mailed out to out-of-Valley points in all correspondence. The folder, however, is arranged with space for address and may be mailed individually for one and one-half cents. Fifteen thousand of these folders will be supplied and it is urged by the Rodeo organization that all of these folders be distributed as soon as possible.

The Rodeo office at Port Isabel will be pleased to provide the postage and mail the folders direct from this office upon receipt of lists of names and addresses. The placing of folders in the hands of as many individuals as possible will not only increase the attendance at our contest in August but will carry the message of our excellent fishing opportunities to every corner of America.

Careful estimates show that 120,000,000 acres of former waterfowl habitat have been taken from use by agriculture, manufacturing, and other industries.

Omaha Matron Annexes Trans-Mississippi Golf Championship

Mrs. Mann Wins Over Agnes Wall

Putting Real Story Of Match

By WILLIAM T. RIVES

HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP)—Ten years of striving for the Women's Trans-Mississippi golf championship finally were rewarded for Mrs. Russell Mann Saturday. But the attractive Omaha, Nebr., matron had to beat her good friend and room-mate, 22-year-old Mary Agnes Wall, in a bitter 36-hole fight before emerging a one-up victor.

Briefly, putting told the story. Miss Wall, freckle-faced, amiable Menominee, Mich., miss, dolefully watched a 12-inch effort roll by the 35th hole of River Oaks, where the greens laugh at the players. That left her one down.

A bold brassie shot put her on the 3th green in 26. Mrs. Mann was to the right of the carpet in 2, shot over a trap and calmly rapped in a 15-foot putt for a half and the match.

Elated over her first Trans-Miss win, Mrs. Mann said: "That's what I've been working for all these years and at last I've done it." Miss Wall never had played in a 36-hole tilt before, and was weary from the tension and soaring heat of the afternoon round. She dubbed several shots on the last nine from sheer weariness but always was able to rise to the heights when necessary to keep the match alive.

Two down through 31 holes, she won the next with a par 5 when Mrs. Mann conceded after taking five to get on, and sacked the 34th with a great birdie, the result of two powerful wood shots to the green. Then fell the break that actually decided the contest, the loss of a hole when all signs pointed to nothing less than a half.

"The 17th hole has been hard for me all through the tournament," Miss Wall explained sadly later. Both missed the par 4, 17th, played Saturday afternoon as the 35th.

On in 3, Mrs. Mann took two putts. Miss Wall's first try went past the cup but nestled one foot away.

Remindful of her previous troubles on the hole, she took her time, stroked the putt well, but the ball rolled by the tip.

That was the end, although Mary Agnes wrestled on, her brassie second on the closing hole was one of her greatest shots but there was nothing she could do about Mrs. Mann's 15-foot putt for a half in par 4's.

"I knew Lucille was going to sink that putt," Miss Wall said. "She was long overdue."

Mrs. Mann, the former Lucille Robinson, Curtis Cup player, had trouble with her putting all day, three-putting four greens on the morning round.

Phooey On 'T', Says Jones, Nebraska'll Still Use Power

AP Feature Service

LINCOLN, Neb.—Major Lawrence M. Jones, Nebraska football coach, says the "feint," when backed with raw power, is football's best weapon of deception.

So the major is one top-notch coach who isn't worried about the "T" formation or any other sleight-of-hand performance, even though Coach Clark Shaughnessy's Stanford magicians whipped Nebraska in the 1941 Rose Bowl game.

He'll continue, he said, to teach his boys how to apply power plays, then how to feint the other fellow out of position and hit him—hard!

There's plenty of deception, Jones says, in the single wingback system he uses. He admits that many of the maneuvers employed by his team, such as the shifting of backs a yard or two this or that way, the angle at which the cutback is made by the ball carrier, and the "cut" of pass receivers, are the kind that escape the eyes of spectators. But he gives his word that the opposing player who gets caught in the middle knows what happens.

Thus the major says his eye will always be peeled for the player who can combine power with the ability to feint. Jones likes power and this is why he wants it always present:

"It's there when you've got to have it. It's there when you run into a rain or snow storm, a wet or frozen field following a storm and a wind that you can't pass against. That's why I like power football."

Jones lost 13 seniors off his Rose Bowl team, plus five men to the National Guard, but just the same he thinks his club next fall will be on the potent side if draft calls don't catch too many.

BUFFS 5; MISSIONS 1

HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP)—Fred Martin, Houston's sensational right hand hurler, hung up his ninth consecutive victory Saturday as the Buffs turned back San Antonio, 5-1.

Martin gave up but five hits, and had a shutout until the eighth, then Schleuter, with one out, doubled to center. He took third as George Hausmann, a pinch hitter, grounded out and scored on Busch's single to center. Martin then fanned Bob Neighbors for the third out.

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Tulsa's Oilers won their series opener here with Oklahoma City's Indians Saturday night, 3 to 0, sewing it up in the ninth with two runs off reliever Stan Goletz.

The contest was featured by fine performances from both teams, with the Indians' hurler Pete Mallory holding the Oilers to one run until he went out for a pinch-hitter in the last inning. Lefthander Max Thomas did equally well for the visitors, getting into danger only three times.

SOFTBALL

McALLEN— Second place in the McAllen Softball League will be at stake when the McAllen Lions clash with the Sharyland TCX squad in the 8 p. m. game here Monday night.

At present the Lions are resting in the runner-up spot, boasting a half-game margin over the TCX team, which barely missed taking over second place Friday night.

Leading the Pharr Levins Garagemen 2-0 with one out in the seventh, Sharyland allowed the first place holders to escape with nothing worse than a 2-2 tie. The hour time limit was up after the Garagemen had put across their two-run rally.

First inning singles and a home run by Raymond Miller in the third gave TCX its lead. Cucu Hernandez' one-bagger, an error, and a long fly in the last of the seventh enabled the Garagemen to maintain their undefeated record.

Brilliant fielding and tight pitching made the game the best played this season. Monte Hetrick, on the mound for Sharyland, was up to his old tricks, struck out eight, walked none, and allowed three singles. His opponent, Mike McKinney, scattered five singles in addition to Miller's homer, fanned five, and walked a similar number.

In the second game, a non-conference tilt, the Lions smashed out a 16-5 victory over the Mission Lumbermen. Tommy Hermanson homered for the winners, while Wood hit a four-bagger with the bases packed for Mission.

Highlight of the week's schedule will come Friday night when Sharyland and Pharr take on the Cox and Hammon team of Freer, one of South Texas' stronger teams, in a doubleheader.

McAllen churches plan to inaugurate a league soon. First interchurch play of the year will be a non-league affair Wednesday night between the Methodists and the Baptists.

Sedan's Upholstery Burned Out In Fire

HARLINGEN—All upholstery of the sedan belonging to B. G. Barnett, Harlingen, was burned out early Saturday afternoon, when the vehicle caught fire just north of the Valley Refinery on the Combes road, while Barnett was driving it to town. Harlingen firemen summoned to put out the blaze, said it apparently was started by a battery cable, on which insulation had worn off. They said the car was not insured.

Father Of Willacy Man Dies Saturday

Funeral services are to be held Sunday in Cleburne, it was reported here.

The young eel is ribbon-like and so transparent that print may be read through its body.

WHITE SOX 4; BROWNS 3

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Chicago White Sox, playing just good enough to protect their four-game winning streak, advanced to within a game and a half of first place Saturday with a 4 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

It was Chicago's sixth win in eight games with the Browns and their 14th triumph in their last 19 games.

Young Jack Hallett wobbled badly in the early innings, yielding five hits and four bases on balls in three games. Then he settled down and hurled hitless ball until the eighth, becoming the 30th White Sox pitcher to go the route in 41 games.

Four Naval Reserve Men Visit McAllen

McALLEN—Four members of the United States Naval Reserve in the communications division at Lambert Field, St. Louis, Mo., visited here Friday with Mr. and Mrs. W. Edward Hart.

The party was en route home from a trip to Mexico City and included Raymond Widaman, Arlis Hoff, Paul Cajacob and Walter Klostermeier. Widaman is the McAllen man's nephew.

Ellis Prejean Hurt In Motorcar Crash

HARLINGEN — Ellis Prejean, well-known Harlingen man, employe of the Missouri Pacific, and member of the Harlingen Fire Department, was badly injured when the small railroad motorcar in which he was riding left the rails, according to word received here Saturday, from Kingsville.

It was understood both of Prejean's legs were broken, the report stating one was broken in several places. He is in the railroad hospital in Kingsville.

Chief Succumbs At Fort Leavenworth

LEAVENWORTH, Kas. — (AP) — Brig. Gen. E. L. Gruber, commandant of the army's command and general staff schools at Fort Leavenworth, died unexpectedly of a heart attack Friday night while playing bridge. He was 61.

While serving in the Philippines as a second lieutenant, General Gruber wrote the field artillery's famed battle song "The Cassions Go Rolling Along."

Take It From The Champion, Badminton's Easy To Learn

AP Feature Service

POMONA, Calif.—Adept beginners can become experts faster at badminton than at any other sport, says Dave Freeman, 20-year-old Pomona College athlete who reigns over America's 4,000,000 shuttlecock smashers.

"Anyone with a fair amount of ability, a pretty good eye and competitive spirit can quickly learn to play a good game of badminton," he says. "In tennis you have to polish your strokes for years. If you try hard in badminton you can get pretty good within a year by playing only three times a week."

Other players have expressed similar opinion. Phil Michlin, coach at the YMCA in Rochester, N. Y., says: "Women particularly enjoy the game because they can get a good smash at the bird."

'You Don't Get Far'

Shapely Evelyn Boldrick, 1940 champion and 1941 runner-up, says there are very few fat women players.

"It's the stretch, reach and run that keeps us slim," she says. "I train on steak and other good food, and never worry about my figure."

Mary Whittemore, Boston singles and doubles star who bounces throughout each match, says "the game is so much fun I never stop to think why I play it."

Freeman and Thelma Kingsbury, former English champions who came to this country nearly four years ago, won the 1941 national singles titles at Cleveland.

Title Monopoly

For Freeman it was the third successive national amateur singles crown, and for the second successive year he shared the men's and mixed doubles crowns.

It was the first American singles title for Miss Kingsbury, who also captured a share of the women's doubles championship.

Both champions are slim and sandy-haired, with live-rubber legs and a steel-snap of the wrist. Miss Kingsbury is left-handed, Freeman right-handed.

Dave stands slightly under six feet and weighs 150 pounds. He started playing tennis at 10, and a few years later captured the national junior championship. In his spare time he played table tennis, and soon captured the California title in that game.

FD's Chat, Bismarck Feature Of Newsreel

HARLINGEN—Flown here by air mail from New York, Paramount's latest news reel release, slated Saturday and Sunday at Arcadia Theatre, will feature President Roosevelt's recent "fireside chat," and the sinking of the Nazi battleship Bismarck.

Paramount has devoted the entire reel to these two momentous events, aides for Manager Jack King said.

Crows can sometimes be taught to talk. Contrary to popular opinion, the tongue need not be slit. Slitting the tongue is unnecessary cruelty. Birds produce vocal sounds within the body from the syrinx.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO—(AP)—After falling as much as a cent to the lowest levels in about two weeks, wheat prices Saturday recovered all of the loss and pushed upward for gains of almost a cent.
The market's about-face was attributed to short covering and evening-up operations prior to the close. Some traders credited buying to mills while others contended dealers were anticipating producers' two-thirds approval of the marketing quota system at Saturday's nation-wide referendum. A sharp rally of soybeans also strengthened wheat.
Early wheat weakness was associated with a heavy two-day accumulation of receipts at some terminals, climaxing a record-breaking movement for the month, expectations of upward revision of new crop estimates and war news.

By BERNARD S. O'HARA

NEW YORK—(AP)—You could have put Saturday's stock market in your right eye without bringing on even a slight case of astigmatism.
While there was a semblance of dealings, Wall Street was notably bare of customers as the majority extended Friday's holiday over the week-end.
So far as prices were concerned, the list stepped out of the week and month with a moderately lower drift although scattered aircrafts and specialties managed to emerge with fractional gains.
Transfers for the two hours of 107,100 shares were the smallest since Aug. 24, and compared with 160,260 a week ago. The Association Press average of 60 stocks was off .1 of a poinnt at 39.6 and on the week was down .2. For the month the composite was up .4.
It was one of the narrowest markets, in the matter of the number of stocks traded, in two decades or more. Of about 1,260 listed issues, only 345 changed hands, actually a low market, since Aug. 24, when 303 were dealt in. In Saturday's total, 127 were off, 93 up and 125 unchanged.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stocks—Easy; aircrafts resistant.
Foreign Exchange—Quiet; Hongkong and Shanghai dollars dip.

Corn—Strong with wheat.

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON—(AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Greasy combing domestic and foreign wools in the Boston market were slower than during the previous week. Inquiries were mostly for future delivery as most users were covered on current needs. Sizeable orders were placed for foreign wools for future delivery, but the demand for spot wools was slow. Scattered buying in combing three eights and quarter blood bright fleece wools was mostly at steady prices ranging 46-47 cents, in the grease. Only a little fine Delaine bright fleece wool was moved at 42-44 cents, in the grease. Combing half blood bright fleece wool was quiet at 43-45 cents, in the grease.

'BLOOD AND SAND' AT CAPITOL, ARCADIA & PALACE THEATRES

Linda Darnell And Rita Hayworth Are Seen In Featured Supporting Roles

TYRONE POWER has his most colorful screen role in the Technicolor film production "Blood and Sand," with Linda Darnell and Rita Hayworth heading the featured supporting cast which includes Nazimova, Anthony Quinn, J. Carroll Naish and Lynn Bari.

The one screen star who in the past few years has appeared in more outstanding film than any other of Hollywood's leading actors, Tyrone Power was selected for the starring role in "Blood and Sand," not only for his popularity, but for his colorful and dashing qualities, characteristic of a great matador, whom he portrays in the picture.

To faithfully capture the true color of Spanish costumes, architecture and atmosphere, the picture was filmed in Mexico City; the Mexican capitol being one of the few places in the new world that retains the beauty, color and vibrantly rich Spanish atmosphere of the old world.

In addition to the vivid panorama portrayed on the screen in flaming Technicolor, the story of "Blood and Sand" is filled with thrilling romance, spectacle, adventure and beauty. The background and the spectacle of the bull fight arena highlight the dramatic love story of a death-defying matador torn between the love of a beautiful wife and the fatal charm of an alluring temptress.

"Blood and Sand," is booked for current showing today through Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre in Brownsville, the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen and the Palace Theatre in McAllen.

Popularity of Dance Results From Film

VALENTINO IN SILENT FILM

'Blood And Sand' Was Stars First Hit

In the early days of silent motion pictures one of the screen's greatest stars first received public acclaim as the dashing star of "Blood and Sand," the gripping story of a fearless matador who defies death in the bull fight arena for love and glory.

Valentino was the screen's leading star in the early 20's and in addition to his appearance in "Blood and Sand" was starred in such outstanding pictures of that day as "The Shiek" and "Son of The Shiek."

The new Technicolor screen production of "Blood and Sand" stars Tyrone Power who like Valentino in his day of stardom, gained fame for his appearances in romantic, action-filled roles. His most noted being in "Jesse James," "The Rain Came," "Johnny Apollo" and "The Mark of Zorro."

In "Blood and Sand," Power contributes an inspired performance as a fearless matador, who is torn between the love of his beautiful wife, played by Linda Darnell and the allure of a fiery temptress in the person of Rita Hayworth. The featured supporting cast includes Nazimova, Anthony Quinn, J. Carrol Naish, John Carradine and Lynn Bari.

Linda Darnell, Tyrone Power and Rita Hayworth in the sensational Technicolor screen production of "Blood And Sand," which heralds a month of outstanding screen entertainment at Valley Interstate Theatres during the month of June. "Blood And Sand" is booked for current showing today, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre in Brownsville, the Palace Theatre in McAllen and the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen.

Tyrone Power, starred in "Blood And Sand" is seen in the role of a famed matador. The picture was adapted to the screen from Vincente Blasco Ibanez' novel of the same title.

'Blood And Sand' Heralded As Most Thrilling Love Story Ever Filmed

Heralded as the most thrilling love story ever filmed "Blood and Sand," has as it's romantic stars Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell and Rita Hayworth with Nazimova, Anthony Quinn, J. Carroll Naish, John Carradine and Lynn Bari in featured supporting roles.

Depicting the romantic and thrilling adventures of a Spanish matador the story presents the eternal triangle of a hero torn between the love of a beautiful wife and an alluring temptress.

It is a drama of contrasts, showing, the poverty of a youthful bullfighter before he achieves overflowing wealth as the most famous of all matadors. The contrast between devotion and fidelity of his wife, and the callous fickleness of a beautiful siren.

In addition to the featured cast of stars thousands of extras were employed to combine all the sweep of a panorama with the sensitivity of a great love story in bringing this sensational romantic-drama to the screen.

Rita Hayworth Is Much Photographed

Assisting in the house party were Mrs. J. C. Monk, Mrs. J. B. Ashcraft, Mrs. L. B. Weed, Mrs. F. E. Osborn, Mrs. Jeanette Pride, Miss Maud Jones and Mrs. Edward Womack.

Mrs. Weed and Mrs. Osborn presided at the cleverly laid tea table, centered with a large silver bowl filled with quantities of pink roses. Church Rites Set Monday In McAllen

McALLEN—One of the outstanding social events on the McAllen calendar this week is the wedding of Miss Phyliss Jones, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Paul Jones, and Don Harlan Eubank, all of McAllen.

The rites will be read in a night ceremony at 7:30 o'clock Monday at the First Presbyterian church with Rev. E. A. Lindsey, pastor, officiating.

Miss Jones' wedding has been preceded by a round of pre-nuptial events given by her many friends. Most recent was the family luncheon her aunt and cousin, Mrs. Maynard Kreidler and Mrs. J. B. Ashcraft, gave Friday.

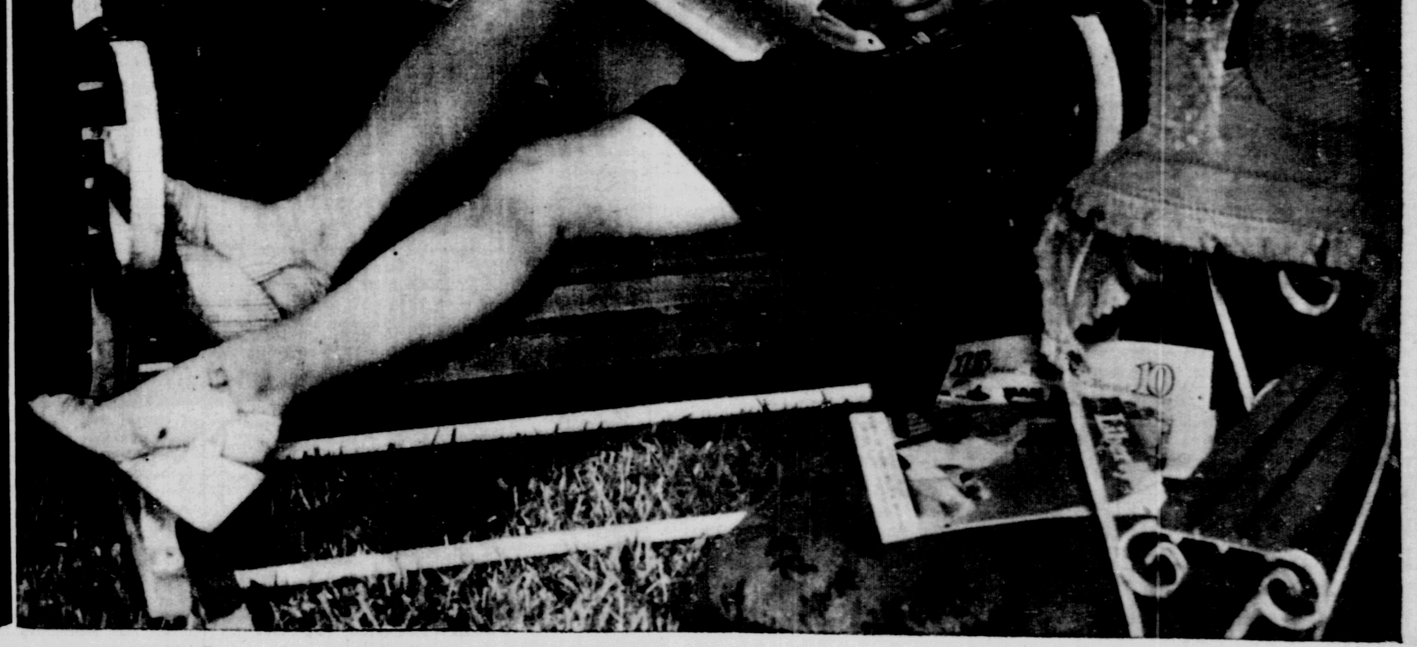

Attendants for the wedding are Mrs. Minor Parks of Corpus Christi, Miss Jones' sister, matron of honor; Miss Velda Meek, maid of honor; with bridesmaids, Misses Evelyn Estes, Mary Phillips, Mary Louise Jones of San Antonio, and Jerry Eubanks.

Men attendants are James Ferguson, attendant to the groom-elect, Landon Jones, John Bales, Minor Parker and Maynard Kreidler.

For the luncheon Friday the table was centered with an arrangement of pink roses and daisies. The hostesses presented the young honored guest with gifts of her china and crystal.

Guests were Mesdames E. Paul Jones, Charles Jones, W. W. Jones, Frank Jones, Minor Parker of Corpus Christi, and Jeanette Pride with Misses Dorothy Sue Ashcraft, Mary Louise Jones of San Antonio and Joyce Nowlin of Kerrville and Maud Jones.

All she asks from vacation is just to relax—at least for a while—is what Miss June Page, Raymondville, (pictured at top of page) thinks and definitely. June is reveling in no classes to meet, no parties to attend, no hairsets, and no meetings. Her viewpoint is understandable when a small part of her school activities are reviewed. Besides a scholastic record that made her valedictorian for the graduating class, Miss Page was a member of the district winning debate team; member of Band and Orchestra Club; drum majorette; Future Farmer Sweetheart; vice president of Dramatics Club; and was the nominee of the Raymondville Woman's Club for Onion Fiesta Queen. This'n That

By MINNIE GILBERT

AZUCENA is the rather pleasing name Spanish-speaking folks along the border have for tuberoses. Though not so much liked by Anglo-Saxons until popularized lately somewhat with the practice of flower tinting, tuberoses have always been favorites in homes where Spanish is the natural tongue.

A HANDY device, reported by a Valley woman who attended Dorothy Biddle's lecture on flower arrangement recently in Corpus Christi, beats using rubber bands to hold flower tips or slender stems together.

A few strips of Scotch tape wound around the stems are practically invisible and may be applied much more easily than the rubber bands.

From the way Memorial Day was "discovered" this spring, it ought to become a full-fledged holiday in the Valley about next year.

At the same time, it is likely that Armistice Day will become a forgotten holiday. At any rate the joy connected with its observance has faded out.

BLUEBONNET seed, in most sections, are now ripe and ready for gathering.

If the pods seem a little green, strip them from the plants and allow to dry completely.

In a short time the pods will be split open and the seed will be scattered on the ground.

Folks who don't care for bluebonnets in their own lawn or gardens might like to sow seed on nearby vacant lots or rights-of-way where they could sort of guard the plants when they come up.

Because of their close resemblance to clover, it's always easy to identify and protect the bluebonnet plants.

Of course, everyone means to buy several bonds during the next year or so, but cash is a little short just now, a situation that always prevails. The average adult is shy about bothering a busy postal employe to buy a lone 50 cent or 25 cent stamp to put in a book.

Suppose all that was necessary was to drop a quarter in a slot and turn the crank, the stamp could be obtained with a minimum of publicity and effort.

AT LEAST one royal poinciana is going to blossom in the Valley this year—the dean of all poinciana trees which towers over the roof tops at Palm Courts on West Jefferson Street in Brownsville.

This tree is rather well protected within a nearly closed square made by buildings and it is reported the top was also protected by a tarpaulin during the record cold spell over a year ago—the freeze that is depriving this section of the colorful blooms for a second season.

The older royal poincianas in the Valley were brought from Mexico 20 years or more ago by Reynaldo Rodriguez and his father of McAllen.

THE TREES with their umbrella tops of flame-colored flowers are not native to Mexico, though they are growing riotously in a wild state in much of its area.

Natives of Africa, the trees were introduced in Mexico long ago. The common Mexican name is flamboya and in Cuba it is arbol de fuega, both illustrating the knack Latin-Americans have for bestowing plant names that recognize outstanding characteristics or resemblances.

The granddaddy of all royal poincianas, this column is told, is the enormous tree in the patio at the Royal Poinciana Hotel in Honolulu which is credited with drawing thousands of visitors with its blossoming season annually.

THE jacarandra is not native to Mexico either, Mr. Rodriguez told this column, and is found only in cultivated gardens or parks where it was planted by human hands.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hunter, 222 W. Buchanan, have one of the blue-flowered jacarandras now in bloom in their yard.

Which makes one wonder whether the Valley is the only U. S. region where both may be grown.

EXPERIMENTATION with many tropical plants and shrubs is being carried out by dozens of amateur gardeners and years must pass before Valley gardens take on the richness and beauty that comes only with maturity.

For instance, a bougainvillea 25 years old is one of the many interesting plants in the garden that gives keen delight to Mrs. Eumelia Rodriguez, mother of the Mr. Rodriguez quoted above.

Mrs. Rodriguez has spent most of her life along the lower Rio Grande border and is familiar with both native and cultivated flowering plants and trees.

The surface of the rich dark leaves is not unlike sandpaper and, no doubt, served the purpose extremely well.

IT WON'T be long before the anacuas will again be loaded with clouds of white bloom—unless they are like the retamas less inclined to blossom in a period of excessive rains.

Scarcity of mocking birds has been noted by a number of persons the past winter, but they seem to be pretty plentiful now—

The grapevine has probably carried the news that the chapotes (native persimmons) are beginning to ripen.

LIFE could be pretty bewildering for Dan McClendon, Jr., son of a well-known Pharr couple, who recently married Aurelita Stamm in Rayne, La.

Not only is his bride a twin, but she has two other sisters, also identical twins, and persons, except close friends, find it impossible to distinguish from pictures, the matching sets of twins. All four sisters are members of Alpha Delta Pi sorority at the University of Texas.

SOMEHTING like a historic occasion will be the first joint birthday party held by the four LaMotte children Tuesday afternoon.

They are children of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. LaMotte.

Picture Is Filmed In Technicolor

Robert Taylor makes his debut as a western star in screen's new technicolor epic "Billy the Kid," which is booked for showing Thursday, Friday and Saturday at both the Capitol Theatre in Brownsville and the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen.

Although Taylor was virtually born on a horse in Nebraska and has owned his own ranch and stables since becoming one of Hollywoods post popular stars, the new picture gives him his first opportunity to show his riding ability on the screen. He has been asking for the chance for almost five years.

Brian Donlevy, who attained stardom in "The Great McGinty," heads a brilliant supporting cast which includes Ian Hunter, Mary Howard, Gene Lockhart and Lon Chaney, Jr.

The story concerns the exploits and fate of a terror of the range during the cattle wars of the 1870's. He enters the picture with a reputation as a "killer," but after first joining up with the Dan Hickey gang, he swings over to the more lawful forces of Eric Keating, an English rancher.

Influenced by the Englishman, Ian Hunter, and Donlevy and Miss Howard, he appears to be reforming until Hunter is killed. Swearing to revenge the death of his friend, he trails and shoots the Hickey men responsible but finally meets his own end in a showdown with Donlevy, sworn in as a deputy to stop the lawlessness.

"The Singing Hill" At Gem Weslaco

Gene Autrey, the screen's "Ace" cowboy star, is to be seen in his thrilling musical Western, "The Singing Hill," at the Gem Theatre in Weslaco, today only.

GARY COOPER IN FILM HIT

"Meet John Doe" Is Frank Capra Film

"Meet John Doe," Frank Capra's new film hit starring Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck, which opens a three-day engagement at the Palace Theatre in McAllen, starting Thursday.

Theatre-goers met Mr. Deeds, and know that Mr. Smith went to Washington and they now have the opportunity to meet John Doe.

In his adventures in the gallery of human nature, Capra has added another picture of our life and times which will constitute a series of indelible portraits of people now for the future. Each of his characters has in common the American heritage, yet each is as unlike the others.

Through the medium of motion pictures Capra has so explored the characters of the folks we meet in the street that all of his pictures, including "It Happened One Night," "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town," "You Can't Take It With You" and "Mr. Smith Goes To Washington" occupy a personalized niche in the memory of millions of theatre-goers.

As John Doe, Cooper plays an average American who has lost his means of livelihood and who, in spite of ambition, comes to be classified as a migrant. In playing the role of an average man, temporarily down on his luck, Cooper adds another portrait to the gallery of "beloved vagabonds" so dear to the heart of Americans. The problem of the man displaced from ordinary economic status, whose ideas, if not radical, are at least different from the rank and file, is as old as history and as new as tomorrow's newspaper.

AIR EPIC TO PLAY VALLEY

"I Wanted Wings" Is Scheduled Soon

The widely heralded screen production "I Wanted Wings," is soon to be seen at Valley Interstate Theatres, opening day-and-date engagement Sunday June 8, at both the Capitol Theatre in Brownsville and the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen.

Ray Milland, William Holden, Wayne Morris, Veronica Lake, Brian Donlevy and Constance Moore are the featured stars in "I Wanted Wings," which was produced by Paramount Studios with co-operation of the War Department and the Air Coorps, whose work it depicts in its story.

The thrilling story of the men who battle their way to graduation from the Army Air Corps' training schools, the picture shows them not only as future war birds for Uncle Sam but as flesh-and-blood young men who can get into more than their shares of perplexities. The aviation scenes, filmed at Randolph and Kelly fields, in San Antonio, are some of the greatest action pictures ever screened.

Harry Davenport, Herbert Rawlinson, Richard Webb, Richard Lane, Addison Richards and Hobart Cavanaugh are among the supporting players.

Judy Canova Stars In Musical Comedy

The incomparable comedienne, Judy Canova, is seen in the screen version of "Sis Hopkins," the famous stage hit that has been a classic of entertainment for three decades. The featured cast with Miss Canova in "Sis Hopkins" includes Bob Crosby, Charles Butterworth, Jerry Colonna and Susan Hayward.

"Sis Hopkins" is booked for showing Friday and Saturday at the Rivoli Theatre in San Benito

Current Films

JOAN CRAWFORD and Melvyn Douglas share co-starring honors in the screen's new romantic-drama "A Woman's Face," which is booked for current showing today and Monday at the Rivoli Theatre in San Benito.

"A Woman's Face" was produced by George Cukor whose past screen hits include "The Women" in which Joan Crawford was also starred and of more recent date "The Philadelphia Story."

The story of "A Woman's Face" is that of a woman shunned by the world. It is a picture that presents a plot powerfully dramatic and totally different from the usual run of motion picture stories. The story tells of a girl's struggle to beat the world she has learned to hate, her strange association with a man she knows she can not love and her re-generation.

"PENNY SERENADE" AT RITZ AND STATE

ROMANCE is the theme of Irene Dunne and Cary Grant's new starring picture "Penny Serenade," which is booked for current showing today and Monday at both the Ritz Theatre in Weslaco and the State Theatre in Mercedes.

The story of "Penny Serenade" carries its principals through a ten-year period. It traces their hectic courtship and their impetuous marriage and describes their raptorious honeymoon which ends in near disaster, their struggle for existence and straightening out their differences.

Grant's inborn wanderlust causes them to drift from each other and the days when they fell in love to the tune of "Penny Serenade" in a music shop. It's a record of the tune that stops Miss Dunne from packing to get a divorce and the discovery of a little boy who needs a couple of nice people for parents that finally brings them back together.

The featured supporting cast to Miss Dunne and Grant in "Penny Serenade" includes Beulah Bondi, Edgar Buchanan and Wallis Clark.

HARDY FAMILY RETURNS TO STRAND

ONE OF THE most entertaining of all the Hardy Family pictures is presented in "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," which is booked for current showing today and Monday at the Strand Theatre in Harlingen.

In the picture, the characters, which are now household words in America, pass two milestones. It marks the graduation of the inimitable Andy from high school and honors the passing of his time-worn jallopy in favor of a smart and new convertible coupe.

Promising to take it's place among the most noteworthy of the entire series, the film adds to the town of Carvel which had it's inception some four years ago. In addition to it's street of homes, including that of the Hardys and the Benedicts, it now boasts a modern brick high school where much of the action of "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary" takes place. The film also takes the audience around to the wrong side of the tracks and introduces it to a brand new family, the Dands, a father and his two mother-less children, a boy and a girl, whose lives become strangely entangled with the Hardy's.

In addition to the cast of "regulars"—Lewis Stone, Mickey Rooney, Ann Rutherford, Fay Holden and Sara Haden—"Andy Hardy's Private Secretary" introduces two new comers to the screen.

The first is petite Kathryn Grayson, singing screen find, who makes her debut as both a singer and an actress. Miss Grayson is a colortura soprano of outstanding ability and sings four songs in the picture.

To her is given the role of Andy's secretary. The second newcomer to the screen seen for the first time in the play is Todd Karns, son of the popular screen comedian Roscoe Karns.

Ickes Is Named Oil Czar

Co-Operation Is Due From Oil Leaders

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Secretary Ickes was given the job Saturday of solving gasoline and oil problems arising from the defense program, and the Justice Department immediately placed in his hand a potent weapon — the veto power over negotiations in anti-trust suits against 22 major oil companies.

ICKES

Attorney General Jackson said in a statement that the suits would not be permitted to impede regulation of the oil industry by Ickes, and mentioned that negotiations were under way to reach an agreement with the oil companies on the anti-trust actions. Then, he added:

"To avoid any conflict with the administrative program which may be established by the secretary of the interior further negotiations in the pending proceedings will be submitted to him, to the end that national defense objectives of the new oil control shall be in no way impeded."

Known Some Time

Although Ickes' appointment to be "petroleum co-ordinator for national defense," was only announced Saturday in Hyde Park, N. Y., by President Roosevelt, it was learned that the interior secretary already had conferred with representatives of the oil industry.

Aides said he was arranging for conferences soon in Washington of all federal agencies dealing with oil, industry representatives, rail and water carriers and officials of oil producing states.

It was not clear exactly how extensive Ickes' powers were.

President Roosevelt directed him to make "specific recommendations" for "action which is necessary or desirable" and cited these as problems for immediate action:

1. Development, production and utilization of reserves of crude oils and natural gas that are of "strategic importance both in quality and location."

2. Elimination or reduction of cross hauling of oil products, ex-

DARLAN FLAYS BRITISH RAIDS

Says Shipping Attack Just 'Piracy'

VICHY, Unoccupied France—(AP)—Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan denounced Britain Saturday, evidently with the approval of Chief of State Marshal Petain, for what he called piratical attacks on French shipping.

Coincident with Darlan's statement, made before French editors *in Nazi-occupied Paris, it was re*ported reliably that the French North African port of Sfax had been attacked by British planes for a third time and the 3,313-ton Italian freighter Florida II set afire.

"I remain decided, more than ever," Darlan said, "to force respect for France's right to free ues of her ports and her routes of communication."

Ranging himself squarely on the German side in his expose of French-British relations, the No. 2 man in the Vichy regime asserted that "even in the improbable case of British victory," or in "a triumphant Anglo-Saxon world, France would be only a dominion of second order."

BRITAN SURPRISED THAT FRANCE IS "NEUTRAL"

LONDON—(AP)—Informed British sources, commenting on French Vice-Premier Admiral Darlan's speech Saturday at Vichy, said they were "surprised that France considers herself neutral."

There was no further comment immediately in authoritative quarters, but the view was held in other circles that Britain is hopeful of preventing open hostilities with Vichy.

CIO May Fight War

NEW YORK—(AP)—The National Maritime Union (CIO) said Saturday it would petition the CIO to call a nationwide congres of trade unions and people's groups to organize a fight to remain clear of the war.

Stock Vaccinating In Cameron Will Begin Sunday To Halt Sleep Sickness

Disease Drops In Southern Area Now

SAN BENITO — Continuing the intense campaign to control spread of sleeping sickness among horses and mules in Cameron county a vaccinating service will go into effect Sunday which has been provided by the county commisisoners' court in co-operation with the county health unit and the county agent's office.

Dr. Grady Deaton, health director, said Saturday that the disease was worse now in the central section of the county and had declined sharply in the southern part where it was first reported.

Dr. Deaton, Jimmy Walker and Morgan Finley of the county health unit will work with Frank C. Brunnemann, county agent, and his assistant, Ab Weatherby, on the vaccinating service which is available to all farmers.

Schedule Planned

Schedule for the first three days of the coming week has been planned by Brunnemann who asks that all farmers desiring vaccination of animals to bring them to designated places and to wait awhile if officials are late as unexpected delays may interfere with slated time.

The service has arranged with the Animal Byproducts Company in Harlingen, telephone 9539, to remove dead mules and horses from farms within 12 hours after the company is notified. The company is open all day Sunday.

Vaccinating service will be available at the following places:

Sunday: 7 a. m., Laurellis; 9 a. m., Goates store; 11 a. m., Grover Weikel farm.

Monday: 9 a. m., Los Indios, R. O.

PAPPY SPEAKS HERE JUNE 5

Harlingen Talk Will End Valley Tour

HARLINGEN—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel will speak in Harlingen Thursday night at 8 o'clock, to climax a day of visiting in the Valley during which he will make two other talks, it was announced here Saturday.

Governor O'Daniel will be the fourth candidate for the U. S. Senate post left vacant by Morris Sheppard, to visit the Valley during the current campaign. Attorney General Mann and Congressman Martin Dies were here a week ago; and J. C. Williams of Rockport has been in the Valley during the past week.

Leon, and 20 to 25 others, will accompany O'Daniel to the Valley Thursday. A big sound truck, hillbilly music and all the trimmings that proved effective in 1938 and 1940, will be on tap at Fair Park, where O'Daniel spoke during his first campaign for governor.

Other Thursday speeches by O'Daniel will include one at Brownsville at 10 a. m. and the second at Archer Park in McAllen at 1 p. m.

Sleeping Sickness Can Be Cured Says Doctor

Its' Lot Of Work, But It Will Save Your Prize Stock, San Benito Man Says

By HARRY FOEHNER

HARLINGEN—"If you have an extra fine horse or mule that is stricken with sleeping sickness, don't give up hope because there is a chance save it."

That was the ray of hope offered Saturday by M. Zellmer of San Benito, formerly a veterinarian in the north, who told how such afflicted animals might be saved provided that the malady is not too far advanced.

Hundreds of Cameron county and other Valley horses and mules have died of equine encephalo-myelitis and most farmers are vaccinating their animals against this dread disease which may be carried by mosquitoes, horse flies and possibly the Mexican "kissing bug," a blood sucking beetle sometimes found in this area.

Lot Of Work

It takes a lot of work to save an animal but if farmers are serious about curing a favorite horse there is a good chance for accomplishing it. Three horses that Zellmer knows of have been saved already by the method he suggests.

Zellmer said that horses should not be vaccinated after developing fever for then it is too late. If vaccine is effective it may still help but if it is not effective, it works the other way, making the horse's plight worse.

Animals afflicted with sleeping sickness really die of lock-jaw, Zellmer said. Fifty pounds of crushed ice should be placed under the afflicted horse's head and 50 pounds over his head. This may be necessary for 16 to 24 hours to reduce the brain fever from which the animal is suffering. The animal usually regains its sight when the fever leaves.

In addition 1,500 units of tetanus antitoxin should be administered. If this is given in the evening, it should be repeated some time the next day and even a third injection may be necessary.

Apply Enema

An enema may be applied with a water pump, the dose consisting of a teaspoonful of salt to a bucket of water applied several times daily.

A small board with the edges rounded off to prevent injury to the mouth may be inserted between the teeth and worked so as to exercise the jaws. Sometimes the jaws will not be locked, only the tongue being stiff, and working a board back and forth will help, Zellmer said.

Fallen animals should be sprayed or green flies will blow them. Spray also will keep away mosquitoes and prevent even further spread of the disease says Zellmer who is farming a mile north of Lantana on the San Benito-Rio Hondo Road.

Houston Arrives

Texas' Senator Now In US Capital

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Andrew Jackson Houston arrived in the capital Saturday to carve his own niche in history as the oldest person ever to enter the United States Senate.

Appointed as interim senator from Texas, Senator Houston at 86 years is taking a seat occupied by his illustrious father, Sam Houston, in 1846, or five years short of a century ago.

Tired by the 1,500-mile train trip from La Porte, Tex., he asked newspapermen to delay interviews until Monday when he will take his oath of office in the Senate chamber.

JUNE LOVE BUG BITES HIDALGO SWAINS EARLY

EDINBURG — Dan Cupid was working overtime in Hidalgo county Saturday.

June was just around the corner, and young men's fancies were lightly turning to thoughts of—

Well, anyway, during the first few hours of business Saturday morning six couples marched into the county clerk's office and filled out their marriage license applications.

GOOD COTTON YIELD SEEN

Despite Pests, Rain, May Equal 1940

HARLINGEN — The Valley will produce as much cotton this season as last year although between 45,000 and 50,000 acres of the crop have been entirely eliminated by rains and floods, it was predicted by Douglas Carroll, manager of the Harlingen Cotton Oil Company.

"A tremendous damage has been done by rains and we believe that 20 per cent of the entire Valley cotton acreage has been knocked out," Carroll said. "The 1941 cotton allotment in the Valley is 223,961 acres and a fifth of this would be somewhere between 45,000 and 50,000 acres that have been abandoned."

This does not take into consideration the poor stand and condition of some of the remaining crop, the local man said.

"There is a greater flea hopper infestation than ever before, but even with all these unfavorable conditions we have fair prospects for as much cotton as last year when the yield per acre was low," Carroll stated.

There were 95,335 bales produced last year on 211,447 allotted acres.

Texans Okay Market Control For Wheat

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—(AP)—Texans voted overwhelmingly Saturday in favor of a Department of Agriculture proposal to establish marketing quotas on this year's wheat crop.

Results Saturday night from 96 of 133 counties showed 10,541 for and 833 against wheat quotas. Farmers of Gray county, a heavy wheat producer, voted 377 to 9 in favor of the plan.

Zamzam Survivors Freed Saturday But 21 U. S. Ambulance Drivers Held

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, At The French Frontier —(AP)— A United States embassy official said Saturday he would go Monday to Biarritz, in occupied France, to find out why 21 American ambulance drivers were detained while 119 other American survivors from the Egyptian liner Zamzam were permitted to enter Spain en route to Lisbon.

The ambulance men were confined to a hotel in Biarritz. A representative of the Berlin foreign office ordered them held, saying their cases would be decided in Berlin.

The Americans who crossed over, including two ambulance drivers who apparently were released by mistake because their passports were marked "student," reported that Germans referred repeatedly to "bad treatment" they said was given German sailors arrested in American ports.

Reaching Spain among the survivors of the ship, torpedoed by a German raider in the South Atlantic, were six pregnant American women.

W. H. Edwards and his wife, Edna, missionaries of Detroit, Mich., who were en route to their post in the Belgian Congo, also were aboard the British liner Athenia when it was sunk the first week of the war.

They said the sinking of the Zamzam was "more pleasant," since she was hit at dawn instead of at night

ARMISTICE IN IRAQ WAR IS NOW SIGNED

BAGHDAD QUITS

Nazis Rush Belated Aid To Iraq

By The Associated Press

The European - African - Middle Eastern conflict once again is a war in search of a battlefront.

With the strange battle of Crete all over except for the German-Italian shouting, the mop-up and Britain's formal acknowledgement of another great defeat, high strategists of both sides, it can be taken for granted, are looking around for the likeliest zone of offense and defense.

And Iraq, by all indications Saturday night, appeared to be it."

The British Imperial command knew that and it was an impelling factor in the speed (one month) with which British Middle Eastern forces cleaned up the Iraq war-within-a-war before the Axis could or wished, to give all-out aid to the anti-British dictator-premier, Rashid Ali Al Gailani.

Iraq Sues For Peace

The British campaign in Iraq was capped Friday by a plea for peace from a Baghdad committee which took the reins of Iraq government upon the flight of Rashid Ali into neighboring Iran.

The British indicated that an armistice had been or would be promptly granted, even as a Palestine motorized force drove into the riot-ridden capital.

A British radio report said that the armistice became effective late Saturday afternoon and that the city of Baghdad was quiet.

Axis aid for Rashid Ali and his military cohorts had been too little and, unless the Axis can now turn the tables, too late.

The offensive with which Germany blasted Crete by air and then swamped Greek and British Imperial defenders with an unprecedented air-borne invasion virtually had sidetracked the help for which the pro-Axis Rashid Ali had appealed.

Just A Trickle

Two weeks ago the signs forecast a great German aerial incursion into Iraq, by way of neighboring French-mandated Syria. But the trickle of German warplanes and technicians remained just a trickle.

The latest report—from Cairo—was that these same warplanes were flying out of Iraq.

For the last 12 days the Germans, and more recently the Italians, have been preoccupied with the conquest of Crete. In Iraq, British troops, already there by treaty with Rashid Ali's predecessors in power, mopped up the Iraq forces.

The biggest crumb of comfort—if any—falling to the British from the battle of Crete is that the die-hard defense of that strategic Greek island, besides costing the Germans heavily in man and planes, may have saved British positions in Iraq.

That land of forbidding desert and scrub country, as rich in Biblical lore as in coveted oil, is a path to the Suez Canal.

The problem of defending it now is principally one of swift pacification of native forces and solidification of defense lines before the luftwaffe, once it has had a breathing spell, can, as the military men

U. S. Holiday Toll 279 Late Saturday

By The Associated Press

There were 186 traffic deaths, 46 drownings, 7 killed by trains and 40 by miscellaneous causes.

Study Fragments

Irish May Identify Bomber Raiders

By The Associated Press

DUBLIN — Authorities Saturday night preserved for future examination fragments of four bombs which unidentified warplanes dropped on this neutral capital early Saturday, leaving 27 persons known dead, 25 missing, and probably 200 injured.

The government declined, however, to speculate on the identity of the bombers in this third and worst attack Dublin has suffered. Unidentified planes killed three persons and injured 12 the night of January 2-3, and bombs again were dropped May 5 without causing casualties.

(Strongly suggesting the identity of the raiders, RAF headquarters at Belfast, in British-ruled Northern Ireland, announced that German planes crossed that territory during the night, but dropped no bombs.)

Bridges, Water Works Are Closely Watched Saturday

Excitement Seen In Mercedes, Aid Asked

McALLEN—An attitude of caution prevailed Saturday night in the Lower Rio Grande Valley after county, state and federal officers and special guards hired by companies operating international bridges had been warned of the possible danger of sabotage along the international boundary this weekend.

Mercedes Patrolled

A brief flurry of excitement resulted Friday night at Mercedes when county and state officers patrolled the city most of the night after receiving reports that saboteurs planned trouble in that vicinity. Hidalgo county sheriff's deputies, Texas Rangers and Texas highway patrolmen watched the city after Mercedes citizens reportedly transmitted directly to Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel some of the reports they had received. While the governor's office maintained Saturday that no such calls for assistance had been received from Mercedes, there was no denying the fact that officers moved quickly and in force Friday night to protect public utilities in the Mercedes area. At least eight state highway patrolmen in four scout cars, half a dozen deputy sheriffs and Texas Rangers participated in the patrol activity which lasted most of Friday night.

The Mercedes water district added an extra watchman at the Mercedes river pump, just west of the Rio Rico international bridge, an American customs officer remained on duty at the bridge itself throughout the night although they ordinarily leave the bridge when it closes at midnight and other officers checked the Willacy county pump east of the bridge.

Kahn Issues Warning

Anxiety for the numerous pumping plants along the Rio Grande, nearly all of which provide water for domestic as well as irrigation purposes in Valley cities, arose after the office of Assistant Customs Collector A. R. Kahn in Laredo warned Valley customs collectors of reports it had received of possible acts of sabotage directed against international bridges and pumping plants along the river. This warning was followed by announcement by Mayor

SKEETERBLITZ OPENS MONDAY

Federal Aid Is Given Cameron Unit

SAN BENITO — Mosquitoes in Cameron county are in for a wholesale depopulation Monday when a crew of 14 men armed with spray guns go into action to relievee residents of an itchy situation and in particular to control the malaria carrying insect.

Dr. Grady Deaton, head of the county health unit, under whose department the reorganized mosquito control project is directed, said Saturday that federal participation in the program officially begins Sunday.

This federal aid will add some $4,000 to the county's $5,800 budgeted for the cause and includes furnishing a truck, equipment, oil, gasoline and spray materials. The W.P.A. will also assist in the project about July 1.

Regular county crews of four men have been at work since May 15 under the direction of Jack Lewis but the control program has been seriously hampered by the heavy rains.

Beginning of this intensive control work is expected to end the touchy situation developed in the county among residents, officials and commissioners when the program was discontinued weeks ago by the county court.

Proponent of the project's reorganization was Commissioner Charles A. Morris of San Benito Commissioners are reported to be exceedingly pleased with the new program as planned by Dr. Deaton and Joe Winston, county sanitary engineer. Particularly are officials elated over the federal aid which will assist in providing one of the most efficient mosquito control units in the state.

British Raid Toll More Than Fighting

LONDON—(AP)—Nearly twice as many Britons have been killed in bombing raids as in action against the Axis, figures issued by the government indicated Saturday.

The war so far has cost Britain fewer than 5,000 military casualties a month, it was announced, and the total killed in all three fighting services during the 21 months since the conflict began was 18,627.

Nation Is 'On Alert'

Defense Factories, Waterfronts Guarded Against Threats Of Holiday Sabotage

By The Associated Press

"All quiet" was the word Saturday from defense factory and waterfront, power plant and oil field, but watchful soldiers, police and civilians continued an alert patrol against any hint of the sabotage which an undercurrent of rumor had predicted for Memorial Day.

The guards were called to duty Friday at strategic centers throughout the nation, apparently as a result of telephoned warnings from the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington. But the only reported result was the arrest of a man caught crawling through a fence at an ordnance plant in Milan, Tenn.

Military officers did not comment on the source of orders for the alert, but civilian authorities in several communities said the FBI had recommended extraordinary vigilance during the holiday week-end. Many defense factories were closed for holiday period, but the patrols were not confined to such premises.

There were guards on the international bridge at Laredo, Texas; and the Delaware River bridge at Philadelphia; visitors were barred from the Lake Washington ship canal in Seattle; naval vessels augmented the harbor patrol at New London, Conn., and armed guards watched the Huntington Beach oil fields in Southern California.

Other strategic points where vigil was maintained included:

Aircraft factories in Southern California and the New York metropolitan area, oil storage depots in Jacksonville, Fla., and Corpus Christi, Tex.; the Baldwin Locomotive Works and the navy yard in Philadelphia; the navy submarine base and the Electric Boat Company at New London, Conn.; and waterfront areas in Port Arthur, Tex.; New York, Seattle, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Miami, Fla.

MEXICO HINTS U. S. WAR AID

May Join U. S. If Time Comes

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Asked if Mexico would follow the United States into a war against the Axis powers, President Availa Camacho said Saturday night it would "take whatever measures are necessary to assure its sons a future of honor and independence."

In the most comprehensive statement he has yet made on foreign policy, the president declared in answer to the question asked by Vicente Lombardo Toledano, head of the Confederation of Latin American Workers:

"The collaboration of Mexico and the United States is not the result of a military alliance but of a regional understanding of a defense nature. Thus, if the government of the United States should declare war on any Asiatic or European power, this fact alone would not oblige Mexico to adopt, automatically, a like attitude.

"But it would be a mistake to think that in the present state of things the destiny of one of the American nations could remain iso-

JERSEY CITY FLAMES RAGE

$25,000,000 Defense Goods Threatened

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(AP)—The U. S. Coast Guard said Saturday night that at 9:20 p.m. (EST (8:20 CST) a spectacular fire in the Erie railroad yards on the Hudson River waterfront had been brought under control after sweeping through two grain elevators and causing heavy damage to a warehouse, railroad equipment and piers during its four-hour rampage.

JERSEY CITY—(AP)—A spectacular fire that sent huge clouds of smoke billowing over the New York metropolitan area raged unchecked Saturday night through the huge yards of the Erie Railroad on the Hudson river waterfront.

Flames that shot 400 feet into the sky roared through two eight-story filled grain elevators, baked the outer walls of a seven-story brick warehouse and ignited several piers and tied-up barges. The fire then swept north into the Erie ferry terminal which connects with midtown Manhattan. A moderately strong south wind shifted later and apparently limited damage to part of the wooden structure.

Warehouse Aflame

The fire next broke into the lower three stories of the seven-floor Mid-Hudson warehouse, filled with what police said were defense orders of grain, oil and rubber. A policeman said merchandise in the building was valued at $25,000,000.

At least two men were injured. Fire Captain Leo Duffy was treated for heat prostration and P. C. Hannon, president of the Carscallen and Cassidy Grain Company, received finger burns when he and Police Sgt. Mark Fallon ran into one of the grain elevators and raced to the top floor where they got company funds from a safe.

The other elevator was owned

Topic Of Lengthy FDR-Winant 'Phone Talk Not Revealed

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—President Roosevelt had a long telephone conservation Saturday with Ambassador John G. Winant, but there was no inkling of what they discussed.

The temporary White House said Winant would spend the next two days compiling a report and "checking on certain information he must obtain over here," then see Mr. Roosevelt in Washington Tuesday.

The ambassador, who returned Friday from his post in London, presumably will give the chief executive a detailed account of current conditions in Britain and the British attitude toward the war. Whether he brought with him any confidential information from the British government was not disclosed.

Model Plane Notes

By GARVER MURRAY

Well, school is out and now we can get down to some real flying again, that is if the weather gives us a break. Get those motors tuned, and be sure your batteries are new, and come on out to the airport here this afternoon around 2 o'clock, and we will see what we can do to start the season off—with a crash!

I have heard from almost all the gang up and down the line, and they are all going to be here.

Jimmy Jolly of San Benito has rebuilt his plane and reports that it sure has the old wanderlust—lost it the other day, for about six hours. Scotty Bowlin of Harlingen lost his plane last Sunday, but it turned up about a mile north of the Stuart school—some flight, for so early in the morning.

* * *

Earl Gibby writes that he might have to work but that he will notify all the gang there in Weslaco—also gave us a nice spot on the air, over KRGV—Thanks Earl. M. A. Tennison Jr. has been slightly under the weather since he broke his finger and then got it infected.

Jimmy Younkin from McAllen has been down for the last few days and has a Gull all ready to go for the rubber-powered event.

Wayne Cole missed out on the last few days of school, by getting down with a slight case of pneumonia, but since school is out, he is feeling fine. He will have his class A job ready, I hope, and should have his Baby Shark ready before long. His running mate, John Maltby, is on his way to Oklahoma and points north. (He took his plane along though.) We have a new modeler or so around Harlingen, and from the fine work they are doing on scale jobs, it won't be long before they are out there with a big contest job.

Bo Scott is even getting the bug again, and although he won't have a ship out today, he will have a new job ready before long—maybe a Buzzard? I have just about got my ships back together again, and hope to have Gene going.

* * *

I had a nice letter from our old friend Jim Thomas. He was over in Memphis at the time of writing, and said that in all his travels, since leaving here, he hadn't seen a model meet yet. He was in Fort Smith, Ark., the day after their big meet there, and just missed seeing Sadler and Thomas, the designers of the Peacemaker, and other fine flying planes. He also missed out on Tulsa, Oklahoma's, big contest by about three hundred miles, but that doesn't seem to bother him as much as not hearing anything from the gang down here. He still claims that he likes his new job, though.

Leo Savage, up Raymondville way, is getting his plane and motor ready again—I have often wondered if his cousin ever found the plane that he lost over around Lyford? We are liable to have Snow with us this afternoon. (He lives over at Santa Rosa) and he keeps his dad busy getting supplies for him. I understand he has a Comet Gull about ready to test—just needs about 60 feet of rubber.

* * *

Rather surprised the other day to receive a card from Phil Atteberry. I thought he had flown the Valley, but sure enough he is still alive and ready to get back to his Madam Butterfly—also reports that he is building a new six-foot job—you all know Phil's big jobs? He said that quite a few of his gang were still going strong, and that they were just waiting for a get-together so that they could show the rest of the gang up. Hal Tom is still building his Spook. ((No fooling that's what Phil said anyway). I guess I could write a continued story about that.

Well, you guys better come out ready to fly, because after you check-in, and your motor don't run or anything else comes up, it's just going to be too bad—no refunds! Don't be a whiner—but try to be a winner! Adios.

by the Erie. Hannon said both were almost completely destroyed He would not estimate his company's loss. The company elevator was filled with corn and other feed grains.

Trains Wet Down

Harried railroad crews hastily wet down long strings of passenger and freight cars on sidings.

Fifteen freight cars, loaded with general merchandise, including automobiles, were reported destroyed. The Erie suspended ferry service to New York at 5 p. m., soon after the fire started at the foot of Sixth street. It swept five city blocks along the waterfront to Pavonia avenue.

Firemen said they were handicapped in fighting the blaze because it was low tide, and they had to move their pumping lines further out in the river.

Police Inspector Walter Cieciuch said it was Jersey City's biggest fire since a warehouse fire in 1917.

ARMISTICE IN IRAQ SIGNED

say, stage another "vertical envelopment" or before Germany can establish a land army in Iraq.

The future of the Suez Canal lifeline link, of the Alexandria naval base, of Britain's remaining naval power in the eastern Mediterranean, may depend on how fast and how well Britain can consolidate her Iraq and adjoining middle east positions.

The Axis foothold on Crete—the Nazis have called it an unsinkable aircraft carrier—is a stern challenge to the British fleet and the whole framework of British power in the Middle East. It is two hours by air from Suez—the same for Alexandria.

Crete is a potential stepping stone to Italian North Africa, being 200 miles from Libya. If the luftwaffe can control the air Britain may be compelled to rely on submarines and planes alone to keep heavy reinforcements from Axis forces in Libya and Egypt where, on the other flank, they threaten Alexandria and Suez. Britain lost heavily in surface ships in the defense of Crete.

Within Nazi Range

All three of Britain's now pivotal Mediterranean bases, Malta, Cyprus and Alexandria, are within easy luftwaffe range. Gibraltar, itself the target of an incipient threat from Spain or Spanish Morocco, does not figure immediately in the eastern Mediterranean situation. It would figure, however, once attacked, for it guards the western entrance to that land-locked sea.

As though feeling each other out for the aerial struggle to come, large German and British formations tangled yesterday over the Eastern Mediterranean. Two Heinkels plunged into the sea in this battle and, the RAF reported, "many" others were so badly damaged they probably didn't make home base.

British observers who like to call the resistance at Crete a diversion of Germany's Drang Nach Osten (march to the east), said in summary that it permitted:

1. Liquidation of the Iraq warfare.
2. Virtual windup of the Ethiopian campaign.
3. Tightened preparations to meet the Axis threat from Egypt's western desert and Libya.
4. Rest, reorganization and re-equipment of British Imperial Forces evacuated from Greece.

Turkey, still a paper ally of the British, or French-mandated Syria, or both, seemed to be in the middle of the Axis squeeze on Suez. When Germany gets ready to move, there undoubtedly will be pressure on Syria and perhaps Turkey for land right-of-way.

Full German use of Syria as a gateway to the Middle East likely would smash completely the already strained relations between Britain and Vichy, France.

Strain Heightened

From the French side the strain was heightened by reports of three bombing attacks by the British on the Tunisian harbor of Sfax, in French North Africa. The British ostensibly were attacking Italian ships but French ships also have been hit.

France's No. 2 man, Admiral Darlan, an old seadog who will never forget the pasting the British gave the French navy last June at Oran after the French surrender, followed up these reports by calling Britain a pirate.

Vice Premier Darlan, ranging himself on the German side, asserted that "even in the improbable case of British victory" or in "a triumphant Anglo-Saxon world, France would be only a dominion of second order."

". . . I intend to act in such a way that France retakes her place as a power in Europe and the world. That means she must participate in construction of the new order."

France Near Famine

He said the British blockade was driving France to famine while the British, in "a war of piracy" had taken 143 French ships to replace her own tonnage losses. These things, Darlan laid before an assembly of editors from the occupied zone before he returned to Vichy from Paris and the latest of his collaboration visits.

The total of known dead in a raid on Dublin early Saturday reached 22, while 30 were reported missing and possibly as many as 200 more suffered injuries. Prime Minister Eamon de Valera visited the damaged zones and authorities took away bomb fragments for examination without commenting on the possible identity of the bombing planes.

The Japanese press launched a new and vigorous attack on United States foreign policy, charging that the United States was influencing the Netherlands governmnt in connection with the Netherlands East Indies trade.

There's A Bit Of Rembrandt In Us All, Says Artist Who Forced Negro To Paint

By NORMAN WALKER
AP Feature Service

BATON ROUGE, La. — A conviction that in everyone lies latent a natural artistic flair prompted an advanced art student at Louisiana State University into undertaking an experiment.

Its success has 23-year-old Howard Mitchem thinking about tossing away his own brushes and turning to teaching.

One evening the Vicksburg youth, stone deaf, by the way, tired of completing canvasses. A Negro janitor, sweeping up after an untidy sculpture class, suddenly found Mitchem offering him a scrap of canvas, some tubes of colors and a brush.

Art Begins At Home

"Here, go home and paint me a picture," Mitchem commanded, and stalked off. The Negro, Felton Coleman, brought his materials home to a puzzled wife and children. But he went to work and soon brought back a picture, his own cabin done in brilliant colors.

Ever since then Coleman has spent his evenings painting at home by the light of a kerosene lamp. Intent neighbors crowd at his elbow.

Less than a year after he began, Coleman's brightly-colored and strongly composed "Baptism" appeared by invitation at the annual exhibition of Louisiana artists at the capital.

Uses Dime Store Paints

"It's a pity the opportunities to learn are not in the reach of more of his people. They all have talent. Painting gives them a way to express themselves. And they've got a great deal to say."

Felton Coleman, Negro janitor at Louisiana State University art school, was ordered to paint by Howard Mitchem, advanced art student. Coleman did, surprisingly well.

Hugh Cluck of Laredo that he had been informed of a possible attempt to "blow up" the Laredo international bridge. At that bridge, special searchlights were set up to illuminate the bridge from end to end, extra guards were placed on the bridge to watch loiterers and to check suspicious-appearing automobiles and watchers were stationed along the banks of the river. Mexican soldiers patrolled the south side of the Rio Grande there.

Here in the Valley, special guards watched the Brownsville and Hidalgo-Reynosa international bridges, keeping all traffic moving steadily, both pedestrian and vehicular. Customs officers at both bridges kept an eye on the spans in addition to their regular duties. The Rio Rico bridge was also being watched to prevent any untoward incident.

Mexican Soldiers Watch

Mexican soldiers patrolled the south side of the river in the Matamoros area, opposite Brownsville, as in the Laredo area. No reports of similar patrols had been received from the Hidalgo bridge, and it was said reliably that no soldiers had been on duty there.

Valley Bridge Co. employes, operating the Hidalgo-Reynosa span, said the company usually kept a nightwatchman on duty when the river was up, but that there were no special guards on the bridge.

Chief Deputy Sheriff E. E. Vickers at Edinburg said he knew of no reason far particular alarm, but that the sheriff's office was "taking no chances in view of the national emergency." He said the office had discussed with water district officials "several times in the past" the vulnerability of pumping plants which provide Valley cities with water and that the office had offered its assistance in guarding the properties to any who might desire those services. He said no assistance had been asked until the Mercedes call of Friday night and that nothing developed there although the department took precautionary measures.

Several Upper Valley water districts had their watchmen and employes who live near the pumping plants on the alert for any disturbance. Few, if any, of the big plants were operating because the recent heavy rains had made irrigation unnecessary.

White House officials, declined in the absence of a legal opinion, to discuss the question of whether or not Ickes had power to enforce any recommendations he makes.

OIL LEADERS PLEDGE FULL CO-OPERATION

TULSA, Okla.— (AP) —Statements from leaders indicated Saturday night that Secretary Ickes, the new petroleum co-ordinator for national defense, would have full co-operation from the $10,000,000,000 oil industry in the effort to adjust petroleum supplies to the nation's needs.

It was generally agreed that a transportation bottleneck caused by a recent transfer of oil tankers to Britain brought about the Ickes appointment. Oil men contend that the industry can supply any conceivablea demand for its products, even in wartime.

"This is an emergency action," said Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, "and is taken with the apparent intent of insuring that no friction or lack of co-ordination will be permitted to stop the flow of this important commodity to its most needed point of consumption.

"For this emergency, co-operation would seem essential and every agency in the oil producing states and the industry will no doubt respond to this situation now confronting us. The president will find the petroleum industry ready."

Oil leaders here privately expressed disappointment but withheld formal comment pending a study of what effect the appointment will have on the operation of the industry.

WINANT MAY PROVE TO BE FDR COURIER

Secret Information May Be Mission

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Informed Washington opinion is that Ambassador John G. Winant's hurried visit to this country is not so much for the purpose of bringing information to President Roosevelt, as of carrying highly important and secret information back to London.

The timing of his visit would suggest that such was the case. It follows immediately upon Mr. Roosevelt's Tuesday night speech, an address which stated American policy toward England and the war in positive terms and spoke vigorously but mysteriously of new measures to be attempted upon the Atlantic.

At a press conference the next day, the chief executive made it more than clear that he considers his plans for assuring the safe delivery of American supplies to England a military secret of the most important character. When asked what he proposed to do, he told a reporter that that was what Adolf Hitler would most like to know.

Now, it is hardly unusual for ambassadors to act as messenger boys, particularly in times of crisis. In days such as these there naturally must be exchanges of information so confidential in nature, and so valuable to Germany, should the Nazis by any chance obtain, it that it cannot be entrusted to coded cables or diplomatic mail pouches.

Sidewalk Symphony Packs Streets

High Tone Music Comes Down To Sidewalk Level In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY— (AP) —High tone music came down to the sidewalk level Saturday night with the Oklahoma State Symphony Orchestra scheduled to perform before a first night throng clad in slacks and overalls.

When Conductor Victor Allessandro steps to the podium he will be pursued by spot and flood light, just as though he were in some big auditorium instead of in a downtown street.

In order not to scare away too many customers for the novel concert, the orchestra went rather easy on the classics and let the public pick much of its own program.

When the sidewalk symphony was announced recently, sponsors were besieged with telephoned requests for favorite numbers. The public also was invited to come dressed in ordinary clothes, slacks, overalls, or anything else handy and comfortable of a warm evening.

Mrs. Roland Wright, president of the Oklahoma State Symphony Society, said the informal appearance would afford the general public a chance to hear symphonic music without cost and without depending on the radio.

The program offered such popular numbers as Tales From the Vienna Woods, The Blue Danube, Rhapsody in Blue, Stars and Stripes Forever, and God Bless America.

The orchestra is sponsored by the Oklahoma State Symphony Society with the help of the WPA. It has been giving formal concerts in the regular symphony tradition for some time.

Texas Senate Races Reach Name-Calling

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff

Substantial evidence that the senatorial campaign was approaching the bare-knuckles stage cropped up in week-end speeches by several top-flight candidates among the field of 29 aspiring to the seat left vacant by the death of Morris Sheppard.

With four weeks remaining before the June 28 special election, there was still plenty of time for name-calling. Thusfar the campaign has jogged along on an extra-ordinarily high plane, virtually devoid of personalities.

Very few doubted that Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's intensive week of radio "pre-campaigning," prior to his first open-air rally at Waco Monday night, was in a large part responsible for these first mutterings.

Lyndon Johnson, speaking at Corsicana Friday night, referred directly to the governor.

Hints At Change

"How many of you ever heard the governor say he'd fight for Roosevelt, before he asked to go to Washington?" He said at the Navarro county rally.

"Was the Texas governor the only Democratic governor in all the United States who, not one time, but several times, refused to speak a word for 'Franklin D. Roosevelt when he was under attack last September?"

Gerald Mann drew in the governor and at least two of his opponents when he said at Greenville.

"The office of congressman is a defense post. Those congressmen who are closest to and most trusted by the President should be at his side now. . . .

"The office of governor is at this time in a large degree a defense office. A week ago last Monday night the governor publicly enumerated the many functions he has performed in aiding the national defense program."

Just "Law Office"

Then, after saying everyone who has a place important to the defense program should not leave it, he expressed the opinion the office of attorney general is not a defense office "but simply the state's law office," and added:

"I was the first candidate in this race for the United States Senate. I am the first candidate in this race tonight and I shall still be the first candidate when the votes are counted June 28."

Martin Dies told a Waco audience he was for Roosevelt's aid to Britain and defense programs, adding: "but I don't agree with him 100 per cent on everything."

"The man you elect to the Senate will go to the second highest place in the nation," he went on. "You wouldn't want a man in the Senate who would 'yes' the President all the time. . . .

Boasts Of Experience

"Many of you have sons in uniform. What would you think if the captain who led them was a man of no military experience, who depended on a hillbilly band to get his position?"

Both Mann and Johnson were guests of honor at Athens' old fiddlers' contest, but stayed away from politics in their speeches. Mann gave a detailed history of the stringed instrument that was so much in evidence at the East Texas Fiddle Festival.

Names of the 29 candidates, including two Republicans, one independent and one Communist, were certified to county clerks for printing on the official ballot. It was one of the largest fields ever to enter the lists for one job in Texas' political lists.

Oldtimer In Valley Still Clings To Bonanza Hope

MERCEDES — West Texans are widely known for their optimistic spirit but Valley people excell them in extolling the good points of this fertile section and in clinging to the eternal hope of a future bonanza, in the opinion of H. W. Austin, veteran Fort Worth attorney, Valley landowner since 1913 and a former assistant general claim agent of the Wabash Railroad, who is spending several days in the Valley looking after his property.

Austin, who pioneered Valley development during the four turbulent years from 1913 to 1917, himself has an abiding faith in the future potentialities of this young economic giant who has not as yet "become of age." It is just a matter of time until the right kind of leadership and management will be developed to put this area on the economic pedestal on which it belongs, he points out.

Leadership 'Within'

This leadership, he believes, must come from within—it must spring from the desire of Valley farmers to co-operate out of their own free will in an effective system of marketing their products. Incidentally Austin was one of the keynoters in organizing the first marketing system in the Valley; the unit marketing system which probably, only a very few of the oldest residents recall. That was before the "citrus area" when vegetables were the sole crop in this section. The unit marketing system was a Valley-wide cooperative with approximately 60 per cent of the farmers as members and with a director in every community. All sales were handled by the manager of the association to whom farmers reported whenever they had some produce for sale.

Austin recalls that this system worked successfully for several years. He has been a landowner in the Santa Maria section ever since he landed in the Valley 28 years ago after resigning his lucrative position with the Wabash Railroad. He landed at Brownsville at 10:30 p. m. on December 31, 1912 and arrived at Santa Maria the next morning in time to eat the first dinner served in the new Santa Maria hotel, erected at that time as one of the leading Valley hostelries. "Forty six passes, on which I had been traveling for many years throughout the United States, expired that morning," he recalls.

Travelled Million Miles

During his fifteen years as assistant general claim agent for the Wabash Railway he traveled approximately a million miles and worked in every state of the Union except Maine. "Of all the places in the United States, I chose the Valley as the land of greatest opportunity," he says. "I still believe I was right even if the highest bid of four dollars a ton for grapefruit, offered me on my crop this year, is not much of an inspiration to my faith," he added. He is pinning his faith to the day when the great wealth of these alluvial lowlands will be properly harnessed through an effective marketing system. "That day will come!" he firmly believes in spite of his knowledge of the high rate of abortion of the many attempts to organize effective marketing agreements in the Valley.

Austin took a prominent part in Valley affairs during the "bandit era" and possesses much valuable information of the many incidents during this turbulent epoch. He is the brother-in-law of Mrs. J. M. Reynolds of Mercedes at whose home he is visiting during his stay in the Valley.

HESS' FRIEND IS ARRESTED

Gen. Haushofer Felt Nazis In Danger

NEW YORK —(AP)— The arrest of Major-General Haushofer, the Munich professor who has been a close adviser of Adolf Hitler in the war, has been confirmed in reports reaching London, the British radio said Saturday.

In a broadcast heard here by CBS, the BBC said Haushofer's scheduled lecture May 24 at Strasbourg had been cancelled, and that in recent editions of a magazine he edited he made veiling references to the dangers which are threatening Germany in the east.

"General Haushofer," the radio said, "who was introduced to Hitler in 1922 by Rudolf Hess, has been until very recently the closest adviser of the Fuehrer in questions of geo-policy. Rudolf Hess, who is now prisoner of war in Great Britain, had shared Haushofer's fears for the future of Germany."

Dad Shoots Son

Late Dater Fails To Sneak In House

CHICAGO—(AP)—A father mistook his 19-year-old son for a prowler and seriously wounded the youth, Policeman James Aman said as he stole into his home early Saturday to avoid awakening his family.

"It's not your fault dad," Richard Aman, a Northwestern University sophomore, said as he collapsed in his father's arms, with three bullet wounds, one near the heart.

Officer Aman, a brother of the youth's father, Al Aman, said Richard had been scolded for staying out late nights and had gone to his sleeping porch by walking along a second floor ledge and removing a screen.

The father heard the noise, the officer said, and shouted a challenge toward a shadow on the porch. When there was no answer, Officer Aman said, his brother fired thrice.

Former Valley Boy Has One Of Two 'Highest Grade Records At College

McALLEN—High honors were accorded a former McAllen resident, George Taylor, who graduated last week from the Southwest Texas State Teachers College with the one of the two highest scholastic ratings ever made by students in the 37-year history of the institution.

Young Taylor, a graduate of McAllen high school in 1937 and brother of Mr. and Mrs. Lee W. Taylor, of McAllen, with whom he made his home, held an almost perfect A and A-plus record for subjects studied during his four years of college. One B grade in his sophomore year kept his scholastic record from being unbeatable.

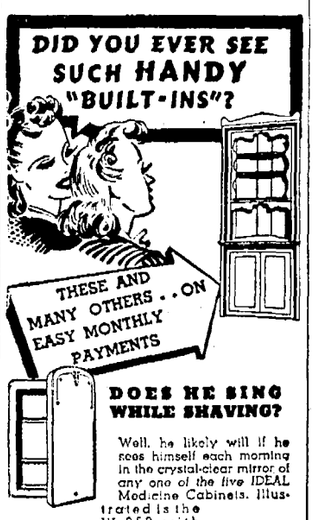

Nor did Taylor spend all his time studying to acquire the enviable record. A major in Spanish, he was editor of the Star, college paper in 1939 and 1940; sports editor for two years; president of the Press Club; president of the Pi Kappa Delta; president of the Jeffersonian Club; held membership in the Alpha Chi and Y.M.C.A.; publicity director of the Star, 1940 and 1941; listed in "Who's Who in U. S. Colleges" for 1940 and 1941; and chosen at graduation as a member of the National Scholastic Society for college students.

His college scholastic record was a follow-up from high school days when Taylor graduated with highest honors in his class.

Taylor plans to enter government service as a Spanish translator or interpreter.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Taylor, Joe Taylor and Robert Cameron, all of McAllen, went to San Marcos to attend graduation exercises.

BRITISH METE OUT CLOTHES

Wearing Apparel To Be Rationed Now

LONDON —(AP)— The Board of Trade Saturday night announced rationing of almost all clothing, starting immediately.

The plan, prepared secretly, authorizes 66 coupons yearly for everyone and, as with wartime food dispensations, no traffic in coupons will be contenanced.

The new restrictions apply to clothing, cloth, footwear and knitting wool. Hats and infant clothing are the only exceptions.

Irrespective of the price of any article specified, coupons are required for its purchase. The most expensive gown from the most exclusive west end salon or the cheapest frock from the most humble east end shop require the same number of coupons.

The same rules apply also to the clothing of men, boys and girls. There is no distinction between the duds of duke and dockworker.

SAVING BONDS HIT NEW HIGH

First Month's Sales Hit $500,000,000

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Treasury officials estimated Saturday that the first month's sales of the new defense savings bonds would exceed $500,000,000 and sent the federal debt to an all-time high of approximately $48,500,000,000.

Actual receipts from the savings campaign in the first 24 days since it began May 1 totaled $347,861,000.

Actual receipts from the savings campaign in the first 24 days since it began May 1 totaled 347,861,000, but the final week was expected to bring in the heaviest subscriptions of the month.

Officials pointed out that many managers of trust funds waited until the end of the month to buy because interest on the bonds starts on the first day of the month in which they are bought, even though the purchase is actually made on the last day of the month.

These officials said the $500,000,000 figure would be highly pleasing to them and recalled that earlier Secretary Morgenthau said $300,000,000 would be adequate for this month.

RAIDER'S END DEFEAT OMEN?

Jutland Parallel Is Seen In Bismarck

NEW YORK —(AP)— A British radio broadcast Saturday quoted A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, as saying the German World War fleet never ventured out of its harbors after the battle of Jutland 25 years ago, and that the sinking of the German battleship Bismarck Tuesday might very well be regarded as an omen of a similar course of events."

Alexander spoke in Edinburgh. He referred to the battle of Crete as a grievous test of British sea power.

"Once more," he said, "it has fallen to the lot of the Royal Navy to conduct operations under almost overwhelming attacks from the air, from which it has not flinched.

"Our losses of ships, and damage, have been grievous and severe, but in the present great Crete battle the Royal Navy would not let the army down."

As essential as good food is a first-class water supply. Here is one of the four 50-horse power electric motors serving the Camp Hulen water system.

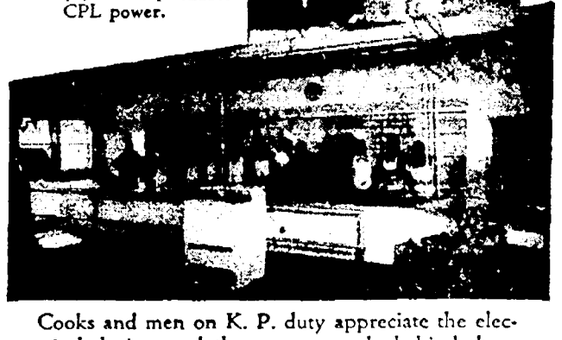

Thousands of shirts, shorts, socks and other apparel must go through the camp laundry daily. Electric machines make sanitation a much simpler task.

Washing dishes ten times cleaner and faster than could be done by hand, this electric dishwasher insures utmost cleanliness in the kitchen and dining room.

Here's one of two CPL substations enlarged at point of need to give Camp Hulen proper voltage and ample supply of dependable CPL power.

Cooks and men on K. P. duty appreciate the electrical devices and the power supply behind them which aids efficient cooking and serving of food for thousands of men.

HIDALGO WILL RENEW STUDY OF DRAINAGE

Commissioners Hear Engineer Report

EDINBURG — Hidalgo county's farm drainage problem—accentuated by the fact that hundreds of acres of land are still under water or are still affected by faulty drainage from two heavy rains in May—will move back into the limelight Tuesday when the county commissioners meet.

Having decided to send a delegation to Washington to seek a federal loan or grant to finance erection of new drainage structures, the board will hear a report from County Engineer H. P. Griffin of McAllen on recommendations for the structures and his cost estimates on them. A meeting of the commission last week asked Griffin to speed his work on the proposal, and he indicated he might have time to organize a definite report by the coming week.

County Judge J. C. Looney said Saturday that nothing toward naming the Washington delegation has been done. The subject may be taken up Tuesday.

Courthouse circles, however, mentioned the name of County Auditor B. F. McKee, who holds Hidalgo's financial reins, as a probable member of the group. Legal and engineering advisors will also probably make the trip.

The county will seek financial aid from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Public Works agency, the Work Projects administration and any other offices which indicate an interest in the county's drainage needs.

It was believed here that the U. S. Public Health service's attention had already been called to the Valley's need of relief from mosquito infestations, which followed the drainage of water into scores of low spots on farms, where the insects have hatched out by the millions. The health service and the state department of health late last week announced that they would finance mosquito control programs in both Hidalgo and Cameron counties. The work will get under way next week.

Pan American Program Of Good Will Provides At Least One Lassie From Honduras 9 Months Of School In U. S.

BROWNSVILLE—In these times of promoting better good will between the American Republics every little bit helps, and the reward of one source was revealed here when Miss Isabel Guillen, 23-year-old college student from San Pedro Sula, Honduras, paused at Brownsville airport on her way home from schooling in Alabama.

Miss Guillen applied for one of Pan American Airways System Travel Fellowships last year and was "lucky enough" to win one of them. She chose Alabama College at Montevallo, Ala., and passed through Brownsville last August on her way to a free nine-month education.

She studied hard for the nine months she was there, majoring in education and music and art. She hopes to secure a position of teaching in one of the schools in Honduras. She attended elementary schools in Honduras and graduated from the Central Institute for Women in Teguicigalpa, Honduras.

Miss Guillen thinks the American schools are great and "wish I could attend longer, but I must get a job now."

She plans to spend several days in Mexico City before continuing to Teguicigalpa on PAA's line and then on to her home. She left Brownsville at 9 a.m. Friday for Mexico. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Guillen of San Pedro Sula, Honduras, and "is plenty glad to be going back to see them after nine months."

Power Concentration Hit By OPM Man

CLEVELAND—(AP)—An educator who spent three months on OPM declared Saturday that President Roosevelt "seems unable to delegate any major responsibility for defense planning and coordination to others of proved administrative capacity, in whose political and economic views he has confidence."

This statement was made by Dr. William E. Wickenden, president of Case School of Applied Science, in a speech drafted for alumni. Simultaneously Dr. Wickenden disclosed he had resigned a month ago as chairman of the general production group of OPM's priorities division, a job to which he was called in February. He explained he took the post after agreeing with Case School trustees that he would devote only a limited amount of time to it.

NEW SOYBEAN CROPS URGED

Farmers View Results Of Experiments

EDINBURG—Efforts to introduce the soybean as a commercial and feed crop in the Rio Grande Valley will probably be made on a large scale next fall, Hidalgo County Farm Agent J. A. Oswalt said Saturday.

Oswalt reported on results of a soybean and tomato demonstration which attracted more than 100 Valley growers to the state experiment station at Weslaco Friday. W. H. Friend, superintendent of the station, was in charge of the program.

Several different varieties of tomatoes, all tested over a period of several weeks at the station, were exhibited. Complete tabulations showed their growing progress, yields and adaptability to Valley soil.

The soybean exhibit attracted most attention, said Oswalt.

A number of different types were shown, but three classes were in prominence. One of these is the commercial, or oil, variety from which soybean oil and meal for stock feed are obtained. A second class is the dual type, which is used for bean oil or for hay, also fed to stock. The third type is the kind of soybean edible among humans. The beans can be cooked or eaten dry in a number of ways.

The February soybean crop report of the experiment station was cited by Oswalt to show the value of the crop. Yields ranging from 8.7 to 13.5 bushels of dry beans per acre were obtained from the plats planted at the Weslaco station. The station used 36-inch rows, however, and Oswalt said 18-inch rows would probably double the production per acre without presenting any cultivation difficulties.

The middle of September will probably be recommended as the best time for fall soybean plantings in the Valley. On spring crops the best time is in February.

A possible market for soybeans, especially the oil type, is foreseen at cotton oil mills now operating in this section. One mill at Harlingen has already stocked a large amount of beans for next fall's plantings, Oswalt reported.

The commercial value of the type suitable for human consumption has been demonstrated, the farm agent explained, by the army's adoption of a soybean concentrate for aviators and tank drivers. The food appears to give the human body needed vitamins for heavy physical work.

Citrus Season's Rail Cars Hit 5-Year Low; Trucks Up

WESLACO—Carlot shipments of Valley citrus fruits were the lowest in five years during the season just closed but truck shipments showed a corresponding increase, it is shown in the season summary just issued by R. E. Winfrey, local representative of the Federal-State Market News Service.

There were only 8,335 carlots of grapefruit shipped by rail during the season just closed as compared to 11,205 last season, 14,636 during the 1938-39 season, 12,301 during the 1937-38 season and 13,887 during the 1936-37 season. Orange shipments by rail for corresponding seasons were 804, 873, 1,159, 834 and 1,751 cars respectively and mixed citrus 575, 902, 1,511, 1,004 and 1,849.

There were three cars of lemons shipped during the past season compared to two last season, eight cars two seasons ago, three cars three seasons ago and none four seasons ago.

Tangerines set a new record with four solid cars compared to none last season, two cars two seasons ago and one car three seasons ago.

The percentage of truck shipments was noticeably greater the first half of the current season than in past years. Through January 1, the truck movement for all types of citrus exceeded the rail and boat shipments by 870 cars, the truck figures totalling 6,288 and the rail 4,417 cars.

In 1939-40, the rail shipments to January 1 were 5,669 or 1,011 cars more than the 4,658 cars that had moved by truck to that date.

The 1940-41 truck shipments continued heavy until on February 16, the railroads serving this territory reduced their rates on Texas to most midwestern markets so that they were about equal to the prevailing truck rates to the various cities. This resulted in some proportional increases in the rail loadings but at the end of the season the truck figures were just a little more than 400 cars greater than rail shipments.

Boat shipments were light, consisting of only one forwarding from Valley ports that took out 57 cars of grapefruit and two of oranges compared to a total of 529 cars by boat in 1939-40 and 599 cars in 1938-39.

Prices received for Texas grapefruit that sold over the ten auction markets were some lower than those received in 1939-40. During the period that the auctions were reported to the Weslaco office, there were sales reported on 697,137 boxes of white fruit of various grades averaging $1.79 per box. The total number of boxes of pink fruit sold was 481,375 boxes which averaged $2.30. The 1,115,512 boxes of white and pink fruit combined averaged $1.98 per box which compared with the 1939-40 sales of 1,438,262 boxes at $2.10.

There were 100,489 boxes of oranges sold at auction at an average price of $2.12 as compared to 104,989 boxes the year before at $2.32.

UPPER VALLEY GUARDS GIVEN GOOD RATINGS

Maj. Mockbee Lauds 31st Battalion

McALLEN—The 31st battalion of the Texas Defense guard was highly commended by Major E. E. Mockbee, Brownsville, commander of the 24th battalion, who served as inspection officer at the final inspection of the Upper Valley battalion held Friday night before a crowd of 500 spectators at the high school athletic field.

Major Mockbee declared the battalion was "in excellent shape in view of the short amount of time spent on its training."

The necessity for an adequately trained force of civilians to care for possible emergencies was stressed by Major Mockbee and Lieutenant Colonel Harry Carroll of Harlingen, reviewing officer, in the brief addresses each made to the men at the close of the inspection.

Formal inspection was followed by an officers' assembly at Legion hall when Major Mockbee, Colonel Carroll and Major Lloyd Bentsen talked to the companies' officers on technical details.

Taking part in the inspection were the four companies of the 31st battalion which include: A, Mission; B, McAllen; C, Pharr; and D, Donna.

CAMPUS FLIER PLAN WORKING

7 U. S. Universities Supply Cadets

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Groups of army flying cadets have been formed quickly among students of seven universities, the war department reported Saturday, raising official hopes of obtaining thousands of additional fledgling fliers from college campuses.

At the outset of a pre-commencement campaign, units of 20 students each were formed at Stanford, University of Tennessee, Ohio State, De Pauw and De Paul Universities, Montana State and Utah State. Two groups each were organized at Tennessee and De Paul.

The special units, to be formed in cities as well as in colleges, are to be kept intact during the period of training or more than seven months.

The campus recruiting campaign, which started this week, was concentrated at the outset on institutions with more than 1,000 students. The first groups are expected to start training as pilots in a class of more than 2,000 starting July 19.

Nelson Eddy Admits He Had A Good Job, But Says It Is A Lot Of Bunk About His Shirts; Never Refuses Part

By JOHN SELBY
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK—Big, blond Nelson Eddy says that his six years of extravagant success is just the case of a young man trying to hold his job in Hollywood.

It's a good job, he admits, but he won't tell how good it is. This is because he gets too many requests for help when six-digit income figures are banded about. But it is admitted generally that Eddy makes more money than any living musician, what with films, records and concerts.

NELSON EDDY

He'll Take Any Part

Eddy has ideas about how to hold jobs.

"I've never yet refused to play a part they've asked me to play," he says in his deep, rich voice. "Even when it's not much of a part, as in 'Bittersweet,' I still take on the job. I'd rather work than not, and that's the truth.

'Heck, I can remember the kick I got when they moved me into the star's building after my first big picture, 'Naughty Marietta.'

"I can even remember how bewildered I was when they made 'Naughty Marietta.' The director said 'Go over there and do that' and I did. Then he said 'Come over here and do this' and I did. Then one day they said to go see the first version and boy, oh boy, did I get a kick? Because it made sense to me for the first time.

Unkind To His Ego

"In fact, I thought I should take myself seriously, but after a picture or so I decided that I wasn't a very important person, but my job was important."

Eddy hasn't much patience with great singers who go out to Hollywood and get their backs up because Hollywood won't make films to suit their operatic talents.

"Opera has no more place in Hollywood," says Eddy, "than films have at the Metropolitan. Some day something like opera will come out of Hollywood—but it will be something written directly for the screen.

"You put 'La Traviata' on the screen as it is now, and it would seem either foolish or naive, and be too slow in any case."

In The Winter, Concerts

Eddy likes to dress well and inconspicuously. He likes sculpture, and he sculpts. He went to Williamsburg and was delighted with the houses he saw, so he built himself one in California. When he has a free moment, he visits museums. And he still is a singer—every winter he does 30 or 40 concerts. He's just closing his tour now.

He has one all-consuming passion. It is to fight down the legend that he can't send shirts to the laundry because they are stolen; that women tear the buttons off his coat and snip at his back hair with scissors.

"So help me," he says, "it's all the bunk and I never lost a shirt or a button in my life."

Few Lease-Lend Supplies Yet Shipped To British

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va) asserted Saturday that practically no lease-lend equipment had been shipped to Great Britain in the two months since Congress approved the $7,000,000,000 appropriation implementing the British aid bill.

Contending that production of the most essential war equipment was bogged down, the Virginia senator said in an interview that if the British were to get the weapons they need speedily "something ought to be done toward putting one man at the head of this program and eliminating the strikes that are hamstringing it."

Byrd showed reporters a letter from Maj. Gen. J. H. Burns, assistant to Harry Hopkins, the lease-lend administrator, on which he based his conclusion that only an "infinitesimal" amount of supplies had gone abroad.

Burns' letter was in response to a request from Byrd for a report on actual dollar losses of lease-lend equipment due to sinking of vessels on the high seas. Burns said:

"Because of the status of our stocks and current production, together with the needs of our own forces, the foreign aid programs depend in most part upon procurement under the $7,000,000,000 appropriation.

"This in turn requires the establishment, in cooperation with the country to be aided, of the detailed programs, the negotiation of contracts or agreements therefor by the appropriate agency of the government, in most instances the production of the material, the transfer to ports and finally the overseas shipments.

"It is obvious that in the approximately seven weeks during which procurement funds have been available no appreciable flow of materials could have reached the ports, much less the danger zones in the combat areas. . . ."

Elaborating on his contention that production of essential weapons was lagging, Byrd said, "I understand that the British need for heavy tanks is acute and we are not producing any heavy tanks. In fact our production of medium tanks is just starting.

"My information is that we are turning out from 500 to 600 combat planes a month, but we are just getting started on the production of 90 mm. anti-aircraft guns which the British forces need badly."

Hot Water Ahead

Capital Dispute On FD Powers Seen

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A double-headed dispute involving millions of dollars for farmers, the public, and the government, gathered momentum Saturday on the Senate side of the capitol.

One clash involved the administration's powers to fix "price ceilings" on farm products, metals, or anything else involved in the huge national defense drive. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) contended that President Roosevelt had absolutely no authority to do this.

"If the president can fix prices, he can fix wages and salaries and do anything else he wants to," Senator Taft said.

Holdover directors in the association are Ray G. Shelley, Bert Schroeder and C. K. Anderson.

Checks were distributed to members for fresh fruit returns received during the year. Average prices per ton on the tree on fresh fruit shipments through the association were as follows:

Marsh Seedless, $9.89; Marsh Pink, 23.36; Red Blush, $45.92; Foster Pinks, $15.79; Valencias, $32.81; Tangerines, $29.02; Hamlins, $20.43; Pineapples, $19.25.

Checks were also distributed to members who were in the association during the 1933-34 season, covering the return to them of reserve funds invested in the facilities of the plant during that season.

About 75 growers attended the meeting, and short talks were made by Bell and Shelley, president and secretary of the association respectively, C. T. Peters, plant manager, and R. B. McLeaish, general manager of the Rio Grande Valley Citrus Exchange. B. S. Mothershead made an auditor's report covering the operations of the plant during the past season.

The Donna association has made considerable progress during the past year in the way of increased membership and tonnage, it was reported. The directors and the management have, during this past season, worked out methods of performing additional services for their members in the way of financial assistance and cultural services.

Packing house costs were held at approximately the same figure as they were last season, notwithstanding increases in the cost of materials and labor due to current federal legislation.

NAZI ADMIRAL SAID SUICIDE

Gestapo Pays Visit To Hess' Friend

LONDON — (AP) — Norwegian sources in London said Saturday a German, Admiral Bohn, described as Nazi naval commander-in-chief in Norway and a friend of Rudolph Hess, recently committed suicide in Oslo after a visit from Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler.

These circles said reliable information from Norway was to the effect that Bohn's friendship with Adolf Hitler's deputy fuehrer, who flew to Scotland May 10, figured in the admiral's talks with Himmler.

The suicide was said to have occurred in the Grand Hotel in Oslo, capital of German-occupied Norway.

BOARD CALLS STRIKE TALK

Mediation Unit Will Not Compromise

By The Associated Press

The Defense Mediation Board adopted a "no compromise" stand Saturday in a fight to obtain acceptance of its recommendations by invoking President Roosevelt's proclamation of an unlimited national emergency.

A terse telegram signed by Philip Murray, president of the CIO and a board member, and by C. A. Dykstra, board chairman, summoned leaders of a strike in the Puget Sound area lumbering industry to a conference at Washington on Tuesday.

Board members declined to disclose what action would be taken, but Ralph T. Seward, executive secretary, asserted:

"There is no chance in the world that the board will back down. It is standing on its telegram of May 28. There will be no compromise."

The message to which Seward referred cited Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation, asked that the International Woodworkers of America (CIO) accept board recommendations and return to work, and requested that the message be brought to the attention of every one who had power to vote on the recommendations.

O. M. Orton, president of the union, responded by asserting that the recommendations had been rejected. Dykstra thereupon asked him again to bring the appeal to the attention of his membership.

To the second message, Orton replied:

"Recommendations of the National Defense Mediation Board as agreed in Washington by our committee have been submitted to a delegated conference of all local unions and from there submitted to the entire membership of locals with the right to vote and has been overwhelmingly rejected."

The point at issue, Seward contended, was whether the appeal had been brought to the attention of the union. It was apparently impossible to clear up the matter by telegram, he added, and for that reason Orton and his associates were called to the capital conference.

Asked the reason for Murray's signing the message, Seward said, "Mr. Murray signed in his capacity as president of the CIO as well as a member of the board."

The previous communications had been signed by Dykstra alone.

The strike started May 9 and the board said that it "constitutes a serious threat to the nation's preparations for defense."

Negotiations for a new contract between the Reynolds Metal Company, with plants in four cities, and 12,000 employes were suspended, but the federal labor conciliation service said that no deadlock had occurred and that the talks would be resumed in Washington on Thursday.

Boom Over Britain

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

The June new moon is already showing over England o'nights to stir grim forebodings of a new rain of terror from the skies.

The last fury of sustained Nazi night bombing came in the cycle of the May moon. After it waned in mid-May, there was a definite lull in German air attack.

The new moon, now in its first quarter, will be full over England about June 9. Given clear skies, England will be bathed in moonglow that night from dark to daylight. There will be many hours which might see a renewal of the furious night battling in the skies to test afresh British night-fighter skill and the courage and dogged will to carry on of the masses in England.

For a week or more on either side of the full moon, nowhere about English ports or industrial centers can there be certainty of even the little protection darkness affords from air bombing. June weather in England means usually clear skies. That reduces the degree of satisfaction with which its bomb-besieged people look to still lengthening days and shortening nights down to the summer solstice. They cannot yet have forgotten what the May moon period and clear skies meant for them.

To offset their dread of the June moon, however, they can hark back to the fact that the May moon which lighted a sustained and furious luftwaffe port-by-port attack on England also illuminated the fiercest and largest scale British counter-bombing operations over Germany. That heralded a definite step forward in British efforts.

Nazi Dread It, Too

There must be as much dread of the June moon cycle in such bomb-blasted German cities as Hamburg, Bremen and even Berlin as there is in London, The Midlands and in English west coast ports. Even heavier British counter blows are to be expected in June than were given in May.

Slowly but surely the gap in air power between England and her Nazi foes is closing. President Roosevelt's solemnly reiterated pledges that American aid for Britain could and would be forthcoming increasingly and at any cost warrants freer use of British reserve planes to meet or counter German attacks.

CHURCH BACKS 'JUST PEACE'

Methodists Set Up Policy Of Unity

CHICAGO — (AP) — A Methodist peace conference Saturday set forth a policy for "a just and enduring peace" which demanded that "a co-operative plan must be worked out whereby the world's resources may be developed for the good of all."

Great limitation of the economic and political sovereignty of each nation was recommended as another cornerstone in the economic foundations of peace.

Statements on various aspects of peace were adopted in a four-day exploratory study conference under the auspices of the Methodist World Peace Commission. The national conference was the first of a series of denominational inquiries, the conferees said, "to create a demand for a peace that will be more than a truce."

Average Allowable For Wells Is Hiked

AUSTIN—(AP)—Average net daily allowable production of Texas oil wells for the week ended Saturday was 1,431,692 barrels, an increase of 4,058 barrels over last week, the railroad commission reported.

The permissable flow was 48,492 barrels in excess of the bureau of mines recommendation of 1,?82,200 barrels daily in May but application of a normal 3.5 per cent under production reduced actual flow 617 barrels below the bureau's standard, engineers said.

State Liquor Taxes Jumped During May

May Above Normal For Valley

BROWNSVILLE — Drenching rains recently ran the total rainfall for May up to 1.70 inches above normal here for the month and boosted the total since January 1 to almost four inches above normal, according to the local U. S. weather bureau office.

A total of 3.97 inches of rain fell here from May 1 up until May 31, weather observers said. Normal for the month of May is 2.27 inches.

The total this year has been 11.51 inches, or 3.84 inches above the normal of 7.67 inches.

This is almost half of the yearly normal, and the rainiest months, September and October, are still ahead, observers stated.

Rainfall here in 1940 totaled 26.81 inches, slightly below the yearly normal of 27.40 inches. A total of only 2.40 inches fell during May of 1940.

Another unusual feature of the weather recently has been the uniformity of temperatures, the weather bureau said. There have been no unusual high nor low temperatures, and unless May 31 temperatures exceed the mark, Brownsville will have a "May without a 90," officials announced.

Highest temperature for May up until Saturday was 89 degrees, recorded on May 30, May 6 and May 7.

And the highest temperature for this year here is only 91 degrees, recorded on April 19, the only reading of 90 or above since Jan. 1.

This is unusual in that temperature exceeds 90 degrees sometimes in March here, the bureau pointed out. Record temperature for the month of March in Brownsville is 102 degrees.

VICE CONSUL BEGINS WORK

Office At Reynosa To Be Opened Monday

McALLEN—Vice Consul Henry T. Smith of the U. S. Department of State will open a temporary office at Reynosa Monday, according to information received here from Herndon W. Goforth, American consul at Matamoros.

Paul T. Vickers, McAllen chamber of commerce manager, and other chamber officials have made constant efforts during the last two years to have a consul permanently stationed at Reynosa. This action of placing Smith at Reynosa is the result of their work.

Goforth did not announce how long Smith would keep the Reynosa office open. It was expected that it would remain open for business for more than a month to take care of the visaing.

Chamber Committees For US Air Base At Harlingen Set

HARLINGEN—Chamber of Commerce President L. R. Baker announced the appointment of six Harlingen business men Saturday to head committees that will be set up to handle matters pertaining to the Army air base.

Six committees will be formed by the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of working out certain anticipated problems in connection with the base. Appointments made by the board of directors include a chairman of the housing committee who has not been named; Earl M. Davis, chairman of the traffic committee; R. C. Pryor, chairman of recreation for enlisted men; Dan Murphy, chairman of recreation for cadets; L. R. Baker, chairman of entertainment for officers; Joe Penry, miscellaneous matters; Arthur Dabney, public works.

The plan of the Chamber of Commerce is to set up a housing department to assist in providing satisfactory living quarters for workmen and army men. This committee will work with the real estate board and attempt to formulate a plan to keep all available rental properties listed for those desiring houses.

Recreation Factor

The recreational committees will have charge of all entertainment for the three classes of personnel. An inspection of other army camps and air bases, shows that recreation is an important factor in their operations.

The miscellaneous committee will have charge of all matters not included in other committees, it being the opinion of the chamber that many other matters will be brought to its attention.

A bill is now pending in the U. S. Senate authorizing an appropriation of several millions of dollars for the purpose of aiding cities located in defense areas in their public works problems. The public works committee will make a thorough investigation as to the most needed projects of the city, before any requests are made for federal aid.

Traffic problems arising on city streets and highways, will be handled by the traffic committee. A study is now being made of the possible hazards that will likely occur during the construction of the base.

To Perfect Setup

These chairmen will appoint five men each to complete their committees within the coming week, and will perfect their organizations soon.

The Chamber of Commerce has spent considerable time investigating problems that have arisen in other communities where army camps have been established, and Manager Ratliff recently visited a number of these cities for the purpose of securing information valuable to Harlingen when the air base is started. The officials of the chamber felt that Harlingen could profit by the experience of other cities, and have used every effort to assimilate all useful data pertaining to camp centers.

Naval Fight Seen In New Perspective

By The Associated Press

AN ENGLISH PORT—Statements that the German Bismarck was a 50,000-ton super-dreadnaught—largest fighting ship in the world—with 2,400 officers and men threw into new perspective Saturday last week's mighty naval duel in which she destroyed the battle cruiser Hood and then was sunk in vengeance.

A British naval officer who participated in the seafight which cut short the Bismarck's fierce challenge to British naval supremacy gave the first indication the Nazi capital ship was bigger than the 35,000-ton rating generally accorded her.

She was a 50,000-ton battleship, the officer declared—"undoubtedly far above anything we had thought of."

That statement shed new light on an assertion by a survivor of the Bismarck that she was crowded with 2,400 officers and men, 400 of them naval cadets. Approximately 100 were reported rescued.

(Previously, supposing the Bismarck a 35,000-ton ship, it had been estimated she carried no more than 1,500 officers and men.

First Naval Action

(The big ship's first fight with the Hood and Britain's new 35,000-ton Prince of Wales last Saturday was the Bismarck's first reported naval action since her completion during the war.)

WASHINGTON — (AP) — British suspicions that the second German battleship Bismarck was substantially larger than 35,000 tons are shared by American naval men. They are inclined to doubt, however, that the ship displaced as much as 50,000 tons.

Laid down in 1936, the Bismarck was completed long after the war suspended treaties which might have limited her size. Side armor was reported to have been put in place only last year, and it was considered possible that the thickness of this protection against shells and torpedoes might have been increased beyond original plans.

Exceed Standards

Fully loaded with fuel and all supplies, warships generally exceed the standard displacement tonnage as defined in international treaties. The weight of the water displaced by the new United States battleships North Carolina and Washington, when fully loaded, is estimated at about 41,000 tons, whereas their standard displacement tonnage is 35,000.

The Hood, British battle cruiser which fell victim to the Bismarck, had a rated standard displacement tonnage of 42,100 but her weight when fully loaded was put at 46,300.

The Bismarck, 118 feet wide, possessed the widest beam of any warship yet completed and her design thus lent itself to additions of armor and other weight not figuring in original calculations.

Concurrently the inspection of blooms in the area bordering the Rio Grande on the Mexican side is under way. No positive results have been found in the inspection of 50 acres in the Reynosa area and of a comparable acreage in the Matamoros section.

NEW LIBRARY HEADS CHOSEN

Progress Of McAllen Institution Shown

McALLEN—Continued growth of the McAllen Public Library during the past year was traced in the annual reports of the organization, featuring the annual meeting Friday afternoon when election of officers was held.

Mrs. T. J. Childlow was re-elected president of the council, entering the second year of its management of the library, Mrs. W. H. Moon, vice president; F. O. Swan, secretary; and Eleanor Hambrick, treasurer.

City Commissioner Fidencio Guerra was named by Mayor Horace Etchison to represent the city on the executive board. He with the officers and Mrs. Si Casady, head of the book committee, complete the board personnel.

Because the annual expansion of the library is consistently a major factor in the yearly report, this year the executive board voted to take steps toward acquisition in the future of a library building to replace the ground floor of the Archer park bandstand which now serves as the public library.

Receipts reported this year almost doubled those for 1939 with $850 listed. Of this amount $712.50 was listed as the return from the annual budget drive and about $140 received from fines and rentals at the library. The 1939 receipts were $450.

Inclusion of 1,100 additional books on the shelves was also reported. The total included 500 books from the state library, a quantity recorded as gifts from library patrons and scores of new books the council purchased.

In an effort to provide accommodations for all desiring to use the building, the library will remain open daily from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

Much discussion was held at the annual session on opportunities to secure larger accommodations for the public library building. The council voted to investigate methods of financing construction.

BRITISH LOSE 100,000 MEN

War Casualties For 21 Months Told

LONDON —(AP)— British war casualties have reached the 100,000-mark for all three fighting services in 21 months of war, it was disclosed Saturday.

Almost half the total were said to be prisoners of war in Germany.

The figures, computed from official casualty lists, show that the war so far has cost only a fraction of the 3,190,235 British men killed, wounded, missing or taken prisoner in the World War.

The Germans were reported to have taken 2,000,000 Frenchmen and 40,000 British prisoners in France and the Low Countries while the British have taken 200,000 Italian prisoners in Africa.

Should the British again use as they did in the last war, it huge armies against the Germans should be unlikely that there would be masses of men killed on either side because of mechanized combat, the British said.

British military and naval casualties so far numbered 101,056, of which 74,164 were from the army, 15,896 from the navy and 10,996 from the air force.

Tough On Minors

When the selective service act went into effect, baseball fans did considerable worrying about how it would affect baseball. Many were of the opinion the minor leagues would be hit pretty hard.

Now it develops that military service losses amount to practically nothing.

But the small leagues are being hit hard by the big-pay jobs that have opened up in the defense program. Many players who were exempt from service for various reasons are quitting baseball to take jobs that pay many times what the small minor league clubs can hand out.

And it would not be a bit surprising to hear many moans from football coaches this fall, both college and pro. A football career is okeh but a nice fat paycheck each week is a pretty sight. We have a hunch young fellows will pass up the bumps of the gridiron come the football season.

Comes Through

At the present writing, Roy Cullenbine is right up at the top of list of American League hitters.

We are reminded that several years ago Fred Haney, manager of the St. Louis Browns, told us that in his opinion Roy would some day be one of the games finest hitting outfielders. He played for Fred when the little fellow was manager of the Toledo Mud Hens.

When Cullenbine was turned loose by Judge Landis, he picked up a nice wad of dough for signing with Brooklyn. He failed to stick and finally landed with Haney and the Browns. The rest of the story is told on the daily sports pages.

Just a case of a manager having faith in a certain ball player and then getting the satisfaction of seeing him come through.

Cardinal Booster

At the start of the 1941 major league races, we picked the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees to finish on top of their respective circuits.

While the Cardinals are on top, we might as well do a bit of crowing while we can.

At that, the Red Birds look like the team to beat in the senior loop. They have the hitting power and the pitching and that combination should produce results.

So far we haven't been able to do much bragging about the Yankees. They lack sometning. We would not feel badly to see them out of first place when the season ends for they have reaped just about all the honors one club should.

Right now, the Chicago White Sox are setting a hot pace. Whether they can stand up through the long grind is a question but they have shown no signs of weakening. And the Cleveland Indians are having trouble winning except when Bob Feller is on the mound. The Tribe is leading the pack but the Pale Hose are right behind and the Yanks are not far back.

It might be a race worth watching in the American League and the National loop always comes up with a thriller.

Runyan Moves Up

Paul Runyan, the little veteran from Arkansas, has moved into the front rank of the favorites for the National Open golf tournament to be played over Colonial Club at Fort Worth June 5-6-7.

By scoring a smashing triumph in the Goodall Round Robin in New York last week-end, "Little Poison" caused a notable shifting of the odds in local circles. Rated an "outsider" after three years of only fair success, Runyan has now been moved up even with Lawson Little and Byron Nelson on the dope sheets.

Runyan was born in 1908 at Hot Springs, Ark. Like so many other stars, he became interested in golf as a caddy. Since he broke into the big time in 1930, he's played in scores of big tournaments. He won the National P. G. A. in 1934 and 1938 and the Argentina Open in 1938. Since then, however, his major victories have been few and far between.

About the size of Ben Hogan, Runyan isn't a long hitter but he is very accurate. That type of game will go well at Colonial, which is strictly a "tee shot" course.

Moved up with Runyan by the wiseacres has been Vic Ghezzi, the tall, handsome ace who also did well in the Goodall. Texas still is strong for Hogan, Nelson, Ralph Guldahl and Jimmy Demaret. Other observers still like Gene Sarazen, Craig Wood and Sammy Snead. Snead and Wood were unable to play at New York because of injury and illness, but both hope to play in the Open.

Stewart To Finals

EL PASO, Tex. —(AP)—Two links veterans, Spec Stewart of Roswell, N. M., and Blaine McNutt of El Paso, meet Sunday in the final round of the Southwestern golf championships.

Stewart, defending champion who is gunning for his sixth Youth-Western crown, was carried to the 35th green in Saturday's semi-final play by scrappy, 19-year-old Bud Hale of El Paso.

McNutt, El Paso city champion, fired blistering sub-par golf during the morning 18 and coasted to a comfortable 8 and 7 winner over Ralph Petty, former titlist and sharp-shooting Carrizozo, N. M., grocer.

Ticket Sale Exceeds Any Other Open

Little And Runyan Made Favorites

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex. —(AP)—Golfdom's greatest show, the 45th Open championship, heads into Texas Sunday.

Staged in the Southwest for the first time, the Colonial Club will welcome the nation's best, a field of 172 qualifiers, to its green and lovely tree-studded, 7035-yard, par 70 layout stretching along the arms and lagoons of the forked Trinity river.

Title rounds start Thursday, but so great is golfing interest here that the gate charge goes up Sunday, and a 50,000 gallery figure is expected for the week.

A record has been set with more season tickets sold than for any other Open. Four thousand went out, beating the Cleveland 1940 record by a thousand.

Nearly 10,000 will pay to watch four days of practice shooting, according to Marvin Leonard, the Texan who created the Colonial links and backed a three-year drive to capture the National Open.

"Texas probably is more golf-minded now than any other state," said Leonard. "We play the year around and Texas has produced the cream of the present crop. We have the players and the courses.

"Colonial is in good shape for play. Rain this week has been welcome but Sunday we'd like sunshine and gentle breezes."

Leonard figures a gallery of 8,000 for the opening 18 holes of play on Thursday, 10,000 for the second round Friday, and perhaps 25,000 Saturday when the field is cut to 60 for the final 36 holes.

Lawson Little, defending champion; Ben Hogan, mighty mite with the perpetually blistered thumb from too much practice; Wilford Wehrle, amateur top-notcher, and others are already testing the course. Each hour adds more to the list.

Along betting row here they established Little and Paul Runyan, winner of the Goodall Round Robin, as the men to beat.

Little and Runyan were quoted as six to one with Hogan and Byron Nelson, the mighty men from Texas, ranking as eight to one. The remainder of the field was offered at fifteen to one.

Club professional Bob Byrnes agrees with most of the entrants who have played the course that it is doubtful if 280—even par — will be broken for the 72 holes.

When the left hip fails to turn aside out of the path of the downstroke, the progress of the left arm is impeded, causing a collapse of this member and a hook to the ball. Quite often the player himself cannot immediately locate the cause of the trouble and attempts to steer the ball. This remedy does not straighten the ball's flight for the very simple reason that the let-up in swinging effort is not enough to force the left hip ot turn aside. What is required is a strenuous swinging effort, which will make the left side turn to the left and return the left heel to the ground. It is well for the player to keep continually conscious of the fact that the left hip turning movement is one of the first downswing motions, moving slightly forward and around as the downstroke gets underway.

During the national Amateur tournament of 1934, Lawson Little was having a great deal of this identical trouble with his drives. Easing up did not help matters at all and in desperation he tried hitting the ball hard to rid his game of the hook. This effort made the hip turn mandatory and forced the left heel down. Thereafter Little went on to win the title but it was only after the cure was effected that he realized just where the trouble lay.

Picard In Form

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)—Henry Picard, host pro at the Twin Hill Golf Club two-day match-medal 36-hole invitational tournament, was the best player around the first 18 holes Saturday, scoring a two-below-par 70.

Little Ben Hogan came through whenever Picard was out of a hole and they teamed up expertly for a lowball of 67.

That gave them a lead of 3 up on Byron Nelson and Sammy Snead at the halfway point. Hogan's score was 74, Snead's 76, Nelson's 76. The Nelson-Snead team had a lowball of 70.

Dr. Phil Bleakney Wins Leg On Roloff Trophy

DR. BLEAKNEY AND HIS TROPHY

PORT ISABEL—Dr. Phil Bleakney, sailing his new Sea Gull one design sloop, won the R. W. Roloff Memorial Day Trophy at Laguna Vista Friday.

The trophy was won by Dr. Bleakney of the Port Isabel Yacht Club on the boat making the best corrected time based on handicap allowance. Eddie Valent of Brownsville, sailing his fast sloop Bandolero, led the entire fleet of 15 yachts around the six mile course, to finish first on elapsed time of 1 hour, 9 minutes, 7 seconds, about 6 minutes ahead of the second boat across the finish line.

Johnny Shaffer of San Antonio, sailing his racing Snipe Petrol III, finished second on elapsed time of 1:14:45. Third boat to cross the line was the Zipperina of Brownsville, sailed by Phil Amsler, time 1:15:45; fourth, the Alibi of Port Isabel, Ed Hinkly, time 1:16:14; fifth, Sea Gull, Harlingen, Dr. Bleakney, time 1:20:46; sixth, the Betty Jean, Brownsville, time 1:22:01; seventh, Sedalia, Brownsville, time 1:22:52; eighth, Southerly, Donna, Fred Petch, time 1:25:06; ninth, Gypsy, Harlingen, G. E. Osborne, time 1:28:15; tenth, Margo, Harlingen, Grant Petch, 1:35:46; eleventh, Skipjack, Laguna Vista, Leo Baumfelder, 1:46:17; twelfth, Lark, Harlingen, Ewing Clark, 1:50:11; thirteenth, Helen, Brownsville, Bob Renfro, 1:54:44.

The 3 Star Hennessy of Corpus Christi, owned by Tom Nichols of the U. S. Naval Air Station, and sailed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grobokski of Corpus Christi, broke the mast on the Meteor class boat, just at the start of the race, and had to withdraw. The Salty of Brownsville, skipper T. J. Majors, started in the race but did not finish.

On corrected time, based on handicap allowance, the Petrol of San Antonio placed second, the Alibi third, Bandolero fourth, Southerly fifth, Betty Jean sixth, Zipperina seventh, Gypsy eighth, Sedalia ninth, Helen tenth, Margo eleventh, Skipjack twelfth, Lark thirteenth.

At a meeting of the race committee following the race, the Petrol III of San Antonio was ruled out of the race, because her skipper, J. Shaffer, crossed the finish line in the wrong direction and on the opposite side of the mark. In a collision at the start of the race between the Alibi and the Bandolero, the committee gave the decision on the protest to the Alibi who had the star board tack and therefore had the right-of-way over the Bandolero who was on the port tack.

A large crowd of Valley spectators witnessed the regatta, one of the most successful events held by the club. Refreshments were served to the skippers and crews on the end of the pier at Laguna Vista by Mr. Roloff. A dance was held at the clubhouse at Port Isabel Saturday night at 8 p. m. and a race will be held on the bay on the regular six mile course at 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon.

Defense Industries Hit Minor Loop Clubs Hard

By ROMNEY WHEELER

DURHAM, N. C. —(AP)— Big pay in defense industries, not the army draft, is causing minor league baseball its number-one headache, says President William G. Bramham of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Right up the line, from Class-D stragglers to the big boys of the Southern Association, and Texas League, the defense magnet is pulling men from the lineups. The ratio varies inversely with the league salary limits—$1,200 per-month-per club in Class-D, $5,200 in Class A-1.

"Industrial employment is taking far more men than the draft," says the minor league boss, "as is reflected by voluntary retirement of players who have entered the branches of industry engaged in war activities."

And, he adds, this is just about as it was in the first World War. Most clubs, particularly those in the Class-D and Class-C divisions, are finding able players scarce. But no professional club has gone under, although several semi-pro organizations have done so.

"Attendance so far this year has been better than last year due to better weather," says Bramham, balancing up the ledger. "Last year we had a great deal of rain throughout the country, which has been absent this year, but we have had some cool weather. This is true every year, and when the season winds up we find a general average has been maintained. This year the rain has been in that section of the country which claims it never rains —the Pacific Coast, Arizona and Texas.

"I admit a total lack of any ability to forecast the future, and in doing so I think I am just about as smart as anyone else in that respect. It is always customary to predict good things and then howl if they do not come. All I know is that baseball will thrive as other activities thrive, and it will suffer in depression times just as other industries will."

Trainer Says Fighters Perk Up On Between-Rounds Oxygen Sniff

AP Feature Service

SEATTLE—What vitamin B-1 pills are to the St. Louis Cardinals, Joe Herman hopes his portable oxygen tank will be to his fighters.

Herman, from Oakland, Calif., created quite a furore in the Pacific Northwest recently with the mask and tank.

He claims a fighter between rounds can take a few sniffs through the mask and have normal breathing restored through the pumping of valuable oxygen through the lungs into the blood stream.

Herman took bantamweight Tony Olivera to Vancouver, B.C., for a fight with Vancouver's Kenny Lindsay. The Canadians kicked up a terrific fuss over Herman's intention to use the oxygen apparatus.

Despite a warning not to use the tank in the ring, Herman brought it along "just in case Lindsay's managers said 'okay'."

"The boxing commission ordered it out, so I hauled it out again.

"So imagine my chagrin after the fight was over (Olivera lost) and I started to let Olivera and Lindsay share a whiff of its magic elixir?

It Takes Consistent Golf To Win An Open But Champs Recall A Tide-Turning Shot

By DILLON GRAHAM
Sports Editor, AP Feature Service

THE heaviest firing in Texas since the early two-gun days on the Panhandle begins next Thursday in Fort Worth.

The modern shooting-irons, though, will be steel-shafted golf clubs, not six-shooters, as the state whose sons have won three of the last four titles stages its first U. S. Open golf championship.

Unless someone goes hog wild, the winner at the Colonial Club will use up about 285 strokes. In the final score one of these strokes will count just as much as another. But, chances are, the victor will be able afterwards to single out one particular shot and say that won him the crown.

LAWSON LITTLE

Let's look back over the last 10 Open championships and spot these shots that won:

Little's Great Putt

A putt did it last year. On the 14th playoff hole Lawson Little held a two-stroke lead over Gene Sarazen. Little lay three, facing an 8-foot sloping, downhill putt. Gene was two off the green—but holed out on his third. A missed putt would have meant a 5 at best for Lawson—and that would have put the match all even and given Sarazen an upsurging psychological edge. But Lawson drilled it in, broke Sarazen's heart and went on to victory.

A 200-yard clothes-line 1-iron shot was the clincher for Byron Nelson two years ago in his second playoff with Craig Wood. It came on the 4th hole and it bent Wood's back. Nelson slapped this iron shot straight for the pin and it rolled in for an eagle deuce and a Nelson advantage that Wood couldn't overcome.

A sand wedge shot enabled Ralph Guldahl to win the 1937 crown with an all-time low of 281. Sam Snead had finished with 283 and Ralph was roaring down the home stretch to outscore him. His approach to the 15th hole struck a spectator and bounced into a trap. Guldahl quieted his temper, performed a perfect blast and the ball sat down three feet from the hole. He canned his putt for a par and rushed on to win.

Niblick In '38

Guldahl thinks a niblick won for him the following year. It came on the 18th hole of his third round at Cherry Hills, Denver. His ball landed in a hollow just off the green. It seemed he'd lose a shot or two to par. "I took my niblick and chopped true to the cup for a par 4," he recalls. On the final round he fired a 69 that boosted him past all his foes.

GENE SARAZEN

Tony Manero figures a bold shot he played on the 16th hole of the last round won him the 1936 tournament. For his approach to this green, Manero had the choice of playing safe for a par through a wide entrance to the green or of banging away for the pin, stuck near a trap guarding the green. He dared, and hit a 5-iron for the flag. It stopped a few feet away and he holed it for a birdie. That, with pars on the closing holes, permitted him to whip Harry Cooper.

Parks Recalls 30-Footer

You'll recall how the professionals yipped and yelped about the rolling, close-cropped slick greens at Oakmont in 1935. That was the year Sam Parks, the home town boys, won. And because he knew those greens. But despite his familiarity, they gave him the jitters, too. Sammy says the 30-foot chip he sank with a 5-iron to give him an eagle-3 on the par 5 ninth hole during the third round was the one that gave him the confidence to putt boldly and win. And it also gave him the two-stroke margin by which he beat Jimmy Thomson.

BYRON NELSON

Olin Dutra credits a tricky putt with bringing him the 1934 crown at Philadelphia's Merion Cricket club. It was at the 15th hole of the last round. He needed to sink a 30-footer for a par to hold a stroke margin over Gene Sarazen. "It was a left-to-right putt with a five or six-foot break," Dutra remembers. "Two-thirds of the distance was uphill. The last third was down and to the left. I had to carry the incline and I wanted the ball to die about five feet from the hole. It did. It trickled on down and into the cup."

An impossible trap shot that came off won the 1933 Open for amateur Johnny Goodman. It was on the 16th hole of the last round. Goodman pulled his iron to the short hole into the sand. The lie was difficult and Goodman doubted he would be able even to reach the green. But he did and sank a five-footer for his par.

Downhill To Win

Getting down a tricky 6-foot downhill putt on the ninth hole of the third round of the 1932 championship at Fresh Meadow set fire to Sarazen's game. That putt rolled in for a deuce and touched off one of the hottest stretches in Open history. Gene played the next 27 holes in just 98 strokes, with a closing 66 that won the crown.

RALPH GULDAHL

A sand wedge shot from the rough won golf's most famous marathon —the 72 extra hole playoff for the 1931 championship — for Billy Burke. It was on the 12th hole of the final playoff round. George Vo. Elm was on the 520-yard par 5 hole in two. Burke's second was off the fairway and his third was over the green in the rough. It seemed that Burke must lose two or three shots to Von Elm. But Billy holed out his sand wedge shot for a birdie-4 to tie Von Elm. "I felt then that I couldn't lose," Billy says. He finally beat Von Elm by a single stroke.

They were great shots, all of them, winning shots. And it won't be long now before you hear the new champion telling about the shot that won for him.

'Lefty' Bumpers Appears Set For Try At Pro Game

Posted Fine Record With Aggies

COLLEGE STATION—(Spl)—One baseball scout recently was quoted as saying it takes five years to make a good left handed pitcher and in the case of Lemuel (Lefty) Bumpers, Texas Aggie ace hurler, that apparently is true.

Bumpers played his first baseball at Texas A. & M. as a freshman five years ago and then became ineligible for athletic participation for the next two years but got back into good scholastic graces last year to be among the leading hurlers in the Southwest Conference. All during his ineligibility he worked out daily with the team perfecting control which showed some improvement over his wild freshman hurling.

This year he was right on top with the best crop of pitchers in the conference and held his 15 opponents to an average of 2.36 earned runs for each nine innings he worked.

He toiled 110 2/3 innings in 15 baseball games, allowed 83 hits and 29 earned runs while fanning 74 enemy batters and walking but 41.

He has several offers from professional baseball clubs but is weighing them all before affixing his signature to a contract. He will graduate this year and hopes to make professional baseball his career. If he falls down on that line he still has his education in animal husbandry to fall back upon and his grades over the past two years indicate that he will have no trouble in landing a good position with one of the several meat packers who are after him.

Jake Schuehle To Ellington

HOUSTON, Tex. —(AP)— Charles (Jake) Schuehle, former star fullback of the Rice Owls, has been appointed assistant athletic director of Ellington Field, and will take complete charge of the athletic program there within 15 days, it was announced Saturday by Col. Walter H. Reid, commander of the aviation field.

Schuehle recently was named assistant coach at Conroe high school, but passed up this appointment for the Ellington Field post, which comes under civil service.

The husky former gridder now is at Randolph Field in San Antonio, attending a meeting of athletic directors of the Gulf Coast area, and will report to the local field soon.

He will act as coach for the baseball, football and basketball teams at Ellington, and also will have charge of general physical conditioning of the cadets.

Schuehle's home is in Hondo.

Harlingen Selects Play Brownsville Team Today

HARLINGEN — The Harlingen Southern Selects will meet the Brownsville Merchants in a double-header at Fair Park here Sunday afternoon with the first game scheduled to get under way at 3 o'clock.

The Selects will be playing under a new manager Sunday, "Slim" Mills, former American Association hurler, taking over the reins. He will also pitch the first game with Guevara slated for mound duty in the nightcap.

Determined to climb out of the slump that cost them four games, the Selects will probably shift the lineup around to find more batting punch. No new players have been secured but the club is determined to put more figures in the win column and have high hopes of chalking up a double victory here Sunday.

It will be Ladies Day at Fair Park Sunday and with much advance interest being shown, a large crowd is expected.

The standings of the clubs in the Valley Semi-Pro League are as follows:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Mission	6	1	.857
McAllen	5	2	.714
Comales	4	4	.500
Harlingen	3	4	.429
B'ville Edelsteins	3	5	.375

New York Wins IC4A Track Meet

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK —(AP)— Black-haired Leslie MacMitchell gave a courageous performance Saturday to lead New York University's track and field forces to an impressive victory over 40 other colleges in the 65th I.C.A.A.A.A. championships at Triborough Stadium.

After giving the Violets 10 points with his smashing wins in the mile and 880-yard runs, MacMitchell came back in the gloaming to run a vital second lap that enabled his team to capture the mile relay and clinch the team title with a total of 31 points.

Pittsburgh's well-balanced team took second honors with 21 19/28 points, despite the fact that the Panthers won only one first place all afternoon. Penn State took third with 20 3/7 points, with Rhode Island fourth at 18 3/4.

Great as was MacMitchell's individual showing, it was at least matched by that of Norwood Ewell, a fleet, springly little Negro running for Penn State. For the second straight year Ewell won the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump, smashing a long-standing intercollegiate record of 20.8 seconds for the 220 when he romped it off in 20.7 to beat his field by four yards. He tied the I. C. 4-A. record of 9.6 for the century.

Ewell became the first athlete ever to win three championships two years in succession, while MacMitchell's three long, winning runs gave N. Y. U. the first outdoor track title in ever won.

Big Al Blozis of Georgetown won both the shotput and the discus for the second straight year and established a new meet record of 54 feet, 3 inches for the shot. His own former mark of 53 feet, 9 1/2 inches was set in last year's championships.

The feature tidbit of the program, an extra-added attraction in which Greg Rice displayed his famous stride for two miles against Ralph Schwarzkopf, ex-Michigan captain, and Melvern Trutt, formerly of Indiana, didn't produce much excitement or particularly fast running.

Rice won it in 9 minutes, 5 6/10 seconds, with Schwarzkopf second about 10 yards back. As for Trutt, he resigned after five laps.

Fishing Rodeo Folder Out Soon

PORT ISABEL—Folders for the Rio Grande Valley Fishing Rodeo are now under process of preparation at Saint Louis, Mo., under the direct supervision of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company. These folders should be in the hands of the Rodeo organization next week. They will follow a similar pattern to the folders of 1940 except their size has been slightly reduced in order that they will fit into the standard business envelope.

As in the past the Rodeo organization urges all Valley business institutions and individuals to secure a supply of these folders from their local Chamber of Commerce office or they may write directly to the Rodeo office at Port Isabel and that they be mailed out to out-of-Valley points in all correspondence. The folder, however, is arranged with space for address and may be mailed individually for one and one-half cents. Fifteen thousand of these folders will be supplied and it is urged by the Rodeo organization that all of these folders be distributed as soon as possible.

The Rodeo office at Port Isabel will be pleased to provide the postage and mail the folders direct from this office upon receipt of lists of names and addresses. The placing of folders in the hands of as many individuals as possible will not only increase the attendance at our contest in August but will carry the message of our excellent fishing opportunities to every corner of America.

Careful estimates show that 120,000,000 acres of former waterfowl habitat have been taken from use by agriculture, manufacturing, and other industries.

'Machines Beat Us' Menzies Declares

MELBOURNE, Australia — (AP) — Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, commenting on British reverses in Crete, declared Saturday that "machines are defeating us" and "it may be we have not yet reached the lowest ebb of our fortune."

The newspaper, Argus, declared meanwhile that public opinion was prepared to pass over the defeat of British Imperial Forces in Greece without recrimnation, but said such restraint was conditional on no further continuation of the "unreal policy" which brought about the situation in Crete.

Joe Kuhel was the first member of the White Sox to hit a home run at home this year. It beat Washington, 3 to 2. The same day, April 29, Chet Laabs was the first St. Louis Brown to hit a four-sacker in his own park and it also resulted in a 3 to 2 vitcory for his team.

Omaha Matron Annexes Trans-Mississippi Golf Championship

Mrs. Mann Wins Over Agnes Wall

Putting Real Story Of Match

By WILLIAM T. RIVES

HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP)—Ten years of striving for the Women's Trans-Mississippi golf championship finally were rewarded for Mrs. Russell Mann Saturday. But the attractive Omaha, Nebr., matron had to beat her good friend and room-mate, 22-year-old Mary Agnes Wall, in a bitter 36-hole fight before emerging a one-up victor.

Briefly, putting told the story. Miss Wall, freckle-faced, amiable Menominee, Mich., miss, dolefully watched a 12-inch effort roll by the 33th hole of River Oaks, where the greens laugh at the players. That left her one down.

A bold brassie shot put her on the 3th green in 26. Mrs. Mann was to the right of the carpet in 2, shot over a trap and calmly rapped in a 15-foot putt for a half and the match.

Elated over her first Trans-Miss win, Mrs. Mann said: "That's what I've been working for all these years and at last I've done it." Miss Wall never had played in a 36-hole tilt before, and was weary, from the tension and soaring heat of the afternoon round. She dubbed several shots on the last nine from sheer weariness but always was able to rise to the heights when necessary to keep the match alive.

Two down through 31 holes, she won the next with a par 5 when Mrs. Mann conceded after taking five to get on, and sacked the 34th with a great birdie, the result of two powerful wood shots to the green. Then fell the break that actually decided the contest, the loss of a hole when all signs pointed to nothing less than a half.

"The 17th hole has been hard for me all through the tournament," Miss Wall explained sadly later. Both missed the par 4, 17th, played Saturday afternoon as the 35th.

On in 3, Mrs. Mann took two putts. Miss Wall's first try went past the cup but nestled one foot away.

Remindful of her previous troubles on the hole, she took her time, stroked the putt well, but the ball rolled by the tip.

That was the end, although Mary Agnes wrestled on, her brassie second on the closing hole was one of her greatest shots but there was nothing she could do about Mrs. Mann's 15-foot putt for a half in par 4's.

"I knew Lucille was going to sink that putt," Miss Wall said. "She was long overdue."

Mrs. Mann, the former Lucille Robinson, Curtis Cup player, had trouble with her putting all day, three-putting four greens on the morning round.

Phooey On 'T', Says Jones, Nebraska'll Still Use Power

AP Feature Service

LINCOLN, Neb.—Major Lawrence M. Jones, Nebraska football coach, says the "feint," when backed with raw power, is football's best weapon of deception.

So the major is one top-notch coach who isn't worried about the "T" formation or any other sleight-of-hand performance, even though Coach Clark Shaughnessy's Stanford magicians whipped Nebraska in the 1941 Rose Bowl game.

He'll continue, he said, to teach his boys how to apply power plays, then how to feint the other fellow out of position and hit him—hard!

There's plenty of deception, Jones says, in the single wingback system he uses. He admits that many of the maneuvers employed by his team, such as the shifting of backs a yard or two this or that way, the angle at which the cutback is made by the ball carrier, and the "cut" of pass receivers, are the kind that escape the eyes of spectators. But he gives his word that the opposing player who gets caught in the middle knows what happens.

Thus the major says his eye will always be peeled for the player who can combine power with the ability to feint. Jones likes power and this is why he wants it always present:

"It's there when you've got to have it. It's there when you run into a rain or snow storm, a wet or frozen field following a storm and a wind that you can't pass against. That's why I like power football."

Jones lost 13 seniors off his Rose Bowl team, plus five men to the National Guard, but just the same he thinks his club next fall will be on the potent side if draft calls don't catch too many.

SOFTBALL

McALLEN— Second place in the McAllen Softball League will be at stake when the McAllen Lions clash with the Sharyland TCX squad in the 8 p. m. game here Monday night.

At present the Lions are resting in the runner-up spot, boasting a half-game margin over the TCX team, which barely missed taking over second place Friday night.

Leading the Pharr Levins Garagemen 2-0 with one out in the seventh, Sharyland allowed the first place holders to escape with nothing worse than a 2-2 tie. The hour time limit was up after the Garagemen had put across their two-run rally.

First inning singles and a home run by Raymond Miller in the third gave TCX its lead. Cucu Hernandez' one-bagger, an error, and a long fly in the last of the seventh enabled the Garagemen to maintain their undefeated record.

Brilliant fielding and tight pitching made the game the best played this season. Monte Hetrick, on the mound for Sharyland, was up to his old tricks, struck out eight, walked none, and allowed three singles. His opponent, Mike McKinney, scattered five singles in addition to Miller's homer, fanned five, and walked a similar number.

In the second game, a non-conference tilt, the Lions smashed out a 16-5 victory over the Mission Lumbermen. Tommy Hermanson homered for the winners, while Wood hit a four-bagger with the bases packed for Mission.

Highlight of the week's schedule will come Friday night when Sharyland and Pharr take on the Cox and Hammon team of Freer, one of South Texas' stronger teams, in a doubleheader.

McAllen churches plan to inaugurate a league soon. First interchurch play of the year will be a non-league affair Wednesday night between the Methodists and the Baptists.

It was Chicago's sixth win in eight games with the Browns and their 14th triumph in their last 19 games.

Take It From The Champion, Badminton's Easy To Learn

AP Feature Service

POMONA, Calif.—Adept beginners can become experts faster at badminton than at any other sport, says Dave Freeman, 20-year-old Pomona College athlete who reigns over America's 4,000,000 shuttlecock smashers.

"Anyone with a fair amount of ability, a pretty good eye and competitive spirit can quickly learn to play a good game of badminton," he says. "In tennis you have to polish your strokes for years. If you try hard in badminton you can get pretty good within a year by playing only three times a week."

Other players have expressed similar opinion. Phil Michlin, coach at the YMCA in Rochester, N. Y., says: "Women particularly enjoy the game because they can get a good smash at the bird."

Mary Beth Sewell, a badminton Devotee, says it's a great game for the figure.

'You Don't Get Far'

Shapely Evelyn Boldrick, 1940 champion and 1941 runner-up, says there are very few fat women players.

"It's the stretch, reach and run that keeps us slim," she says. "I train on steak and other good food, and never worry about my figure."

Mary Whittemore, Boston singles and doubles star who bounces throughout each match, says "the game is so much fun I never stop to think why I play it."

Freeman and Thelma Kingsbury, former English champions who came to this country nearly four years ago, won the 1941 national singles titles at Cleveland.

Title Monopoly

For Freeman it was the third successive national amateur singles crown, and for the second successive year he shared the men's and mixed doubles crowns.

It was the first American singles title for Miss Kingsbury, who also captured a share of the women's doubles championship.

Both champions are slim and sandy-haired, with live-rubber legs and a steel-snap of the wrist. Miss Kingsbury is left-handed, Freeman right-handed.

Dave stands slightly under six feet and weighs 150 pounds. He started playing tennis at 10, and a few years later captured the national junior championship. In his spare time he played table tennis, and soon captured the California title in that game.

FD's Chat, Bismarck Feature Of Newsreel

HARLINGEN—Flown here by air mail from New York, Paramount's latest news reel release, slated Saturday and Sunday at Arcadia Theatre, will feature President Roosevelt's recent "fireside chat," and the sinking of the Nazi battleship Bismarck.

Paramount has devoted the entire reel to these two momentous events, aides for Manager Jack King said.

Crows can sometimes be taught to talk. Contrary to popular opinion, the tongue need not be slit. Slitting the tongue is unnecessary cruelty. Birds produce vocal sounds within the body from the syrinx.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO—(AP)—After falling as much as a cent to the lowest levels in about two weeks, wheat prices Saturday recovered all of the loss and pushed upward for gains of almost a cent.

The market's about-face was attributed to short covering and evening-up operations prior to the close. Some traders credited buying to mills while others contended dealers were anticipating producers' two-thirds approval of the marketing quota system at Saturday's nation-wide referendum. A sharp rally of soybeans also strengthened wheat.

Early wheat weakness was associated with a heavy two-day accumulation of receipts at some terminals, climaxing a record-breaking movement for the month, expectations of upward revision of new crop estimates and war news.

NEW YORK—(AP)—You could have put Saturday's stock market in your right eye without bringing on even a slight case of astigmatism.
While there was a semblance of dealings, Wall Street was notably bare of customers as the majority extended Friday's holiday over the week-end.
So far as prices were concerned, the list stepped out of the week and month with a moderately lower drift although scattered aircrafts and specialties managed to emerge with fractional gains.
Transfers for the two hours of 107,100 shares were the smallest since Aug. 24, and compared with 160,280 a week ago. The Association Press average of 60 stocks was off .1 of a point at 39.6 and on the week was down .3. For the month the composite was up .4.
It was one of the narrowest markets, in the matter of the number of stocks traded, in two decades or more. Of about 1,280 listed issues, only 345 changed hands, actually a low market, since Aug. 24, when 303 were dealt in. In Saturday's total, 127 were off, 93 up and 125 unchanged.

WHO

'BLOOD AND SAND' AT CAPITOL, ARCADIA & PALACE THEATRES

Linda Darnell And Rita Hayworth Are Seen In Featured Supporting Roles

TYRONE POWER has his most colorful screen role in the Technicolor film production "Blood and Sand," with Linda Darnell and Rita Hayworth heading the featured supporting cast which includes Nazimova, Anthony Quinn, J. Carroll Naish and Lynn Bari.

The one screen star who in the past few years has appeared in more outstanding film than any other of Hollywood's leading actors, Tyrone Power was selected for the starring role in "Blood and Sand," not only for his popularity, but for his colorful and dashing qualities, characteristic of a great matador, whom he portrays in the picture.

To faithfully capture the true color of Spanish costumes, architecture and atmosphere, the picture was filmed in Mexico City; the Mexican capitol being one of the few places in the new world that retains the beauty, color and vibrantly rich Spanish atmosphere of the old world.

In addition to the vivid panorama portrayed on the screen in flaming Technicolor, the story of "Blood and Sand" is filled with thrilling romance, spectacle, adventure and beauty. The background and the spectacle of the bull fight arena highlight the dramatic love story of a death-defying matador torn between the love of a beautiful wife and the fatal charm of an alluring temptress.

"Blood and Sand," is booked for current showing today through Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre in Brownsville, the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen and the Palace Theatre in McAllen.

Popularity of Dance Results From Film

The motion picture "Blood and Sand" will make its contribution to the American dance by the popularity of the dance number, "The Dance Torero."

The dance was brought back to Hollywood by Tyrone Power and soon became the rage in the film capitol.

VALENTINO IN SILENT FILM

'Blood And Sand' Was Stars First Hit

In the early days of silent motion pictures one of the screen's greatest stars first received public acclaim as the dashing star of "Blood and Sand," the gripping story of a fearless matador who defies death in the bull fight arena for love and glory.

Valentino was the screen's leading star in the early 20's and in addition to his appearance in "Blood and Sand" was starred in such outstanding pictures of that day as "The Shiek" and "Son of The Shiek."

The new Technicolor screen production of "Blood and Sand" stars Tyrone Power who like Valentino in his day of stardom, gained fame for his appearances in romantic, action-filled roles. His most noted being in "Jesse James," "The Rain Came," "Johnny Apollo" and "The Mark of Zorro."

In "Blood and Sand," Power contributes an inspired performance as a fearless matador, who is torn between the love of his beautiful wife, played by Linda Darnell and the allure of a fiery temptress in the person of Rita Hayworth. The featured supporting cast includes Nazimova, Anthony Quinn, J. Carrol Naish, John Carradine and Lynn Bari.

Linda Darnell, Tyrone Power and Rita Hayworth in the sensational Technicolor screen production of "Blood And Sand," which heralds a month of outstanding screen entertainment at Valley Interstate Theatres during the month of June. "Blood And Sand" is booked for current showing today, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre in Brownsville, the Palace Theatre in McAllen and the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen.

Tyrone Power, starred in "Blood And Sand" is seen in the role of a famed matador. The picture was adapted to the screen from Vincente Blasco Ibanez' novel of the same title.

'Blood And Sand' Heralded As Most Thrilling Love Story Ever Filmed

Heralded as the most thrilling love story ever filmed "Blood and Sand," has as it's romantic stars Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell and Rita Hayworth with Nazimova, Anthony Quinn, J. Carroll Naish, John Carradine and Lynn Bari in featured supporting roles.

Depicting the romantic and thrilling adventures of a Spanish matador the story presents the eternal triangle of a hero torn between the love of a beautiful wife and an alluring temptress.

It is a drama of contrasts, showing, the poverty of a youthful bullfighter before he achieves overflowing wealth as the most famous of all matadors. The contrast between devotion and fidelity of his wife, and the callous fickleness of a beautiful siren.

In addition to the featured cast of stars thousands of extras were employed to combine all the sweep of a panorama with the sensitivity of a great love story in bringing this sensational romantic-drama to the screen.

Rita Hayworth Is Much Photographed

Frances Huffman Home From College

HARLINGEN — Miss Frances Huffman has just returned from Mary Hardin-Baylor College at Belton to spend the summer with her father. She plans to re-enroll in September as a junior, majoring in business and with art as her minor.

During the past school year, Miss Huffman was the sophomore candidate for Hallowe'en carnival queen and was chosen by the student body as a Baylor beauty. She has been elected junior yell-leader for next year and was named as one of 75 councillors

Summer vacation is being satisfactorily launched by Misses Dan Atteberry and Sidney Clark, shown in the lower photo, as they do a little leisurely paddling in a tree-shadowed lake. Ellington-McKee Rites February 4 Made Known At Tea Event Saturday

BROWNSVILLE—The marriage of Miss Edith Loree McKee to John Austin (Jack) Ellington, was announced at a tea held Saturday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock by the bride's mother, Mrs. O. W. McKee.

The home was beautifully decorated with floral arrangements of gladioli and carnations in pastel shades. The tea table, laid with an ecru lace cloth, held an effective centerpiece of pink rosebuds in a low crystal bowl flanked by white tapers in crystal candlesticks.

The honoree was attractive in a frock of green sheer, worn with a corsage of gardenias. Receiving the guests with her were her mother Mrs. McKee, in black chiffon, and the groom's mother, Mrs. W. A. Ellington, in navy blue sheer. Gladioli with centers of dainty cornflowers formed their corsages.

Miss Mary Katherine Lallier presented each guest with a tiny scroll, tied with pink ribbon and lettered in gold, "Edith and Jack—February 4, 1941." Miss Dorothy Ellington, sister of the groom, was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Irvin Kibbe presided at the punch bowl while Mrs. J. M. Dunham served the cake. Mrs. R. A. McKee and Mrs. Paul Ellington assisted in the dining room. These members of the house party wore corsages of cornflowers in pastel shades blending with their costumes.

Pretty Event Is Dessert, And Bridge

Two Hostesses Entertain Group

WESLACO—A lovely courtesy of the week was the dessert bridge given by Mrs. Virgil Thompson and Mrs. Floyd Langford Thursday at the home of Mrs. Langford in Mercedes. Friends from Weslaco made up the personnel.

AZUCENA is the rather pleasing name Spanish-speaking folks along the border have for tuberoses.

Though not so much liked by Anglo-Saxons until popularized lately somewhat with the practice of flower tinting, tuberoses have always been favorites in homes where Spanish is the natural tongue.

A HANDY device, reported by a Valley woman who attended Dorothy Biddle's lecture on flower arrangement recently in Corpus Christi, beats using rubber bands to hold flower tips or slender stems together.

A few strips of Scotch tape wound around the stems are practically invisible and may be applied much more easily than the rubber bands.

From the way Memorial Day was "discovered" this spring, it ought to become a full-fledged holiday in the Valley about next year.

At the same time, it is likely that Armistice Day will become a 'forgotten holiday. At any rate the joy connected with its observance has faded out.

BLUEBONNET seed, in most sections, are now ripe and ready for gathering.

If the pods seem a little green, strip them from the plants and allow to dry completely.

In a short time the pods will be split open and the seed will be scattered on the ground.

Folks who don't care for bluebonnets in their own lawn or gardens might like to sow seed on nearby vacant lots or rights-of-way where they could sort of guard the plants when they come up.

Because of their close resemblance to clover, it's always easy to identify and protect the bluebonnet plants.

Of course, everyone means to buy several bonds during the next year or so, but cash is a little short just now, a situation that always prevails. The average adult is shy about bothering a busy postal employe to buy a lone 50 cent or 25 cent stamp to put in a book.

Suppose all that was necessary was to drop a quarter in a slot and turn the crank, the stamp could be obtained with a minimum of publicity and effort.

AT LEAST one royal poinciana is going to blossom in the Valley this year—the dean of all poinciana trees which towers over the roof tops at Palm Courts on West Jefferson Street in Brownsville.

This tree is rather well protected within a nearly closed square made by buildings and it is reported the top was also protected by a tarpaulin during the record cold spell over a year ago—the freeze that is depriving this section of the colorful blooms for a second season.

The older royal poincianas in the Valley were brought from Mexico 20 years or more ago by Reynaldo Rodriguez and his father of McAllen.

THE TREES with their umbrella tops of flame-colored flowers are not native to Mexico, though they are growing riotously in a wild state in much of its area.

Natives of Africa, the trees were introduced in Mexico long ago. The common Mexican name is flamboya and in Cuba it is arbol de fuega, both illustrating the knack Latin-Americans have for bestowing plant names that recognize outstanding characteristics or resemblances.

The granddaddy of all royal poincianas, this column is told, is the enormous tree in the patio at the Royal Poinciana Hotel in Honolulu which is credited with drawing thousands of visitors with its blossoming season annually.

THE jacarandra is not native to Mexico either. Mr. Rodriguez told this column, and is found only in cultivated gardens or parks where it was planted by human hands.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hunter, 222 W. Buchanan, have one of the blue-flowered jacarandras now in bloom in their yard.

These trees have been adopted by California as have the royal poincianas have by Florida.

Which makes one wonder whether the Valley is the only U. S. region where both may be grown.

EXPERIMENTATION with many tropical plants and shrubs is being carried out by dozens of amateur gardeners and years must pass before Valley gardens take on the richness and beauty that comes only with maturity.

For instance, a bougainvillea 25 years old is one of the many interesting plants in the garden that gives keen delight to Mrs. Eumelia Rodriguez, mother of the Mr. Rodriguez quoted above.

Mrs. Rodriguez has spent most of her life along the lower Rio Grande border and is familiar with both native and cultivated flowering plants and trees.

The surface of the rich dark leaves is not unlike sandpaper and, no doubt, served the purpose extremely well.

IT WON'T be long before the anacuas will again be loaded with clouds of white bloom—unless they are like the retamas less inclined to blossom in a period of excessive rains.

Scarcity of mocking birds has been noted by a number of persons the past winter, but they seem to be pretty plentiful now—

The grapevine has probably carried the news that the chapotes (native persimmons) are beginning to ripen.

LIFE could be pretty bewildering for Dan McClendon, Jr., son of a well-known Pharr couple, who recently married Aurelita Stamm in Rayne, La.

Not only is his bride a twin, but she has two other sisters, also identical twins, and persons, except close friends, find it impossible to distinguish from pictures, the matching sets of twins. All four sisters are members of Alpha Delta Pi sorority at the University of Texas.

Dan McClendon is a lieutenant in the U. S. Coast Artillery at Fort Davis, S. C.

SOMEHTING like a historic occasion will be the first joint birthday party held by the four LaMotte children Tuesday afternoon.

They are children of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. LaMotte.

McAllen Girl Graduate Honoree

Eminent among affairs to honor girl graduates was the tea for Miss Dorothy Stepp, left, of Harlingen, McAllen senior high school graduate, at the spacious A. B. Chambers home last week. Hostesses for the lovely event were Miss Ruie Lee Kelly, center, and Miss Shirley Chambers, right, all of McAllen. More than 50 young guests had called to greet the graduate. The honored guest and her hostesses are pictured here in the rose garden at the Chambers home. (Monitor Photo.)

Hosts for the informal affair were some of the honored guest's closest friends for many years. They included C. H. Britton, Jr., Johnnie Earl Suttle, Charles Holland, Harry Johnson, Bill Nolen and Grace Delamater. Practically all the group have gone to school together since childhood.

More than 250 friends of the honored guest gathered from over the entire Valley for the event. Since Griffin was a student at the Edinburg Junior College and a graduate from the McAllen Senior high school, guest personnel included friends from both schools and from the Valley generally.

A huge sign, "Goodbye Gordon," adorned one end of the club's dancing room as the main feature of the decoration. Mrs. Gordon Griffin, mother of the honored guest, presided at the refreshment table where punch and cookies were served.

Robert Taylor Seen In His First Western Role As "Billy The Kid"

Picture Is Filmed In Technicolor

Robert Taylor makes his debut as a western star in screen's new technicolor epic "Billy the Kid," which is booked for showing Thursday, Friday and Saturday at both the Capitol Theatre in Brownsville and the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen.

Although Taylor was virtually born on a horse in Nebraska and has owned his own ranch and stables since becoming one of Hollywoods post popular stars, the new picture gives him his first opportunity to show his riding ability on the screen. He has been asking for the chance for almost five years.

Brian Donlevy, who attained stardom in "The Great McGinty," heads a brilliant supporting cast which includes Ian Hunter, Mary Howard, Gene Lockhart and Lon Chaney, Jr.

The story concerns the exploits and fate of a terror of the range during the cattle wars of the 1870's. He enters the picture with a reputation as a "killer," but after first joining up with the Dan Hickey gang, he swings over to the more lawful forces of Eric Keating, an English rancher.

Influenced by the Englishman, Ian Hunter, and Donlevy and Miss Howard, he appears to be reforming until Hunter is killed. Swearing to revenge the death of his friend, he trails and shoots the Hickey men responsible but finally meets his own end in a showdown with Donlevy, sworn in as a deputy to stop the lawlessness.

"The Singing Hill" At Gem Weslaco

Gene Autrey, the screen's "Ace" cowboy star, is to be seen in his thrilling musical Western, "The Singing Hill," at the Gem Theatre in Weslaco, today only.

GARY COOPER IN FILM HIT

"Meet John Doe" Is Frank Capra Film

"Meet John Doe," Frank Capra's new film hit starring Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck, which opens a three-day engagement at the Palace Theatre in McAllen, starting Thursday.

Theatre-goers met Mr. Deeds, and know that Mr. Smith went to Washington and they now have the opportunity to meet John Doe.

In his adventures in the gallery of human nature, Capra has added another picture of our life and times which will constitute a series of indelible portraits of people now for the future. Each of his characters has in common the American heritage, yet each is as unlike the others.

Through the medium of motion pictures Capra has so explored the characters of the folks we meet in the street that all of his pictures, including "It Happened One Night," "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town," "You Can't Take It With You" and "Mr. Smith Goes To Washington" occupy a personalized niche in the memory of millions of theatre-goers.

As John Doe, Cooper plays an average American who has lost his means of livelihood and who, in spite of ambition, comes to be classified as a migrant. In playing the role of an average man, temporarily down on his luck, Cooper adds another portrait to the gallery of "beloved vagabonds" so dear to the heart of Americans. The problem of the man displaced from ordinary economic status, whose ideas, if not radical, are at least different from the rank and file, is as old as history and as new as tomorrow's newspaper.

AIR EPIC TO PLAY VALLEY

"I Wanted Wings" Is Scheduled Soon

The widely heralded screen production "I Wanted Wings," is soon to be seen at Valley Interstate Theatres, opening day-and-date engagement Sunday June 8, at both the Capitol Theatre in Brownsville and the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen.

Ray Milland, William Holden, Wayne Morris, Veronica Lake, Brian Donlevy and Constance Moore are the featured stars in "I Wanted Wings," which was produced by Paramount Studios with co-operation of the War Department and the Air Coorps, whose work it depicts in its story.

The thrilling story of the men who battle their way to graduation from the Army Air Corps' training schools, the picture shows them not only as future war birds for Uncle Sam but as flesh-and-blood young men who can get into more than their shares of perplexities. The aviation scenes, filmed at Randolph and Kelly fields, in San Antonio, are some of the greatest action pictures ever screened.

Harry Davenport, Herbert Rawlinson, Richard Webb, Richard Lane, Addison Richards and Hobart Cavanaugh are among the supporting players.

Judy Canova Stars In Musical Comedy

The incomparable comedienne, Judy Canova, is seen in the screen version of "Sis Hopkins," the famous stage hit that has been a classic of entertainment for three decades. The featured cast with Miss Canova in "Sis Hopkins" includes Bob Crosby, Charles Butterworth, Jerry Colonna and Susan Hayward.

"Sis Hopkins" is booked for showing Friday and Saturday at the Rivoli Theatre in San Benito.

Current Films

JOAN CRAWFORD and Melvyn Douglas share co-starring honors in the screen's new romantic-drama "A Woman's Face," which is booked for current showing today and Monday at the Rivoli Theatre in San Benito.

"A Woman's Face" was produced by George Cukor whose past screen hits include "The Women" in which Joan Crawford was also starred and of more recent date "The Philadelphia Story."

The story of "A Woman's Face" is that of a woman shunned by the world. It is a picture that presents a plot powerfully dramatic and totally different from the usual run of motion picture stories. The story tells of a girl's struggle to beat the world she has learned to hate, her strange association with a man she knows she can not love and her re-generation.

"PENNY SERENADE" AT RITZ AND STATE

ROMANCE is the theme of Irene Dunne and Cary Grant's new starring picture "Penny Serenade," which is booked for current showing today and Monday at both the Ritz Theatre in Weslaco and the State Theatre in Mercedes.

The story of "Penny Serenade" carries its principals through a ten-year period. It traces their hectic courtship and their impetuous marriage and describes their raptorious honeymoon which ends in near disaster, their struggle for existence and straightening out their differences.

Grant's inborn wanderlust causes them to drift from each other and the days when they fell in love to the tune of "Penny Serenade" in a music shop. It's a record of the tune that stops Miss Dunne from packing to get a divorce and the discovery of a little boy who needs a couple of nice people for parents that finally brings them back together.

The featured supporting cast to Miss Dunne and Grant in "Penny Serenade" includes Beulah Bondi, Edgar Buchanan and Wallis Clark.

HARDY FAMILY RETURNS TO STRAND

ONE OF THE most entertaining of all the Hardy Family pictures is presented in "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," which is booked for current showing today and Monday at the Strand Theatre in Harlingen.

In the picture, the characters, which are now household words in America, pass two milestones. It marks the graduation of the inimitable Andy from high school and honors the passing of his time-worn jallopy in favor of a smart and new convertible coupe.

Promising to take it's place among the most noteworthy of the entire series, the film adds to the town of Carvel which had it's inception some four years ago. In addition to it's street of homes, including that of the Hardys and the Benedicts, it now boasts a modern brick high school where much of the action of "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary" takes place. The film also takes the audience around to the wrong side of the tracks and introduces it to a brand new family, the Dands, a father and his two mother-less children, a boy and a girl, whose lives become strangely entangled with the Hardy's.

In addition to the cast of "regulars"—Lewis Stone, Mickey Rooney, Ann Rutherford, Fay Holden and Sara Haden—"Andy Hardy's Private Secretary" introduces two new comers to the screen.

The first is petite Kathryn Grayson, singing screen find, who makes her debut as both a singer and an actress. Miss Grayson is a colortura soprano of outstanding ability and sings four songs in the picture.

To her is given the role of Andy's secretary. The second newcomer to the screen seen for the first time in the play is Todd Karns, son of the popular screen comedian Roscoe Karns.

Ickes Is Named Oil Czar

Co-Operation Is Due From Oil Leaders

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Secretary Ickes was given the job Saturday of solving gasoline and oil problems arising from the defense program, and the Justice Department immediately placed in his hand a potent weapon — the veto power over negotiations in anti-trust suits against 22 major oil companies.

ICKES

Attorney General Jackson said in a statement that the suits would not be permitted to impede regulation of the oil industry by Ickes, and mentioned that negotiations were under way to reach an agreement with the oil companies on the anti-trust actions. Then, he added:

"To avoid any conflict with the administrative program which may be established by the secretary of the interior further negotiations in the pending proceedings will be submitted to him, to the end that national defense objectives of the new oil control shall be in no way impeded."

Known Some Time

Although Ickes' appointment to be "petroleum co-ordinator for national defense," was only announced Saturday in Hyde Park, N. Y., by President Roosevelt, it was learned that the interior secretary already had conferred with representatives of the oil industry.

Aides said he was arranging for conferences soon in Washington of all federal agencies dealing with oil, industry representatives, rail and water carriers and officials of oil producing states.

It was not clear exactly how extensive Ickes' powers were.

President Roosevelt directed him to make "specific recommendations" for "action which is necessary or desirable" and cited these as problems for immediate action:

1. Development, production and utilization of reserves of crude oils and natural gas that are of "strategic importance both in quality and location."

2. Elimination or reduction of cross hauling of oil products, ex-

DARLAN FLAYS BRITISH RAIDS

Says Shipping Attack Just 'Piracy'

VICHY, Unoccupied France—(AP)—Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan denounced Britain Saturday, evidently with the approval of Chief of State Marshal Petain, for what he called piratical attacks on French shipping.

Coincident with Darlan's statement, made before French editors in Nazi-occupied Paris, it was reported reliably that the French North African port of Sfax had been attacked by British planes for a third time and the 3,313-ton Italian freighter Florida II set afire.

"I remain decided, more than ever," Darlan said, "to force respect for France's right to free ues of her ports and her routes of communication."

Ranging himself squarely on the German side in his expose of French-British relations, the No. 2 man in the Vichy regime asserted that "even in the improbable case of British victory," or in "a triumphant Anglo-Saxon world, France would be only a dominion of second order."

BRITAN SURPRISED THAT FRANCE IS "NEUTRAL"

LONDON—(AP)—Informed British sources, commenting on French Vice-Premier Admiral Darlan's speech Saturday at Vichy, said they were "surprised that France considers herself neutral."

There was no further comment immediately in authoritative quarters, but the view was held in other circles that Britain is hopeful of preventing open hostilities with Vichy.

Stock Vaccinating In Cameron Will Begin Sunday To Halt Sleep Sickness

Disease Drops In Southern Area Now

SAN BENITO — Continuing the intense campaign to control spread of sleeping sickness among horses and mules in Cameron county a vaccinating service will go into effect Sunday which has been provided by the county commisisoners' court in co-operation with the county health unit and the county agent's office.

Dr. Grady Deaton, health director, said Saturday that the disease was worse now in the central section of the county and had declined sharply in the southern part where it was first reported.

Dr. Deaton, Jimmy Walker and Morgan Finley of the county health unit will work with Frank C. Brunnemann, county agent, and his assistant, Ab Weatherby, on the vaccinating service which is available to all farmers.

Schedule Planned

Schedule for the first three days of the coming week has been planned by Brunnemann who asks that all farmers desiring vaccination of animals to bring them to designated places and to wait awhile if officials are late as unexpected delays may interfere with slated time.

The service has arranged with the Animal Byproducts Company in Harlingen, telephone 9539, to remove dead mules and horses from farms within 12 hours after the company is notified. The company is open all day Sunday.

Vaccinating service will be available at the following places:

Sunday: 7 a. m., Laurellis; 9 a. m., Goates store; 11 a. m., Grover Weikel farm.

Monday: 9 a. m., Los Indios, R. O.

Harlingen Talk Will End Valley Tour

HARLINGEN—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel will speak in Harlingen Thursday night at 8 o'clock, to climax a day of visiting in the Valley during which he will make two other talks, it was announced here Saturday.

Governor O'Daniel will be the fourth candidate for the U. S. Senate post left vacant by Morris Sheppard, to visit the Valley during the current campaign. Attorney General Mann and Congressman Martin Dies were here a week ago; and J. C. Williams of Rockport has been in the Valley during the past week.

Leon, and 20 to 25 others, will accompany O'Daniel to the Valley Thursday. A big sound truck, hillbilly music and all the trimmings that proved effective in 1938 and 1940, will be on tap at Fair Park, where O'Daniel spoke during his first campaign for governor.

Other Thursday speeches by O'Daniel will include one at Brownsville at 10 a. m. and the second at Archer Park in McAllen at 1 p. m.

Sleeping Sickness Can Be Cured Says Doctor

Its' Lot Of Work, But It Will Save Your Prize Stock, San Benito Man Says

By HARRY FOEHNER

HARLINGEN—"If you have an extra fine horse or mule that is stricken with sleeping sickness, don't give up hope because there is a chance save it."

That was the ray of hope offered Saturday by M. Zellmer of San Benito, formerly a veterinarian in the north, who told how such afflicted animals might be saved provided that the malady is not too far advanced.

Hundreds of Cameron county and other Valley horses and mules have died of equine encephalo-myelitis and most farmers are vaccinating their animals against this dread disease which may be carried by mosquitoes, horse flies and possibly the Mexican "kissing bug," a blood sucking beetle sometimes found in this area.

Lot Of Work

It takes a lot of work to save an animal but if farmers are serious about curing a favorite horse there is a good chance for accomplishing it. Three horses that Zellmer knows of have been saved already by the method he suggests.

Zellmer said that horses should not be vaccinated after developing fever for then it is too late. If vaccine is effective it may still help but if it is not effective, it works the other way, making the horse's plight worse.

Animals afflicted with sleeping sickness really die of lock-jaw, Zellmer said. Fifty pounds of crushed ice should be placed under the afflicted horse's head and 50 pounds over his head. This may be necessary for 16 to 24 hours to reduce the brain fever from which the animal is suffering. The animal usually regains its sight when the fever leaves.

In addition 1,500 units of tetanus antitoxin should be administered. If this is given in the evening, it should be repeated some time the next day and even a third injection may be necessary.

Apply Enema

An enema may be applied with a water pump, the dose consisting of a teaspoonful of salt to a bucket of water applied several times daily.

A small board with the edges rounded off to prevent injury to the mouth may be inserted between the teeth and worked so as to exercise the jaws. Sometimes the jaws will not be locked, only the tongue being stiff, and working a board back and forth will help, Zellmer said.

Fallen animals should be sprayed or green flies will blow them. Spray also will keep away mosquitoes and prevent even further spread of the disease says Zellmer who is farming a mile north of Lantana on the San Benito-Rio Hondo Road.

Houston Arrives

Texas' Senator Now In US Capital

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Andrew Jackson Houston arrived in the capital Saturday to carve his own niche in history as the oldest person ever to enter the United States Senate.

Appointed as interim senator from Texas, Senator Houston at 86 years is taking a seat occupied by his illustrious father, Sam Houston, in 1846, or five years short of a century ago.

Tired by the 1,500-mile train trip from La Porte, Tex., he asked newspapermen to delay interviews until Monday when he will take his oath of office in the Senate chamber.

Well, anyway, during the first few hours of business Saturday morning six couples marched into the county clerk's office and filled out their marriage license applications.

GOOD COTTON YIELD SEEN

Despite Pests, Rain, May Equal 1940

HARLINGEN — The Valley will produce as much cotton this season as last year although between 45,000 and 50,000 acres of the crop have been entirely eliminated by rains and floods, it was predicted by Douglas Carroll, manager of the Harlingen Cotton Oil Company.

"A tremendous damage has been done by rains and we believe that 20 per cent of the entire Valley cotton acreage has been knocked out," Carroll said. "The 1941 cotton allotment in the Valley is 223,961 acres and a fifth of this would be somewhere between 45,000 and 50,000 acres that have been abandoned."

This does not take into consideration the poor stand and condition of some of the remaining crop, the local man said.

"There is a greater flea hopper infestation than ever before, but even with all these unfavorable conditions we have fair prospects for as much cotton as last year when the yield per acre was low," Carroll stated.

There were 95,335 bales produced last year on 211,447 allotted acres.

Texans Okay Market Control For Wheat

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—(AP)—Texans voted overwhelmingly Saturday in favor of a Department of Agriculture proposal to establish marketing quotas on this year's wheat crop.

Results Saturday night from 96 of 133 counties showed 10,541 for and 833 against wheat quotas. Farmers of Gray county, a heavy wheat producer, voted 377 to 9 in favor of the plan.

Zamzam Survivors Freed Saturday But 21 U. S. Ambulance Drivers Held

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, At The French Frontier —(AP)— A United States embassy official said Saturday he would go Monday to Biarritz, in occupied France, to find out why 21 American ambulance drivers were detained while 119 other American survivors from the Egyptian liner Zamzam were permitted to enter Spain en route to Lisbon.

The ambulance men were confined to a hotel in Biarritz. A representative of the Berlin foreign office ordered them held, saying their cases would be decided in Berlin.

The Americans who crossed over, including two ambulance drivers who apparently were released by mistake because their passports were marked "student," reported that Germans referred repeatedly to "bad treatment" they said was given German sailors arrested in American ports.

Reaching Spain among the survivors of the ship, torpedoed by a German raider in the South Atlantic, were six pregnant American women.

W. H. Edwards and his wife, Edna, missionaries of Detroit, Mich., who were en route to their post in the Belgian Congo, also were aboard the British liner Athenia when it was sunk the first week of the war.

They said the sinking of the Zamzam was "more pleasant," since she was hit at dawn instead of at night

ARMISTICE IN IRAQ WAR IS NOW SIGNED

Mop-Up On Crete Is Nearly Over

BAGHDAD QUITS

Nazis Rush Belated Aid To Iraq

By The Associated Press

The European-African-Middle Eastern conflict once again is a war in search of a battlefront.

With the strange battle of Crete all over except for the German-Italian shouting, the mop-up and Britain's formal acknowledgement of another great defeat, high strategists of both sides, it can be taken for granted, are looking around for the likeliest zone of offense and defense.

And Iraq, by all indications Saturday night, appeared to be it."

The British Imperial command knew that and it was an impelling factor in the speed (one month) with which British Middle Eastern forces cleaned up the Iraq war-within-a-war before the Axis could or wished, to give all-out aid to the anti-British dictator-premier, Rashid Ali Al Gailani.

Iraq Sues For Peace

The British campaign in Iraq was capped Friday by a plea for peace from a Baghdad committee which took the reins of Iraq government upon the flight of Rashid Ali into neighboring Iran.

The British indicated that an armistice had been or would be promptly granted, even as a Palestine motorized force drove into the riot-ridden capital.

A British radio report said that the armistice became effective late Saturday afternoon and that the city of Baghdad was quiet.

Axis aid for Rashid Ali and his military cohorts had been too little and, unless the Axis can now turn the tables, too late.

The offensive with which Germany blasted Crete by air and then swamped Greek and British Imperial defenders with an unprecedented air-borne invasion virtually had sidetracked the help for which the pro-Axis Rashid Ali had appealed.

Just A Trickle

Two weeks ago the signs forecast a great German aerial incursion into Iraq, by way of neighboring French-mandated Syria. But the trickle of German warplanes and technicians remained just a trickle.

The latest report—from Cairo—was that these same warplanes were flying out of Iraq.

For the last 12 days the Germans, and more recently the Italians, have been preoccupied with the conquest of Crete. In Iraq, British troops, already there by treaty with Rashid Ali's predecessors in power, mopped up the Iraq forces.

The biggest crumb of comfort—if any—falling to the British from the battle of Crete is that the die-hard defense of that strategic Greek island, besides costing the Germans heavily in man and planes, may have saved British positions in Iraq.

That land of forbidding desert and scrub country, as rich in Biblical lore as in coveted oil, is a path to the Suez Canal.

The problem of defending it now is principally one of swift pacification of native forces and solidification of defense lines before the luftwaffe, once it has had a breathing spell, can, as the military men

There were 186 traffic deaths, 46 drownings, 7 killed by trains and 40 by miscellaneous causes.

Study Fragments

Irish May Identify Bomber Raiders

By The Associated Press

DUBLIN — Authorities Saturday night preserved for future examination fragments of four bombs which unidentified warplanes dropped on this neutral capital early Saturday, leaving 27 persons known dead, 25 missing, and probably 200 injured.

The government declined, however, to speculate on the identity of the bombers in this third and worst attack Dublin has suffered. Unidentified planes killed three persons and injured 12 the night of January 2-3, and bombs again were dropped May 5 without causing casualties.

(Strongly suggesting the identity of the raiders, RAF headquarters at Belfast, in British-ruled Northern Ireland, announced that German planes crossed that territory during the night, but dropped no bombs.)

Bridges, Water Works Are Closely Watched Saturday

Excitement Seen In Mercedes, Aid Asked

McALLEN—An attitude of caution prevailed Saturday night in the Lower Rio Grande Valley after county, state and federal officers and special guards hired by companies operating international bridges had been warned of the possible danger of sabotage along the international boundary this weekend.

Mercedes Patrolled

A brief flurry of excitement resulted Friday night at Mercedes when county and state officers patrolled the city most of the night after receiving reports that saboteurs planned trouble in that vicinity. Hidalgo county sheriff's deputies, Texas Rangers and Texas highway patrolmen watched the city after Mercedes citizens reportedly transmitted directly to Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel some of the reports they had received. While the governor's office maintained Saturday that no such calls for assistance had been received from Mercedes, there was no denying the fact that officers moved quickly and in force Friday night to protect public utilities in the Mercedes area. At least eight state highway patrolmen in four scout cars, half a dozen deputy sheriffs and Texas Rangers participated in the patrol activity which lasted most of Friday night.

The Mercedes water district added an extra watchman at the Mercedes river pump, just west of the Rio Rico international bridge, an American customs officer remained on duty at the bridge itself throughout the night although they ordinarily leave the bridge when it closes at midnight and other officers checked the Willacy county pump east of the bridge.

Kahn Issues Warning

Anxiety for the numerous pumping plants along the Rio Grande, nearly all of which provide water for domestic as well as irrigation purposes in Valley cities, arose after the office of Assistant Customs Collector A. R. Kahn in Laredo warned Valley customs collectors of reports it had received of possible acts of sabotage directed against international bridges and pumping plants along the river. This warning was followed by announcement by Mayor

SKEETERBLITZ OPENS MONDAY

Federal Aid Is Given Cameron Unit

SAN BENITO — Mosquitoes in Cameron county are in for a wholesale depopulation Monday when a crew of 14 men armed with spray guns go into action to relievce residents of an itchy situation and in particular to control the malaria carrying insect.

Dr. Grady Deaton, head of the county health unit, under whose department the reorganized mosquito control project is directed, said Saturday that federal participation in the program officially begins Sunday.

This federal aid will add some $4,000 to the county's $5,800 budgeted for the cause and includes furnishing a truck, equipment, oil, gasoline and spray materials. The W.P.A. will also assist in the project about July 1.

Regular county crews of four men have been at work since May 15 under the direction of Jack Lewis but the control program has been seriously hampered by the heavy rains.

Beginning of this intensive control work is expected to end the touchy situation developed in the county among residents, officials and commissioners when the program was discontinued weeks ago by the county court.

Proponent of the project's reorganization was Commissioner Charles A. Morris of San Benito. Commissioners are reported to be exceedingly pleased with the new program as planned by Dr. Deaton and Joe Winston, county sanitary engineer. Particularly are officials elated over the federal aid which will assist in providing one of the most efficient mosquito control units in the state.

British Raid Toll More Than Fighting

LONDON—(AP)—Nearly twice as many Britons have been killed in bombing raids as in action against the Axis, figures issued by the government indicated Saturday.

The war so far has cost Britain fewer than 5,000 military casualties a month, it was announced, and the total killed in all three fighting services during the 21 months since the conflict began was 18,627.

Nation Is 'On Alert'

Defense Factories, Waterfronts Guarded Against Threats Of Holiday Sabotage

By The Associated Press

"All quiet" was the word Saturday from defense factory and waterfront, power plant and oil field, but watchful soldiers, police and civilians continued an alert patrol against any hint of the sabotage which an undercurrent of rumor had predicted for Memorial Day.

The guards were called to duty Friday at strategic centers throughout the nation, apparently as a result of telephoned warnings from the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington. But the only reported result was the arrest of a man caught crawling through a fence at an ordnance plant in Milan, Tenn.

Military officers did not comment on the source of orders for the alert, but civilian authorities in several communities said the FBI had recommended extraordinary vigilance during the holiday week-end. Many defense factories were closed for holiday period, but the patrols were not confined to such premises.

There were guards on the international bridge at Laredo, Texas; and the Delaware River bridge at Philadelphia; visitors were barred from the Lake Washington ship canal in Seattle; naval vessels augmented the harbor patrol at New London, Conn., and armed guards watched the Huntington Beach oil fields in Southern California.

Other strategic points where vigil was maintained included:

Aircraft factories in Southern California and the New York metropolitan area, oil storage depots in Jacksonville, Fla., and Corpus Christi, Tex.; the Baldwin Locomotive Works and the navy yard in Philadelphia; the navy submarine base and the Electric Boat Company at New London, Conn.; and waterfront areas in Port Arthur, Tex.; New York, Seattle, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Miami, Fla.

MEXICO HINTS U. S. WAR AID

May Join U. S. If Time Comes

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Asked if Mexico would follow the United States into a war against the Axis powers, President Availa Camacho said Saturday night it would "take whatever measures are necessary to assure its sons a future of honor and independence."

In the most comprehensive statement he has yet made on foreign policy, the president declared in answer to the question asked by Vicente Lombardo Toledano, head of the Confederation of Latin American Workers:

"The collaboration of Mexico and the United States is not the result of a military alliance but of a regional understanding of a defense nature. Thus, if the government of the United States should declare war on any Asiatic or European power, this fact alone would not oblige Mexico to adopt, automatically, a like attitude.

"But it would be a mistake to think that in the present state of things the destiny of one of the American nations could remain iso-

JERSEY CITY FLAMES RAGE

$25,000,000 Defense Goods Threatened

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(AP)—The U. S. Coast Guard said Saturday night that at 9:20 p.m. (EST (8:20 CST) a spectacular fire in the Erie railroad yards on the Hudson River waterfront had been brought under control after sweeping through two grain elevators and causing heavy damage to a warehouse, railroad equipment and piers during its four-hour rampage.

JERSEY CITY—(AP)—A spectacular fire that sent huge clouds of smoke billowing over the New York metropolitan area raged unchecked Saturday night through the huge yards of the Erie Railroad on the Hudson river waterfront.

Flames that shot 400 feet into the sky roared through two eight-story filled grain elevators, baked the outer walls of a seven-story brick warehouse and ignited several piers and tied-up barges. The fire then swept north into the Erie ferry terminal which connects with midtown Manhattan. A moderately strong south wind shifted later and apparently limited damage to part of the wooden structure.

Warehouse Aflame

The fire next broke into the lower three stories of the seven-floor Mid-Hudson warehouse, filled with what police said were defense orders of grain, oil and rubber. A policeman said merchandise in the building was valued at $25,000,000.

At least two men were injured. Fire Captain Leo Duffy was treated for heat prostration and P. C. Hannon, president of the Carscallen and Cassidy Grain Company, received finger burns when he and Police Sgt. Mark Fallon ran into one of the grain elevators and raced to the top floor where they got company funds from a safe.

The other elevator was owned

Topic Of Lengthy FDR-Winant 'Phone Talk Not Revealed

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—President Roosevelt had a long telephone conservation Saturday with Ambassador John G. Winant, but there was no inkling of what they discussed.

The temporary White House said Winant would spend the next two days compiling a report and "checking on certain information he must obtain over here," then see Mr. Roosevelt in Washington Tuesday.

The ambassador, who returned Friday from his post in London, presumably will give the chief executive a detailed account of current conditions in Britain and the British attitude toward the war. Whether he brought with him any confidential information from the British government was not disclosed.

White House Spikes New Bureau Rumors

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—The temporary White House said Saturday "it is not true" that President Roosevelt had ordered creation of an Office of Transportation and thereby wiped out the last remnant of the old national defense commission.

Asked whether Mr. Roosevelt had inferred that he did not intend to create such an office, Secretary William D. Hassett replied in the negative, but said he had not inquired about that angle.

BELIN —(AP)— German desert artillery has blown up a big British munitions dump in the beleaguered garrison of Tobruk, Libya, the high command announced Saturday.

The Germans also repulsed an attempt by the British to break out of the garrison, it was claimed.

German Stukas and fighter planes, with Italian bombers, also assaulted Tobruk, machine-gunned British troop concentrations in the Egyptian desert and bombed oil deposits, the high command said.

Model Plane Notes

By GARVER MURRAY

Well, school is out and now we can get down to some real flying again, that is if the weather gives us a break. Get those motors tuned and be sure your batteries are new, and come on out to the airport here this afternoon around 2 o'clock, and we will see what we can do to start the season off—with a crash!

I have heard from almost all the gang up and down the line, and they are all going to be here.

Jimmy Jolly of San Benito has rebuilt his plane and reports that it sure has the old wanderlust—lost it the other day, for about six hours. Scotty Bowlin of Harlingen lost his plane last Sunday, but it turned up about a mile north of the Stuart school—some flight, for so early in the morning.

* * *

Earl Gibby writes that he might have to work but that he will notify all the gang there in Weslaco—also gave us a nice spot on the air, over KRGV—Thanks Earl. M. A. Tennison Jr. has been slightly under the weather since he broke his finger and then got it infected.

Jimmy Younkin from McAllen has been down for the last few days and has a Gull all ready to go for the rubber-powered event.

Wayne Cole missed out on the last few days of school, by getting down with a slight case of pneumonia, but since school is out, he is feeling fine. He will have his class A job ready, I hope, and should have his Baby Shark ready before long. His running mate, John Maltby, is on his way to Oklahoma and points north. (He took his plane along though.) We have a new modeler or so around Harlingen, and from the fine work they are doing on scale jobs, it won't be long before they are out there with a big contest job.

Bo Scott is even getting the bug again, and although he won't have a ship out today, he will have a new job ready before long—maybe a Buzzard? I have just about got my ships back together again, and hope to have Gene going.

* * *

I had a nice letter from our old friend Jim Thomas. He was over in Memphis at the time of writing, and said that in all his travels, since leaving here, he hadn't seen a model meet yet. He was in Fort Smith, Ark., the day after their big meet there, and just missed seeing Sadler and Thomas, the designers of the Peacemaker, and other fine flying planes. He also missed out on Tulsa, Oklahoma's, big contest by about three hundred miles, but that doesn't seem to bother him as much as not hearing anything from the gang down here. He still claims that he likes his new job, though.

Leo Savage, up Raymondville way, is getting his plane and motor ready again—I have often wondered if his cousin ever found the plane that he lost over around Lyford? We are liable to have Snow with us this afternoon. (He lives over at Santa Rosa) and he keeps his dad busy getting supplies for him. I understand he has a Comet Gull about ready to test—just needs about 60 feet of rubber.

* * *

Rather surprised the other day to receive a card from Phil Atteberry. I thought he had flown the Valley, but sure enough he is still alive and ready to get back to his Madam Butterfly—also reports that he is building a new six-foot job—you all know Phil's big jobs? He said that quite a few of his gang were still going strong, and that they were just waiting for a get-together so that they could show the rest of the gang up. Hal Tom is still building his Spook. ((No fooling that's what Phil said anyway). I guess I could write a continued story about that.

Well, you guys better come out ready to fly, because after you check-in, and your motor don't run or anything else comes up, it's just going to be too bad—no refunds! Don't be a whiner—but try to be a winner! Adios.

by the Erie. Hannon said both were almost completely destroyed He would not estimate his company's loss. The company elevator was filled with corn and other feed grains.

Trains Wet Down

Harried railroad crews hastily wet down long strings of passenger and freight cars on sidings.

Fifteen freight cars, loaded with general merchandise, including automobiles, were reported destroyed. The Erie suspended ferry service to New York at 5 p. m., soon after the fire started at the foot of Sixth street. It swept five city blocks along the waterfront to Pavonia avenue.

Firemen said they were handicapped in fighting the blaze because it was low tide, and they had to move their pumping lines further out in the river.

Police Inspector Walter Ciecuch said it was Jersey City's biggest fire since a warehouse fire in 1917.

"Geographically, historically and logically we form a democratic unit which the dictatorial forces are, undoubtedly, going to try to disrupt in order to obtain a victory which would imply sooner or later the disappearance of the postulates on which our existence as free and sovereign peoples are based.

"Only those countries which know how to assume in time, and courageously, the corresponding political responsibilities will save themselves from the totalitarian wreckage.

Carol, Lupescu Now Arrived In Havana After Long Flight

HAVANA — (AP) — Former King Carol of Rumania and Mme. Elena Lupescu were ensconced temporarily Saturday in a $540-a-month hotel suite at the end of an eight-month flight from the German-controlled homeland.

Hundreds of persons applauded as 47-year-old Carol, Mme. Lupescu and Ernest Urdareanu, the ex-king's faithful aide, landed Friday.

Carol's flight carried him and Mme. Lupescu to Spain, where they were virtual prisoners for a time. Eventually, they eluded guards, reached Portugal by automobile and took a ship from Lisbon to Bermuda. There, they boarded the ship which brought them here.

British To Resume Oil Sales To Siam

SINGAPORE —(AP)— British and Thai (Siamese) representatives arranged Saturday for at least partial resumption of petroleum sales to Thailand by British and, possibly, United States oil companies after a lapse of almost two years.

Shell, Standard Oil and Texaco had withdrawn from the Thailand market because of the stringency of the Kingdom's oil control regulations.

DALLAS —(AP)— Rep. Martin Dies told the National Oil Scouts and Landmen's Association Saturday that it was his fight against federal oil control that prevented the Cole bill passing in the House.

ARMISTICE IN IRAQ SIGNED

Nazis Rush Belated Aid To Ally

say, stage another "vertical envelopment" or before Germany can establish a land army in Iraq.

The future of the Suez Canal lifeline link, of the Alexandria naval base, of Britain's remaining naval power in the eastern Mediterranean, may depend on how fast and how well Britain can consolidate her Iraq and adjoining middle east positions.

The Axis foothold on Crete—the Nazis have called it an unsinkable aircraft carrier—is a stern challenge to the British fleet and the whole framework of British power in the Middle East. It is two hours by air from Suez—the same for Alexandria.

Crete is a potential stepping stone to Italian North Africa, being 200 miles from Libya. If the luftwaffe can control the air Britain may be compelled to rely on submarines and planes alone to keep heavy reinforcements from Axis forces in Libya and Egypt where, on the other flank, they threaten Alexandria and Suez. Britain lost heavily in surface ships in the defense of Crete.

Within Nazi Range

All three of Britain's now pivotal Mediterranean bases, Malta, Cyprus and Alexandria, are within easy luftwaffe range. Gibraltar, itself the target of an incipient threat from Spain or Spanish Morocco, does not figure immediately in the eastern Mediterranean situation. It would figure, however, once attacked, for it guards the western entrance to that land-locked sea.

As though feeling each other out for the aerial struggle to come, large German and British formations tangled yesterday over the Eastern Mediterranean. Two Heinkels plunged into the sea in this battle and, the RAF reported, "many" others were so badly damaged they probably didn't make home base.

British observers who like to call the resistance at Crete a diversion of Germany's Drang Nach Osten (march to the east), said in summary that it permitted:

1. Liquidation of the Iraq warfare.
2. Virtual windup of the Ethiopian campaign.
3. Tightened preparations to meet the Axis threat from Egypt's western desert and Libya.
4. Rest, reorganization and re-equipment of British Imperial Forces evacuated from Greece.

Turkey, still a paper ally of the British, or French-mandated Syria, or both, seemed to be in the middle of the Axis squeeze on Suez. When Germany gets ready to move, there undoubtedly will be pressure on Syria and perhaps Turkey for land right-of-way.

Full German use of Syria as a gateway to the Middle East likely would smash completely the already strained relations between Britain and Vichy, France.

Strain Heightened

From the French side the strain was heightened by reports of three bombing attacks by the British on the Tunisian harbor of Sfax, in French North Africa. The British ostensibly were attacking Italian ships but French ships also have been hit.

France's No. 2 man, Admiral Darlan, an old seadog who will never forget the pasting the British gave the French navy last June at Oran after the French surrender, followed up these reports by calling Britain a pirate.

Vice Premier Darlan, ranging himself on the German side, asserted that "even in the improbable case of British victory" or in "a triumphant Anglo-Saxon world, France would be only a dominion of second order."

". . . I intend to act in such a way that France retakes her place as a power in Europe and the world. That means she must participate in construction of the new order."

France Near Famine

He said the British blockade was driving France to famine while the British, in "a war of piracy" had taken 143 French ships to replace her own tonnage losses. These things, Darlan laid before an assembly of editors from the occupied zone before he returned to Vichy from Paris and the latest of his collaboration visits.

The total of known dead in a raid on Dublin early Saturday reached 22, while 30 were reported missing and possibly as many as 200 more suffered injuries. Prime Minister Eamon de Valera visited the damaged zones and authorities took away bomb fragments for examination without commenting on the possible identity of the bombing planes.

The Japanese press launched a new and vigorous attack on United States foreign policy, charging that the United States was influencing the Netherlands governmnt in connection with the Netherlands East Indies trade.

There's A Bit Of Rembrandt In Us All, Says Artist Who Forced Negro To Paint

By NORMAN WALKER
AP Feature Service

BATON ROUGE, La. — A conviction that in everyone lies latent a natural artistic flair prompted an advanced art student at Louisiana State University into undertaking an experiment.

Its success has 23-year-old Howard Mitchem thinking about tossing away his own brushes and turning to teaching.

One evening the Vicksburg youth, stone deaf, by the way, tired of completing canvasses. A Negro janitor, sweeping up after an untidy sculpture class, suddenly found Mitchem offering him a scrap of canvas, some tubes of colors and a brush.

Art Begins At Home

"Here, go home and paint me a picture," Mitchem commanded, and stalked off. The Negro, Felton Coleman, brought his materials home to a puzzled wife and children. But he went to work and soon brought back a picture, his own cabin done in brilliant colors.

Ever since then Coleman has spent his evenings painting at home by the light of a kerosene lamp. Intent neighbors crowd at his elbow.

Less than a year after he began, Coleman's brightly-colored and strongly composed "Baptism" appeared by invitation at the annual exhibition of Louisiana artists at the capital.

Uses Dime Store Paints

"Coleman can be the greatest artist of his race, at least in the south" Mitchem predicts taking up his favorite subject—hidden talents.

"It's a pity the opportunities to learn are not in the reach of more of his people. They all have talent. Painting gives them a way to express themselves. And they've got a great deal to say."

Felton Coleman, Negro janitor at Louisiana State University art school, was ordered to paint by Howard Mitchem, advanced art student. Coleman did, surprisingly well.

TOKYO — (AP) — The influential newspaper Chugai Saturday backed up Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka's pledge that Japan would fulfill her Axis alliance obligations to Germany, but urged better relations with the United States.

"We believe the United States wants world peace," an editorial commented.

"If this is the case, the United States should cooperate with Japan. We believe the most urgent thing at this moment is a readjustment of United States-Japanese relations."

Nazi Raider Battle Cost Fleet 25 Men

LONDON — (AP) — British naval losses in the engagement which resulted in the sinking of the German battleship Bismarck total 25 killed and 13 wounded in addition to the 1,300 or more who went down with the battle cruiser Hood, the admiralty said Saturday.

Dispatches from Reykjavik, Iceland, were they were landed, identified these survivors, as Midshipman Dundas, Signalman Briggs and Seaman Tilburn.

VALLEY SET FOR SABOTAGE

Hugh Cluck of Laredo that he had been informed of a possible attempt to "blow up" the Laredo international bridge. At that bridge, special searchlights were set up to illuminate the bridge from end to end. extra guards were placed on the bridge to watch loiterers and to check suspicious-appearing automobiles and watchers were stationed along the banks of the river. Mexican soldiers patrolled the south side of the Rio Grande there.

Here in the Valley, special guards watched the Brownsville and Hidalgo-Reynosa international bridges, keeping all traffic moving steadily, both pedestrian and vehicular. Customs officers at both bridges kept an eye on the spans in addition to their regular duties. The Rio Rico bridge was also being watched to prevent any untoward incident.

Mexican Soldiers Watch

Mexican soldiers patrolled the south side of the river in the Matamoros area, opposite Brownsville, as in the Laredo area. No reports of similar patrols had been received from the Hidalgo bridge, and it was said reliably that no soldiers had been on duty there.

Valley Bridge Co. employes, operating the Hidalgo-Reynosa span, said the company usually kept a nightwatchman on duty when the river was up, but that there were no special guards on the bridge.

Chief Deputy Sheriff E. E. Vickers at Edinburg said he knew of no reason far particular alarm, but that the sheriff's office was "taking no chances in view of the national emergency." He said the office had discussed with water district officials "several times in the past" the vulnerability of pumping plants which provide Valley cities with water and that the office had offered its assistance in guarding the properties to any who might desire those services. He said no assistance had been asked until the Mercedes call of Friday night and that nothing developed there although the department took precautionary measures.

Several Upper Valley water districts had their watchmen and employes who live near the pumping plants on the alert for any disturbance. Few, if any, of the big plants were operating because the recent heavy rains had made irrigation unnecessary.

With the exception of the captain, the officers and crew were forced to remain aboard the ship 60 hours while it was tied up at Lisbon. 3. Balancing of refining operations to obtain: maximum yields of specific products, most economical use of raw materials, and efficient production and distribution.

4. Elimination of the drilling of unnecessary wells in proven fields and of "other unnecessary activities and equipment.

Up To Government

Ickes' recommendations are to be submitted to federal agencies—particularly the Office of Production Management and the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, to state officials, and to "any appropriate industry or party thereof."

White House officials, declined in the absence of a legal opinion, to discuss the question of whether or not Ickes had power to enforce any recommendations he makes.

OIL LEADERS PLEDGE FULL CO-OPERATION

TULSA, Okla.— (AP) —Statements from leaders indicated Saturday night that Secretary Ickes, the new petroleum co-ordinator for national defense, would have full co-operation from the $10,000,000,000 oil industry in the effort to adjust petroleum supplies to the nation's needs.

It was generally agreed that a transportation bottleneck caused by a recent transfer of oil tankers to Britain brought about the Ickes appointment. Oil men contend that the industry can supply any conceivablea demand for its products, even in wartime.

"This is an emergency action," said Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, "and is taken with the apparent intent of insuring that no friction or lack of co-ordination will be permitted to stop the flow of this important commodity to its most needed point of consumption.

"For this emergency, co-operation would seem essential and every agency in the oil producing states and the industry will no doubt respond to this situation now confronting us. The president will find the petroleum industry ready."

Oil leaders here privately expressed disappointment but withheld formal comment pending a study of what effect the appointment will have on the operation of the industry.

WINANT MAY PROVE TO BE FDR COURIER

Secret Information May Be Mission

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Informed Washington opinion is that Ambassador John G. Winant's hurried visit to this country is not so much for the purpose of bringing information to President Roosevelt, as of carrying highly important and secret information back to London.

The timing of his visit would suggest that such was the case. It follows immediately upon Mr. Roosevelt's Tuesday night speech, an address which stated American policy toward England and the war in positive terms and spoke vigorously but mysteriously of new measures to be attempted upon the Atlantic.

At a press conference the next day, the chief executive made it more than clear that he considers his plans for assuring the safe delivery of American supplies to England a military secret of the most important character. When asked what he proposed to do, he told a reporter that that was what Adolf Hitler would most like to know.

Now, it is hardly unusual for ambassadors to act as messenger boys, particularly in times of crisis. In days such as these there naturally must be exchanges of information so confidential in nature, and so valuable to Germany, should the Nazis by any chance obtain, it that it cannot be entrusted to coded cables or diplomatic mail pouches.

Sidewalk Symphony Packs Streets

High Tone Music Comes Down To Sidewalk Level In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY— (AP) —High tone music came down to the sidewalk level Saturday night with the Oklahoma State Symphony Orchestra scheduled to perform before a first night throng clad in slacks and overalls.

When Conductor Victor Allessandro steps to the podium he will be pursued by spot and flood light, just as though he were in some big auditorium instead of in a downtown street.

In order not to scare away too many customers for the novel concert, the orchestra went rather easy on the classics and let the public pick much of its own program.

When the sidewalk symphony was announced recently, sponsors were besieged with telephoned requests for favorite numbers. The public also was invited to come dressed in ordinary clothes, slacks, overalls, or anything else handy and comfortable of a warm evening.

Mrs. Roland Wright, president of the Oklahoma State Symphony Society, said the informal appearance would afford the general public a chance to hear symphonic music without cost and without depending on the radio.

The program offered such popular numbers as Tales From the Vienna Woods, The Blue Danube, Rhapsody in Blue, Stars and Stripes Forever, and God Bless America.

The orchestra is sponsored by the Oklahoma State Symphony Society with the help of the WPA. It has been giving formal concerts in the regular symphony tradition for some time.

Texas Senate Races Reach Name-Calling

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff

Substantial evidence that the senatorial campaign was approaching the bare-knuckles stage cropped up in week-end speeches by several top-flight candidates among the field of 29 aspiring to the seat left vacant by the death of Morris Sheppard.

With four weeks remaining before the June 28 special election, there was still plenty of time for name-calling. Thusfar the campaign has jogged along on an extra-ordinarily high plane, virtually devoid of personalities.

Very few doubted that Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's intensive week of radio "pre-campaigning," prior to his first open-air rally at Waco Monday night, was in a large part responsible for these first mutterings.

Lyndon Johnson, speaking at Corsicana Friday night, referred directly to the governor.

Hints At Change

"How many of you ever heard the governor say he'd fight for Roosevelt, before he asked to go to Washington?" He said at the Navarro county rally.

"Was the Texas governor the only Democratic governor in all the United States who, not one time, but several times, refused to speak a word for Franklin D. Roosevelt when he was under attack last September?"

Gerald Mann drew in the governor and at least two of his opponents when he said at Greenville.

"The office of congressman is a defense post. Those congressmen who are closest to and most trusted by the President should be at his side now. . . .

"The office of governor is at this time in a large degree a defense office. A week ago last Monday night the governor publicly enumerated the many functions he has performed in aiding the national defense program."

Just "Law Office"

Then, after saying everyone who has a place important to the defense program should not leave it, he expressed the opinion the office of attorney general is not a defense office "but simply the state's law office," and added:

"I was the first candidate in this race for the United States Senate. I am the first candidate in this race tonight and I shall still be the first candidate when the votes are counted June 28."

Martin Dies told a Waco audience he was for Roosevelt's aid to Britain and defense programs, adding: "but I don't agree with him 100 per cent on everything."

"The man you elect to the Senate will go to the second highest place in the nation," he went on. "You wouldn't want a man in the Senate who would 'yes' the President all the time. . . .

Boasts Of Experience

"Many of you have sons in uniform. What would you think if the captain who led them was a man of no military experience, who depended on a hillbilly band to get his position?"

Both Mann and Johnson were guests of honor at Athens' old fiddlers' contest, but stayed away from politics in their speeches. Mann gave a detailed history of the stringed instrument that was so much in evidence at the East Texas Fiddle Festival.

Names of the 29 candidates, including two Republicans, one independent and one Communist, were certified to county clerks for printing on the official ballot. It was one of the largest fields ever to enter the lists for one job in Texas' political lists.

Oldtimer In Valley Still Clings To Bonanza Hope

MERCEDES — West Texans are widely known for their optimistic spirit but Valley people excell them in extolling the good points of this fertile section and in clinging to the eternal hope of a future bonanza, in the opinion of H. W. Austin, veteran Fort Worth attorney. Valley landowner since 1913 and a former assistant general claim agent of the Wabash Railroad, who is spending several days in the Valley looking after his property.

Austin, who pioneered Valley development during the four turbulent years from 1913 to 1917, himself has an abiding faith in the future potentialities of this young economic giant who has not as yet "become of age." It is just a matter of time until the right kind of leadership and management will be developed to put this area on the economic pedestal on which it belongs, he points out.

Leadership 'Within'

This leadership, he believes, must come from within—it must spring from the desire of Valley farmers to co-operate out of their own free will in an effective system of marketing their products. Incidentally Austin was one of the keynoters in organizing the first marketing system in the Valley; the unit marketing system which probably only a very few of the oldest residents recall. That was before the "citrus area" when vegetables were the sole crop in this section. The unit marketing system was a Valley-wide cooperative with approximately 60 per cent of the farmers as members and with a director in every community. All sales were handled by the manager of the association to whom farmers reported whenever they had some produce for sale.

Austin recalls that this system worked successfully for several years. He has been a landowner in the Santa Maria section ever since he landed in the Valley 28 years ago after resigning his lucrative position with the Wabash Railroad. He landed at Brownsville at 10:30 p. m. on December 31, 1912 and arrived at Santa Maria the next morning in time to eat the first dinner served in the new Santa Maria hotel, erected at that time as one of the leading Valley hostelries. "Forty six passes, on which I had been traveling for many years throughout the United States, expired that morning," he recalls.

Travelled Million Miles

During his fifteen years as assistant general claim agent for the Wabash Railway he traveled approximately a million miles and worked in every state of the Union except Maine. "Of all the places in the United States, I chose the Valley as the land of greatest opportunity," he says. "I still believe I was right even if the highest bid of four dollars a ton for grapefruit, offered me on my crop this year, is not much of an inspiration to my faith," he added. He is pinning his faith to the day when the great wealth of these alluvial lowlands will be properly harnessed through an effective marketing system. "That day will come!" he firmly believes in spite of his knowledge of the high rate of abortion of the many attempts to organize effective marketing agreements in the Valley.

Austin took a prominent part in Valley affairs during the "bandit era" and possesses much valuable information of the many incidents during this turbulent epoch. He is the brother-in-law of Mrs. J. M. Reynolds of Mercedes at whose home he is visiting during his stay in the Valley.

HESS' FRIEND IS ARRESTED

Gen. Haushofer Felt Nazis In Danger

NEW YORK —(AP)— The arrest of Major-General Haushofer, the Munich professor who has been a close adviser of Adolf Hitler in the war, has been confirmed in reports reaching London, the British radio said Saturday.

In a broadcast heard here by CBS, the BBC said Haushofer's scheduled lecture May 24 at Strasbourg had been cancelled, and that in recent editions of a magazine he edited he made veiling references to the dangers which are threatening Germany in the east.

"General Haushofer," the radio said, "who was introduced to Hitler in 1922 by Rudolf Hess, has been until very recently the closest adviser of the Fuehrer in questions of geo-policy. Rudolf Hess, who is now prisoner of war in Great Britain, had shared Haushofer's fears for the future of Germany."

Dad Shoots Son

Late Dater Fails To Sneak In House

CHICAGO—(AP)—A father mistook his 19-year-old son for a prowler and seriously wounded the youth, Policeman James Aman said as he stole into his home early Saturday to avoid awakening his family.

"It's not your fault dad," Richard Aman, a Northwestern University sophomore, said as he collapsed in his father's arms, with three bullet wounds, one near the heart.

Officer Aman, a brother of the youth's father, Al Aman, said Richard had been scolded for staying out late nights and had gone to his sleeping porch by walking along a second floor ledge and removing a screen.

The father heard the noise, the officer said, and shouted a challenge toward a shadow on the porch. When there was no answer, Officer Aman said, his brother fired thrice.

Former Valley Boy Has One Of Two Highest Grade Records At College

McALLEN—High honors were accorded a former McAllen resident, George Taylor, who graduated last week from the Southwest Texas State Teachers College with the one of the two highest scholastic ratings ever made by students in the 37-year history of the institution.

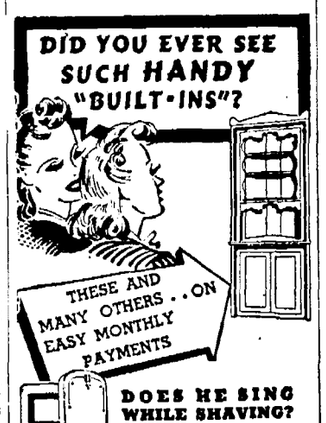

Young Taylor, a graduate of McAllen high school in 1937 and brother of Mr. and Mrs. Lee W. Taylor, of McAllen, with whom he made his home, held an almost perfect A and A-plus record for subjects studied during his four years of college. One B grade in his sophomore year kept his scholastic record from being unbeatable.

Nor did Taylor spend all his time studying to acquire the enviable record. A major in Spanish, he was editor of the Star, college paper in 1939 and 1940; sports editor for two years; president of the Press Club; president of the Pi Kappa Delta; president of the Jeffersonian Club; held membership in the Alpha Chi and Y.M.C.A.; publicity director of the Star, 1940 and 1941; listed in "Who's Who in U. S. Colleges" for 1940 and 1941; and chosen at graduation as a member of the National Scholastic Society for college students.

His college scholastic record was a follow-up from high school days when Taylor graduated with highest honors in his class.

Taylor plans to enter government service as a Spanish translator or interpreter.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Taylor, Joe Taylor and Robert Cameron, all of McAllen, went to San Marcos to attend graduation exercises.

BRITISH METE OUT CLOTHES

Wearing Apparel To Be Rationed Now

LONDON —(AP)— The Board of Trade Saturday night announced rationing of almost all clothing, starting immediately.

The plan, prepared secretly, authorizes 66 coupons yearly for everyone and, as with wartime food dispensations, no traffic in coupons will be contenanced.

The new restrictions apply to clothing, cloth, footwear and knitting wool. Hats and infant clothing are the only exceptions.

Irrespective of the price of any article specified, coupons are required for its purchase. The most expensive gown from the most exclusive west end salon or the cheapest frock from the most humble east end shop require the same number of coupons.

The same rules apply also to the clothing of men, boys and girls. There is no distinction between the duds of duke and dockworker.

SAVING BONDS HIT NEW HIGH

First Month's Sales Hit $500,000,000

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Treasury officials estimated Saturday that the first month's sales of the new defense savings bonds would exceed $500,000,000 and sent the federal debt to an all-time high of approximately $48,500,000,000.

Actual receipts from the savings campaign in the first 24 days since it began May 1 totaled $347,861,000.

Actual receipts from the savings campaign in the first 24 days since it began May 1 totaled 347,861,000, but the final week was expected to bring in the heaviest subscriptions of the month.

Officials pointed out that many managers of trust funds waited until the end of the month to buy because interest on the bonds starts on the first day of the month in which they are bought, even though the purchase is actually made on the last day of the month.

These officials said the $500,000,000 figure would be highly pleasing to them and recalled that earlier Secretary Morgenthau said $300,000,000 would be adequate for this month.

RAIDER'S END DEFEAT OMEN?

Jutland Parallel Is Seen In Bismarck

Alexander spoke in Edinburgh. He referred to the battle of Crete as a grievous test of British sea power.

"Once more," he said, "it has fallen to the lot of the Royal Navy to conduct operations under almost overwhelming attacks from the air, from which it has not flinched.

"Our losses of ships, and damage, have been grievous and severe, but in the present great Crete battle the Royal Navy would not let the army down."

Illustrates How CPL Electric Network Can Be Instantly Mobilized for Defense

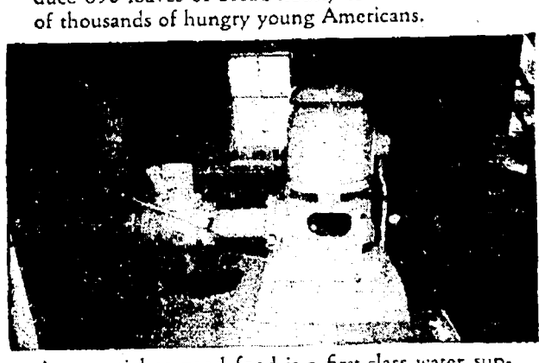

THROUGH the great network of electric lines bringing power from CPL's big central generating stations, Camp Hulen — typical of the larger Army training centers—has been served without the slightest delay. CPL's plants, highline system and organization were big enough and skilled enough to do the job! Almost anywhere in South and Southwest Texas that the Government wishes to locate an Army post, a landing field, a naval base or training station, there is ample low-cost CPL power to speed defense!

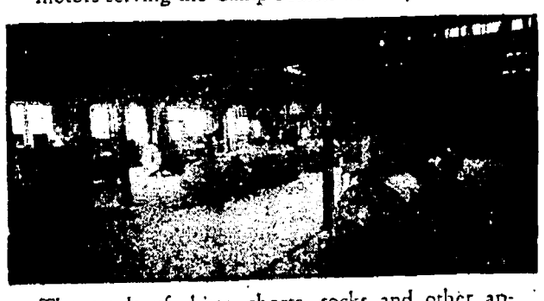

This tented city is lighted by CPL current enabling soldiers to read their Manuals of Arms, write letters or indulge in recreation with the convenience of home.

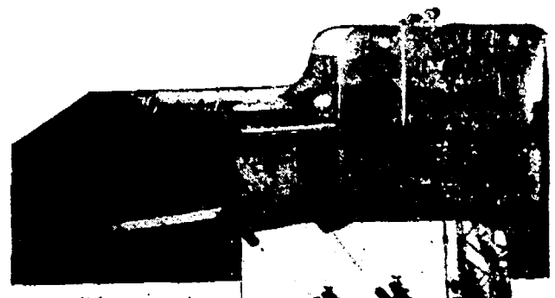

These electrically controlled baking ovens can produce 850 loaves of bread hourly to load the tables of thousands of hungry young Americans.

Thousands of shirts, shorts, socks and other apparel must go through the camp laundry daily. Electric machines make sanitation a much simpler task.

Washing dishes ten times cleaner and faster than could be done by hand, this electric dishwasher insures utmost cleanliness in the kitchen and dining room.

HIDALGO WILL RENEW STUDY OF DRAINAGE

Commissioners Hear Engineer Report

EDINBURG — Hidalgo county's farm drainage problem—accentuated by the fact that hundreds of acres of land are still under water or are still affected by faulty drainage from two heavy rains in May—will move back into the limelight Tuesday when the county commissioners meet.

Having decided to send a delegation to Washington to seek a federal loan or grant to finance erection of new drainage structures, the board will hear a report from County Engineer H. P. Griffin of McAllen on recommendations for the structures and his cost estimates on them. A meeting of the commission last week asked Griffin to speed his work on the proposal, anl he indicated he might have time to organize a definite report by the coming week.

County Judge J. C. Looney said Saturday that nothing toward naming the Washington delegation has been done. The subject may be taken up Tuesday.

Courthouse circles, however, mentioned the name of County Auditor B. F. McKee, who holds Hidalgo's financial reins, as a probable member of the group. Legal and engineering advisors will also probably make the trip.

The county will seek financial aid from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Public Works agency, the Work Projects administration and any other offices which indicate an interest in the county's drainage needs.

It was believed here that the U. S. Public Health service's attention had already been called to the Valley's need of relief from mosquito infestations, which followed the drainage of water into scores of low spots on farms, where the insects have hatched out by the millions. The health service and the state department of health late last week announced that they would finance mosquito control programs in both Hidalgo and Cameron counties. The work will get under way next week.

Pan American Program Of Good Will Provides At Least One Lassie From Honduras 9 Months Of School In U. S.

BROWNSVILLE—In these times of promoting better good will between the American Republics every little bit helps, and the reward of one source was revealed here when Miss Isabel Guillen, 23-year-old college student from San Pedro Sula, Honduras, paused at Brownsville airport on her way home from schooling in Alabama.

Miss Guillen applied for one of Pan American Airways System Travel Fellowships last year and was "lucky enough" to win one of them. She chose Alabama College at Montevallo, Ala., and passed through Brownsville last August on her way to a free nine-month education.

She studied hard for the nine months she was there, majoring in education and music and art. She hopes to secure a position of teaching in one of the schools in Honduras. She attended elementary schools in Honduras and graduated from the Central Institute for Women in Teguicigalpa, Honduras.

Miss Guillen thinks the American schools are great and "wish I could attend longer, but I must get a job now."

She plans to spend several days in Mexico City before continuing to Tegucigalpa on PAA's line and then on to her home. She left Brownsville at 9 a.m. Friday for Mexico. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Guillen of San Pedro Sula, Honduras, and "is plenty glad to be going back to see them after nine months."

Simultaneously Dr. Wickenden disclosed he had resigned a month ago as chairman of the general production group of OPM's priorities division, a job to which he was called in February. He explained he took the post after agreeing with Case School trustees that he would devote only a limited amount of time to it.

NEW SOYBEAN CROPS URGED

Farmers View Results Of Experiments

EDINBURG—Efforts to introduce the soybean as a commercial and feed crop in the Rio Grande Valley will probably be made on a large scale next fall, Hidalgo County Farm Agent J. A. Oswalt said Saturday.

Oswalt reported on results of a soybean and tomato demonstration which attracted more than 100 Valley growers to the state experiment station at Weslaco Friday. W. H. Friend, superintendent of the station, was in charge of the program.

Several different varieties of tomatoes, all tested over a period of several weeks at the station, were exhibited. Complete tabulations showed their growing progress, yields and adaptability to Valley soil.

The soybean exhibit attracted most attention, said Oswalt.

A number of different types were shown, but three classes were in prominence. One of these is the commercial, or oil, variety from which soybean oil and meal for stock feed are obtained. A second class is the dual type, which is used for bean oil or for hay, also fed to stock. The third type is the kind of soybean edible among humans. The beans can be cooked or eaten dry in a number of ways.

The February soybean crop report of the experiment station was cited by Oswalt to show the value of the crop. Yields ranging from 8.7 to 13.5 bushels of dry beans per acre were obtained from the plats planted at the Weslaco station. The station used 36-inch rows, however, and Oswalt said 18-inch rows would probably double the production per acre without presenting any cultivation difficulties.

The middle of September will probably be recommended as the best time for fall soybean plantings in the Valley. On spring crops the best time is in February.

A possible market for soybeans, especially the oil type, is foreseen at cotton oil mills now operating in this section. One mill at Harlingen has already stocked a large amount of beans for next fall's plantings, Oswalt reported.

The commercial value of the type suitable for human consumption has been demonstrated, the farm agent explained, by the army's adoption of a soybean concentrate for aviators and tank drivers. The food appears to give the human body needed vitamins for heavy physical work.

Citrus Season's Rail Cars Hit 5-Year Low; Trucks Up

WESLACO—Carlot shipments of Valley citrus fruits were the lowest in five years during the season just closed but truck shipments showed a corresponding increase, it is shown in the season summary just issued by R. E. Winfrey, local representative of the Federal-State Market News Service.

There were only 8,335 carlots of grapefruit shipped by rail during the season just closed as compared to 11,205 last season, 14,636 during the 1938-39 season, 12,301 during the 1937-38 season and 13,887 during the 1936-37 season. Orange shipments by rail for corresponding seasons were 804, 873, 1,159, 834 and 1,751 cars respectively and mixed citrus 575, 902, 1,511, 1,004 and 1,849.

There were three cars of lemons shipped during the past season compared to two last season, eight cars two seasons ago, three cars three seasons ago and none four seasons ago.

Tangerines set a new record with four solid cars compared to none last season, two cars two seasons ago and one car three seasons ago.

The percentage of truck shipments was noticeably greater the first half of the current season than in past years. Through January 1, the truck movement for all types of citrus exceeded the rail and boat shipments by 870 cars, the truck figures totalling 6,288 and the rail 4,417 cars.

In 1939-40, the rail shipments to January 1 were 5,669 or 1,011 cars more than the 4,658 cars that had moved by truck to that date.

The 1940-41 truck shipments continued heavy until on February 16, the railroads serving this territory reduced their rates on Texas to most midwestern markets so that they were about equal to the prevailing truck rates to the various cities. This resulted in some proportional increases in the rail loadings but at the end of the season the truck figures were just a little more than 400 cars greater than rail shipments.

Boat shipments were light, consisting of only one forwarding from Valley ports that took out 57 cars of grapefruit and two of oranges compared to a total of 529 cars by boat in 1939-40 and 599 cars in 1938-39.

Prices received for Texas grapefruit that sold over the ten auction markets were some lower than those received in 1939-40. During the period that the auctions were reported to the Weslaco office, there were sales reported on 697,137 boxes of white fruit of various grades averaging $1.79 per box. The total number of boxes of pink fruit sold was 481,375 boxes which averaged $2.30. The 1,115,512 boxes of white and pink fruit combined averaged $1.98 per box which compared with the 1939-40 sales of 1,438,262 boxes at $2.10.

There were 100,489 boxes of oranges sold at auction at an average price of $2.12 as compared to 104,989 boxes the year before at $2.32.

UPPER VALLEY GUARDS GIVEN GOOD RATINGS

Maj. Mockbee Lauds 31st Battalion

McALLEN—The 31st battalion of the Texas Defense guard was highly commended by Major E. E. Mockbee, Brownsville, commander of the 24th battalion, who served as inspection officer at the final inspection of the Upper Valley battalion held Friday night before a crowd of 500 spectators at the high school athletic field.

Major Mockbee declared the battalion was "in excellent shape in view of the short amount of time spent on its training."

The necessity for an adequately trained force of civilians to care for possible emergencies was stressed by Major Mockbee and Lieutenant Colonel Harry Carroll of Harlingen, reviewing officer, in the brief addresses each made to the men at the close of the inspection.

Formal inspection was followed by an officers' assembly at Legion hall when Major Mockbee, Colonel Carroll and Major Lloyd Bentsen talked to the companies' officers on technical details.

Taking part in the inspection were the four companies of the 31st battalion which include: A, Mission; B, McAllen; C, Pharr; and D, Donna.

CAMPUS FLIER PLAN WORKING

7 U. S. Universities Supply Cadets

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Groups of army flying cadets have been formed quickly among students of seven universities, the war department reported Saturday, raising official hopes of obtaining thousands of additional fledgling fliers from college campuses.

At the outset of a pre-commencement campaign, units of 20 students each were formed at Stanford, University of Tennessee, Ohio State, De Pauw and De Paul Universities, Montana State and Utah State. Two groups each were organized at Tennessee and De Paul.

The special units, to be formed in cities as well as in colleges, are to be kept intact during the period of training or more than seven months.

The campus recruiting campaign, which started this week, was concentrated at the outset on institutions with more than 1,000 students. The first groups are expected to start training as pilots in a class of more than 2,000 starting July 19.

Nelson Eddy Admits He Had A Good Job, But Says It Is A Lot Of Bunk About His Shirts; Never Refuses Part

By JOHN SELBY
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK—Big, blond Nelson Eddy says that his six years of extravagant success is just the case of a young man trying to hold his job in Hollywood.

It's a good job, he admits, but he won't tell how good it is. This is because he gets too many requests for help when six-digit income figures are banded about. But it is admitted generally that Eddy makes more money than any living musician, what with films, records and concerts.

He'll Take Any Part

Eddy has ideas about how to hold jobs.

"I've never yet refused to play a part they've asked me to play," he says in his deep, rich voice. "Even when it's not much of a part, as in 'Bittersweet,' I still take on the job. I'd rather work than not, and that's the truth.

'Heck, I can remember the kick I got when they moved me into the star's building after my first big picture, 'Naughty Marietta.'

"I can even remember how bewildered I was when they made 'Naughty Marietta.' The director said 'Go over there and do that' and I did. Then he said 'Come over here and do this' and I did. Then one day they said to go see the first version and boy, oh boy, did I get a kick? Because it made sense to me for the first time.

NELSON EDDY

Unkind To His Ego

"In fact, I thought I should take myself seriously, but after a picture or so I decided that I wasn't a very important person, but my job was important."

Eddy hasn't much patience with great singers who go out to Hollywood and get their backs up because Hollywood won't make films to suit their operatic talents.

"Opera has no more place in Hollywood," says Eddy, "than films have at the Metropolitan. Some day something like opera will come out of Hollywood—but it will be something written directly for the screen.

"You put 'La Traviata' on the screen as it is now, and it would seem either foolish or naive, and be too slow in any case."

In The Winter, Concerts

Eddy likes to dress well and inconspicuously. He likes sculpture, and he sculpts. He went to Williamsburg and was delighted with the houses he saw, so he built himself one in California. When he has a free moment, he visits museums. And he still is a singer—every winter he does 30 or 40 concerts. He's just closing his tour now.

He has one all-consuming passion. It is to fight down the legend that he can't send shirts to the laundry because they are stolen; that women tear the buttons off his coat and snip at his back hair with scissors.

"So help me," he says, "it's all the bunk and I never lost a shirt or a button in my life."

Few Lease-Lend Supplies Yet Shipped To British

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va) asserted Saturday that practically no lease-lend equipment had been shipped to Great Britain in the two months since Congress approved the $7,000,000,000 appropriation implementing the British aid bill.

Contending that production of the most essential war equipment was bogged down, the Virginia senator said in an interview that if the British were to get the weapons they need speedily "something ought to be done toward putting one man at the head of this program and eliminating the strikes that are hamstringing it."

Byrd showed reporters a letter from Maj. Gen. J. H. Burns, assistant to Harry Hopkins, the lease-lend administrator, on which he based his conclusion that only an "infinitesimal" amount of supplies had gone abroad.

Burns' letter was in response to a request from Byrd for a report on actual dollar losses of lease-lend equipment due to sinking of vessels on the high seas. Burns said:

"Because of the status of our stocks and current production, together with the needs of our own forces, the foreign aid programs depend in most part upon procurement under the $7,000,000,000 appropriation.

"This in turn requires the establishment, in cooperation with the country to be aided, of the detailed programs, the negotiation of contracts or agreements therefor by the appropriate agency of the government, in most instances the production of the material, the transfer to ports and finally the overseas shipments.

"It is obvious that in the approximately seven weeks during which procurement funds have been available no appreciable flow of materials could have reached the ports, much less the danger zones in the combat areas. . . ."

Elaborating on his contention that production of essential weapons was lagging, Byrd said, "I understand that the British need for heavy tanks is acute and we are not producing any heavy tanks. In fact our production of medium tanks is just starting.

"My information is that we are turning out from 500 to 600 combat planes a month, but we are just getting started on the production of 90 mm. anti-aircraft guns which the British forces need badly."

Hot Water Ahead

Capital Dispute On FD Powers Seen

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A double-headed dispute involving millions of dollars for farmers, the public, and the government, gathered momentum Saturday on the Senate side of the capitol.

One clash involved the administration's powers to fix "price ceilings" on farm products, metals, or anything else involved in the huge national defense drive. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) contended that President Roosevelt had absolutely no authority to do this.

DONNA FRUIT UNIT ELECTS

Checks Distributed; Prices Reported

Holdover directors in the association are Ray G. Shelley, Bert Schroeder and C. K. Anderson.

Marsh Seedless, $9.89; Marsh Pink, 23.36; Red Blush, $45.92; Foster Pinks, $15.79; Valencias, $32.81; Tangerines, $29.02; Hamlins, $20.43; Pineapples, $19.25.

Checks were also distributed to members who were in the association during the 1933-34 season, covering the return to them of reserve funds invested in the facilities of the plant during that season.

About 75 growers attended the meeting, and short talks were made by Bell and Shelley, president and secretary of the association respectively, C. T. Peters, plant manager, and R. B. McLeaish, general manager of the Rio Grande Valley Citrus Exchange. B. S. Mothershead made an auditor's report covering the operations of the plant during the past season.

The Donna association has made considerable progress during the past year in the way of increased membership and tonnage, it was reported. The directors and the management have, during this past season, worked out methods of performing additional services for their members in the way of financial assistance and cultural services.

Packing house costs were held at approximately the same figure as they were last season, notwithstanding increases in the cost of materials and labor due to current federal legislation.

NAZI ADMIRAL SAID SUICIDE

Gestapo Pays Visit To Hess' Friend

LONDON — (AP) — Norwegian sources in London said Saturday a German, Admiral Bohn, described as Nazi naval commander-in-chief in Norway and a friend of Rudolph Hess, recently committed suicide in Oslo after a visit from Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler.

These circles said reliable information from Norway was to the effect that Bohn's friendship with Adolf Hitler's deputy fuehrer, who flew to Scotland May 10, figured in the admiral's talks with Himmler.

The suicide was said to have occurred in the Grand Hotel in Oslo, capital of German-occupied Norway.

BOARD CALLS STRIKE TALK

Mediation Unit Will Not Compromise

By The Associated Press

The Defense Mediation Board adopted a "no compromise" stand Saturday in a fight to obtain acceptance of its recommendations by invoking President Roosevelt's proclamation of an unlimited national emergency.

A terse telegram signed by Philip Murray, president of the CIO and a board member, and by C. A. Dykstra, board chairman, summoned leaders of a strike in the Puget Sound area lumbering industry to a conference at Washington on Tuesday.

Board members declined to disclose what action would be taken, but Ralph T. Seward, executive secretary, asserted:

"There is no chance in the world that the board will back down. It is standing on its telegram of May 28. There will be no compromise."

The message to which Seward referred cited Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation, asked that the International Woodworkers of America (CIO) accept board recommendations and return to work, and requested that the message be brought to the attention of every one who had power to vote on the recommendations.

O. M. Orton, president of the union, responded by asserting that the recommendations had been rejected. Dykstra thereupon asked him again to bring the appeal to the attention of his membership.

To the second message, Orton replied:

"Recommendations of the National Defense Mediation Board as agreed in Washington by our committee have been submitted to a delegated conference of all local unions and from there submitted to the entire membership of locals with the right to vote and has been overwhelmingly rejected."

The point at issue, Seward contended, was whether the appeal had been brought to the attention of the union. It was apparently impossible to clear up the matter by telegram, he added, and for that reason Orton and his associates were called to the capital conference.

Asked the reason for Murray's signing the message, Seward said, "Mr. Murray signed in his capacity as president of the CIO as well as a member of the board."

The previous communications had been signed by Dykstra alone.

The strike started May 9 and the board said that it "constitutes a serious threat to the nation's preparations for defense."

Negotiations for a new contract between the Reynolds Metal Company, with plants in four cities, and 12,000 employes were suspended, but the federal labor conciliation service said that no deadlock had occurred and that the talks would be resumed in Washington on Thursday.

Boom Over Britain

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

The June new moon is already showing over England o'nights to stir grim forebodings of a new rain of terror from the skies.

The last fury of sustained Nazi night bombing came in the cycle of the May moon. After it waned in mid-May, there was a definite lull in German air attack.

The new moon, now in its first quarter, will be full over England about June 9. Given clear skies, England will be bathed in moonglow that night from dark to daylight. There will be many hours which might see a renewal of the furious night battling in the skies to test afresh British night-fighter skill and the courage and dogged will to carry on of the masses in England.

For a week or more on either side of the full moon, nowhere about English ports or industrial centers can there be certainty of even the little protection darkness affords from air bombing. June weather in England means usually clear skies. That reduces the degree of satisfaction with which its bomb-besieged people look to still lengthening days and shortening nights down to the summer solstice. They cannot yet have forgotten what the May moon period and clear skies meant for them.

To offset their dread of the June moon, however, they can hark back to the fact that the May moon which lighted a sustained and furious luftwaffe port-by-port attack on England also illuminated the fiercest and largest scale British counter-bombing operations over Germany. That heralded a definite step forward in British efforts.

Nazi Dread It, Too

There must be as much dread of the June moon cycle in such bomb-blasted German cities as Hamburg, Bremen and even Berlin as there is in London, The Midlands and in English west coast ports. Even heavier British counter blows are to be expected in June than were given in May.

Slowly but surely the gap in air power between England and her Nazi foes is closing. President Roosevelt's solemnly reiterated pledges that American aid for Britain could and would be forthcoming increasingly and at any cost warrants freer use of British reserve planes to meet or counter German attacks.

CHURCH BACKS 'JUST PEACE'

Methodists Set Up Policy Of Unity

CHICAGO — (AP) — A Methodist peace conference Saturday set forth a policy for "a just and enduring peace" which demanded that "a co-operative plan must be worked out whereby the world's resources may be developed for the good of all."

Great limitation of the economic and political sovereignty of each nation was recommended as another cornerstone in the economic foundations of peace.

Statements on various aspects of peace were adopted in a four-day exploratory study conference under the auspices of the Methodist World Peace Commission. The national conference was the first of a series of denominational inquiries, the conferees said, "to create a demand for a peace that will be more than a truce."

Average Allowable For Wells Is Hiked

AUSTIN—(AP)—Average net daily allowable production of Texas oil wells for the week ended Saturday was 1,431,692 barrels, an increase of 4,058 barrels over last week, the railroad commission reported.

The permissable flow was 49,492 barrels in excess of the bureau of mines recommendation of 1,382,200 barrels daily in May but application of a normal 3.5 per cent under production reduced actual flow 617 barrels below the bureau's standard, engineers said.

State Liquor Taxes Jumped During May

AUSTIN—(AP)—Liquor consumers poured $381,224 in taxes into the state treasury this month, an increase of $28,832 over May of last year.

Liquor Administrator Bert Ford said revenue has increased consistently every month this year.

He reminded that the recent increase from 96 cents to $1.28 in the per gallon levy and the new impost of 22 cents on each liquor prescription becomes effective Sunday.

WET YEAR IS PREDICTED BY WEATHERMAN

May Above Normal For Valley

BROWNSVILLE — Drenching rains recently ran the total rainfall for May up to 1.70 inches above normal here for the month and boosted the total since January 1 to almost four inches above normal, according to the local U. S. weather bureau office.

A total of 3.97 inches of rain fell here from May 1 up until May 31, weather observers said. Normal for the month of May is 2.27 inches.

The total this year has been 11.51 inches, or 3.84 inches above the normal of 7.67 inches.

This is almost half of the yearly normal, and the rainiest months, September and October, are still ahead, observers stated.

Rainfall here in 1940 totaled 26.81 inches, slightly below the yearly normal of 27.40 inches. A total of only 2.40 inches fell during May of 1940.

Another unusual feature of the weather recently has been the uniformity of temperatures, the weather bureau said. There have been no unusual high nor low temperatures, and unless May 31 temperatures exceed the mark, Brownsville will have a "May without a 90," officials announced.

Highest temperature for May up until Saturday was 89 degrees, recorded on May 30, May 6 and May 7.

And the highest temperature for this year here is only 91 degrees, recorded on April 19, the only reading of 90 or above since Jan. 1.

VICE CONSUL BEGINS WORK

Office At Reynosa To Be Opened Monday

McALLEN—Vice Consul Henry T. Smith of the U. S. Department of State will open a temporary office at Reynosa Monday, according to information received here from Herndon W. Goforth, American consul at Matamoros.

The vice consul will open the office again this summer for the purpose of visaing passports of Mexicans who wish to enter the United States and must have a visa under U. S. laws passed last year. Paul T. Vickers, McAllen chamber of commerce manager, and other chamber officials have made constant efforts during the last two years to have a consul permanently stationed at Reynosa. This action of placing Smith at Reynosa is the result of their work.

Goforth did not announce how long Smith would keep the Reynosa office open. It was expected that it would remain open for business for more than a month to take care of the visaing.

Chamber Committees For US Air Base At Harlingen Set

HARLINGEN—Chamber of Commerce President L. R. Baker announced the appointment of six Harlingen business men Saturday to head committees that will be set up to handle matters pertaining to the Army air base.

Six committees will be formed by the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of working out certain anticipated problems in connection with the base. Appointments made by the board of directors include a chairman of the housing committee who has not been named; Earl M. Davis, chairman of the traffic committee; R. C. Pryor, chairman of recreation for enlisted men; Dan Murphy, chairman of recreation for cadets; L. R. Baker, chairman of entertainment for officers; Joe Penry, miscellaneous matters; Arthur Dabney, public works.

The plan of the Chamber of Commerce is to set up a housing department to assist in providing satisfactory living quarters for workmen and army men. This committee will work with the real estate board and attempt to formulate a plan to keep all available rental properties listed for those desiring houses.

Recreation Factor

The recreational committees will have charge of all entertainment for the three classes of personnel. An inspection of other army camps and air bases, shows that recreation is an important factor in their operations.

The miscellaneous committee will have charge of all matters not included in other committees, it being the opinion of the chamber that many other matters will be brought to its attention.

A bill is now pending in the U. S. Senate authorizing an appropriation of several millions of dollars for the purpose of aiding cities located in defense areas in their public works problems. The public works committee will make a thorough investigation as to the most needed projects of the city, before any requests are made for federal aid.

Traffic problems arising on city streets and highways, will be handled by the traffic committee. A study is now being made of the possible hazards that will likely occur during the construction of the base.

To Perfect Setup

These chairmen will appoint five men each to complete their committees within the coming week, and will perfect their organizations soon.

The Chamber of Commerce has spent considerable time investigating problems that have arisen in other communities where army camps have been established, and Manager Ratliff recently visited a number of these cities for the purpose of securing information valuable to Harlingen when the air base is started. The officials of the chamber felt that Harlingen could profit by the experience of other cities, and have used every effort to assimilate all useful data pertaining to camp centers.

Naval Fight Seen In New Perspective

By The Associated Press

AN ENGLISH PORT—Statements that the German Bismarck was a 50,000-ton super-dreadnaught—largest fighting ship in the world—with 2,400 officers and men threw into new perspective Saturday last week's mighty naval duel in which she destroyed the battle cruiser Hood and then was sunk in vengeance.

A British naval officer who participated in the seafight which cut short the Bismarck's fierce challenge to British naval supremacy gave the first indication the Nazi capital ship was bigger than the 35,000-ton rating generally accorded her.

She was a 50,000-ton battleship, the officer declared—"undoubtedly far above anything we had thought of."

That statement shed new light on an assertion by a survivor of the Bismarck that she was crowded with 2,400 officers and men, 400 of them naval cadets. Approximately 100 were reported rescued.

(Previously, supposing the Bismarck a 35,000-ton ship, it had been estimated she carried no more than 1,500 officers and men.

First Naval Action

(The big ship's first fight with the Hood and Britain's new 35,000-ton Prince of Wales last Saturday was the Bismarck's first reported naval action since her completion during the war.)

WASHINGTON — (AP) — British suspicions that the second German battleship Bismarck was substantially larger than 35,000 tons are shared by American naval men. They are inclined to doubt, however, that the ship displaced as much as 50,000 tons.

Laid down in 1936, the Bismarck was completed long after the war suspended treaties which might have limited her size. Side armor was reported to have been put in place only last year, and it was considered possible that the thickness of this protection against shells and torpedoes might have been increased beyond original plans.

Exceed Standards

Fully loaded with fuel and all supplies, warships generally exceed the standard displacement tonnage as defined in international treaties. The weight of the water displaced by the new United States battleships North Carolina and Washington, when fully loaded, is estimated at about 41,000 tons, whereas their standard displacement tonnage is 35,000.

The Hood, British battle cruiser which fell victim to the Bismarck, had a rated standard displacement tonnage of 42,100 but her weight when fully loaded was put at 46,300.

The Bismarck, 118 feet wide, possessed the widest beam of any warship yet completed and her design thus lent itself to additions of armor and other weight not figuring in original calculations.

Agriculturists Hunt Pink Bollworms

McALLEN—Department of agriculture inspectors moved into Hidalgo county Saturday to begin inspection of blooms on the 1941 cotton crop.

Bloom inspection has been begun in all Valley counties for early detection of possible pink bollworm infestation. Inaugurated early last week in the Brownsville cotton area, results of the inspection so far are negative, officials said.

Concurrently the inspection of blooms in the area bordering the Rio Grande on the Mexican side is under way. No positive results have been found in the inspection of 50 acres in the Reynosa area and of a comparable acreage in the Matamoros section.

NEW LIBRARY HEADS CHOSEN

Progress Of McAllen Institution Shown

McALLEN—Continued growth of the McAllen Public Library during the past year was traced in the annual reports of the organization, featuring the annual meeting Friday afternoon when election of officers was held.

Mrs. T. J. Chidlow was re-elected president of the council, entering the second year of its management of the library, Mrs. W. H. Moon, vice president; F. O. Swan, secretary; and Eleanor Hambrick, treasurer.

City Commissioner Fidencio Guerra was named by Mayor Horace Etchison to represent the city on the executive board. He with the officers and Mrs. Si Casady, head of the book committee, complete the board personnel.

Because the annual expansion of the library is consistently a major factor in the yearly report, this year the executive board voted to take steps toward acquisition in the future of a library building to replace the ground floor of the Archer park bandstand which now serves as the public library.

Receipts reported this year almost doubled those for 1939 with $850 listed. Of this amount $712.50 was listed as the return from the annual budget drive and about $140 received from fines and rentals at the library. The 1939 receipts were $450.

Inclusion of 1,100 additional books on the shelves was also reported. The total included 500 books from the state library, a quantity recorded as gifts from library patrons and scores of new books the council purchased.

In an effort to provide accommodations for all desiring to use the building, the library will remain open daily from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

Much discussion was held at the annual session on opportunities to secure larger accommodations for the public library building. The council voted to investigate methods of financing construction.

BRITISH LOSE 100,000 MEN

War Casualties For 21 Months Told

LONDON —(AP)— British war casualties have reached the 100,000-mark for all three fighting services in 21 months of war, it was disclosed Saturday.

Almost half the total were said to be prisoners of war in Germany.

The figures, computed from official casualty lists, show that the war so far has cost only a fraction of the 3,190,235 British men killed, wounded, missing or taken prisoner in the World War.

The Germans were reported to have taken 2,000,000 Frenchmen and 40,000 British prisoners in France and the Low Countries while the British have taken 200,000 Italian prisoners in Africa.

Should the British again use as they did in the last war, it huge armies against the Germans should be unlikely that there would be masses of men killed on either side because of mechanized combat, the British said.

British military and naval casualties so far numbered 101,056, of which 74,164 were from the army, 15,896 from the navy and 10,996 from the air force.

Tough On Minors

When the selective service act went into effect, baseball fans did considerable worrying about how it would affect baseball. Many were of the opinion the minor leagues would be hit pretty hard.

Now it develops that military service losses amount to practically nothing.

But the small leagues are being hit hard by the big-pay jobs that have opened up in the defense program. Many players who were exempt from service for various reasons are quitting baseball to take jobs that pay many times what the small minor league clubs can hand out.

And it would not be a bit surprising to hear many moans from football coaches this fall, both college and pro. A football career is okeh but a nice fat paycheck each week is a pretty sight. We have a hunch young fellows will pass up the bumps of the gridiron come the football season.

Comes Through

We are remi ided that several years ago Fred Haney, manager of the St. Louis Browns, told us that in his opinion Roy would some day be one of the games finest hitting outfielders. He played for Fred when the little fellow was manager of the Toledo Mud Hens.

When Cullenbine was turned loose by Judge Landis, he picked up a nice wad of dough for signing with Brooklyn. He failed to stick and finally landed with Haney and the Browns. The rest of the story is told on the daily sports pages.

Just a case of a manager having faith in a certain ball player and then getting the satisfaction of seeing him come through.

Cardinal Booster

At the start of the 1941 major league races, we picked the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees to finish on top of their respective circuits.

While the Cardinals are on top, we might as well do a bit of crowing while we can.

At that, the Red Birds look like the team to beat in the senior loop. They have the hitting power and the pitching and that combination should produce results.

So far we haven't been able to do much bragging about the Yankees. They lack sometning. We would not feel badly to see them out of first place when the season ends for they have reaped just about all the honors one club should.

Right now, the Chicago White Sox are setting a hot pace. Whether they can stand up through the long grind is a question but they have shown no signs of weakening. And the Cleveland Indians are having trouble winning except when Bob Feller is on the mound. The Tribe is leading the pack but the Pale Hose are right behind and the Yanks are not far back.

It might be a race worth watching in the American League and the National loop always comes up with a thriller.

Runyan Moves Up

Paul Runyan, the little veteran from Arkansas, has moved into the front rank of the favorites for the National Open golf tournament to be played over Colonial Club at Fort Worth June 5-6-7.

By scoring a smashing triumph in the Goodall Round Robin in New York last week-end, "Little Poison" caused a notable shifting of the odds in local circles. Rated an "outsider" after three years of only fair success, Runyan has now been moved up even with Lawson Little and Byron Nelson on the dope sheets.

Runyan was born in 1908 at Hot Springs, Ark. Like so many other stars, he became interested in golf as a caddy. Since he broke into the big time in 1930, he's played in scores of big tournaments. He won the National P. G. A. in 1934 and 1938 and the Argentina Open in 1938. Since then, however, his major victories have been few and far between.

About the size of Ben Hogan, Runyan isn't a long hitter but he is very accurate. That type of game will go well at Colonial, which is strictly a "tee shot" course.

Moved up with Runyan by the wiseacres has been Vic Ghezzi, the tall, handsome ace who also did well in the Goodall. Texas still is strong for Hogan, Nelson, Ralph Guldahl and Jimmy Demaret. Other observers still like Gene Sarazen, Craig Wood and Sammy Snead. Snead and Wood were unable to play at New York because of injury and illness, but both hope to play in the Open.

Stewart To Finals

EL PASO, Tex.—(AP)—Two links veterans, Spec Stewart of Roswell, N. M., and Blaine McNutt of El Paso, meet Sunday in the final round of the Southwestern golf championships.

Stewart, defending champion who is gunning for his sixth Youth-Western crown, was carried to the 35th green in Saturday's semi-final play by scrappy, 19-year-old Bud Hale of El Paso.

McNutt, El Paso city champion, fired blistering sub-par golf during the morning 18 and coasted to a comfortable 8 and 7 winner over Ralph Petty, former titlist and sharp-shooting Carrizozo, N. M., grocer.

Ticket Sale Exceeds Any Other Open

Little And Runyan Made Favorites

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex. —(AP)—Golfdom's greatest show, the 45th Open championship, heads into Texas Sunday.

Staged in the Southwest for the first time, the Colonial Club will welcome the nation's best, a field of 172 qualifiers, to its green and lovely tree-studded, 7035-yard, par 70 layout stretching along the arms and lagoons of the forked Trinity river.

Title rounds start Thursday, but so great is golfing interest here that the gate charge goes up Sunday, and a 50,000 gallery figure is expected for the week.

A record has been set with more season tickets sold than for any other Open. Four thousand went out, beating the Cleveland 1940 record by a thousand.

Nearly 10,000 will pay to watch four days of practice shooting, according to Marvin Leonard, the Texan who created the Colonial links and backed a three-year drive to capture the National Open.

"Texas probably is more golf-minded now than any other state," said Leonard. "We play the year around and Texas has produced the cream of the present crop. We have the players and the courses.

"Colonial is in good shape for play. Rain this week has been welcome but Sunday we'd like sunshine and gentle breezes."

Leonard figures a gallery of 8,000 for the opening 18 holes of play on Thursday, 10,000 for the second round Friday, and perhaps 25,000 Saturday when the field is cut to 60 for the final 36 holes.

Lawson Little, defending champion; Ben Hogan, mighty mite with the perpetually blistered thumb from too much practice; Wilford Wehrle, amateur top-notcher, and others are already testing the course. Each hour adds more to the list.

Little and Runyan were quoted as six to one with Hogan and Byron Nelson, the mighty men from Texas, ranking as eight to one. The remainder of the field was offered at fifteen to one.

Club professional Bob Byrnes agrees with most of the entrants who have played the course that it is doubtful if 280—even par — will be broken for the 72 holes.

When the left hip fails to turn aside out of the path of the downstroke, the progress of the left arm is impeded, causing a collapse of this member and a hook to the ball. Quite often the player himself cannot immediately locate the cause of the trouble and attempts to steer the ball. This remedy does not straighten the ball's flight for the very simple reason that the let-up in swinging effort is not enough to force the left hip ot turn aside. What is required is a strenuous swinging effort, which will make the left side turn to the left and return the left heel to the ground. It is well for the player to keep continually conscious of the fact that the left hip turning movement is one of the first downswing motions, moving slightly forward and around as the downstroke gets underway.

During the national Amateur tournament of 1934, Lawson Little was having a great deal of this identical trouble with his drives. Easing up did not help matters at all and in desperation he tried hitting the ball hard to rid his game of the hook. This effort made the hip turn mandatory and forced the left heel down. Thereafter Little went on to win the title but it was only after the cure was effected that he realized just where the trouble lay.

Picard In Form

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)—Henry Picard, host pro at the Twin Hill Golf Club two-day match-medal 36-hole invitational tournament, was the best player around the first 18 holes Saturday, scoring a two-below-par 70.

Little Ben Hogan came through whenever Picard was out of a hole and they teamed up expertly for a lowball of 67.

That gave them a lead of 3 up on Byron Nelson and Sammy Snead at the halfway point. Hogan's score was 74, Snead's 76, Nelson's 76. The Nelson-Snead team had a lowball of 70.

Dr. Phil Bleakney Wins Leg On Roloff Trophy

PORT ISABEL—Dr. Phil Bleakney, sailing his new Sea Gull one design sloop, won the R. W. Roloff Memorial Day Trophy at Laguna Vista Friday.

The trophy was won by Dr. Bleakney of the Port Isabel Yacht Club on the boat making the best corrected time based on handicap allowance. Eddie Valent of Brownsville, sailing his fast sloop Bandolero, led the entire fleet of 15 yachts around the six mile course, to finish first on elapsed time of 1 hour, 9 minutes, 7 seconds, about 6 minutes ahead of the second boat across the finish line.

Johnny Shaffer of San Antonio, sailing his racing Snipe Petrol III, finished second on elapsed time of 1:14:45. Third boat to cross the line was the Zipperina of Brownsville, sailed by Phil Amsler, time 1:15:45; fourth, the Alibi of Port Isabel, Ed Hinkly, time 1:16:14; fifth, Sea Gull, Harlingen, Dr. Bleakney, time 1:20:46; sixth, the Betty Jean, Brownsville, time 1:22:01; seventh, Sedalia, Brownsville, time 1:22:52; eighth, Southerly, Donna, Fred Petch, time 1:25:06; ninth, Gypsy, Harlingen, G. E. Osborne, time 1:28:15; tenth, Margo, Harlingen, Grant Petch, 1:35:46; eleventh, Skipjack, Laguna Vista, Leo Baumfelder, 1:46:17; twelfth, Lark, Harlingen, Ewing Clark, 1:50:11; thirteenth, Helen, Brownsville, Bob Renfro, 1:54:44.

The 3 Star Hennessy of Corpus Christi, owned by Tom Nichols of the U. S. Naval Air Station, and sailed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grobokski of Corpus Christi, broke the mast on the Meteor class boat, just at the start of the race, and had to withdraw. The Salty of Brownsville, skipper T. J. Majors, started in the race but did not finish.

On corrected time, based on handicap allowance, the Petrol of San Antonio placed second, the Alibi third, Bandolero fourth, Southerly fifth, Betty Jean sixth, Zipperina seventh, Gypsy eighth, Sedalia ninth, Helen tenth, Margo eleventh, Skipjack twelfth, Lark thirteenth.

At a meeting of the race committee following the race, the Petrol III of San Antonio was ruled out of the race, because her skipper, J. Shaffer, crossed the finish line in the wrong direction and on the opposite side of the mark. In a collision at the start of the race between the Alibi and the Bandolero, the committee gave the decision on the protest to the Alibi who had the star board tack and therefore had the right-of-way over the Bandolero who was on the port tack.

A large crowd of Valley spectators witnessed the regatta, one of the most successful events held by the club. Refreshments were served to the skippers and crews on the end of the pier at Laguna Vista by Mr. Roloff. A dance was held at the clubhouse at Port Isabel Saturday night at 8 p. m. and a race will be held on the bay on the regular six mile course at 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon.

Defense Industries Hit Minor Loop Clubs Hard

By ROMNEY WHEELER

DURHAM, N. C. —(AP)— Big pay in defense industries, not the army draft, is causing minor league baseball its number-one headache, says President William G. Bramham of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Right up the line, from Class-D stragglers to the big boys of the Southern Association, and Texas League, the defense magnet is pulling men from the lineups. The ratio varies inversely with the league salary limits—$1,200 per-month-per club in Class-D, $5,200 in Class A-1.

"Industrial employment is taking far more men than the draft," says the minor league boss, "as is reflected by voluntary retirement of players who have entered the branches of industry engaged in war activities."

And, he adds, this is just about as it was in the first World War. Most clubs, particularly those in the Class-D and Class-C divisions, are finding able players scarce. But no professional club has gone under, although several semi-pro organizations have done so.

"Attendance so far this year has been better than last year due to better weather," says Bramham, balancing up the ledger. "Last year we had a great deal of rain throughout the country, which has been absent this year, but we have had some cool weather. This is true every year, and when the season winds up we find a general average has been maintained. This year the rain has been in that section of the country which claims it never rains —the Pacific Coast, Arizona and Texas.

"I admit a total lack of any ability to forecast the future, and in doing so I think I am just about as smart as anyone else in that respect. It is always customary to predict good things and then howl if they do not come. All I know is that baseball will thrive as other activities thrive, and it will suffer in depression times just as other industries will."

Trainer Says Fighters Perk Up On Between-Rounds Oxygen Sniff

AP Feature Service

SEATTLE—What vitamin B-1 pills are to the St. Louis Cardinals, Joe Herman hopes his portable oxygen tank will be to his fighters.

Herman, from Oakland, Calif., created quite a furore in the Pacific Northwest recently with the mask and tank.

He claims a fighter between rounds can take a few sniffs through the mask and have normal breathing restored through the pumping of valuable oxygen through the lungs into the blood stream.

Herman took bantamweight Tony Olivera to Vancouver, B.C., for a fight with Vancouver's Kenny Lindsay. The Canadians kicked up a terrific fuss over Herman's intention to use the oxygen apparatus.

Despite a warning not to use the tank in the ring, Herman brought it along "just in case Lindsay's managers said 'okay'."

"The boxing commission ordered it out, so I hauled it out again.

"So imagine my chagrin after the fight was over (Olivera lost) and I started to let Olivera and Lindsay share a whiff of its magic elixir?

It Takes Consistent Golf To Win An Open But Champs Recall A Tide-Turning Shot

By DILLON GRAHAM
Sports Editor, AP Feature Service

THE heaviest firing in Texas since the early two-gun days on the Panhandle begins next Thursday in Fort Worth.

The modern shooting-irons, though, will be steel-shafted golf clubs, not six-shooters, as the state whose sons have won three of the last four titles stages its first U. S. Open golf championship.

Unless someone goes hog wild, the winner at the Colonial Club will use up about 285 strokes. In the final score one of these strokes will count just as much as another. But, chances are, the victor will be able afterwards to single out one particular shot and say that won him the crown.

LAWSON LITTLE

Let's look back over the last 10 Open championships and spot these shots that won:

Little's Great Putt

A putt did it last year. On the 14th playoff hole Lawson Little held a two-stroke lead over Gene Sarazen. Little lay three, facing an 8-foot sloping, downhill putt. Gene was two off the green—but holed out on his third. A missed putt would have meant a 5 at best for Lawson—and that would have put the match all even and given Sarazen an upsurging psychological edge. But Lawson drilled it in, broke Sarazen's heart and went on to victory.

A 200-yard clothes-line 1-iron shot was the clincher for Byron Nelson two years ago in his second playoff with Craig Wood. It came on the 4th hole and it bent Wood's back. Nelson slapped this iron shot straight for the pin and it rolled in for an eagle deuce and a Nelson advantage that Wood couldn't overcome.

A sand wedge shot enabled Ralph Guldahl to win the 1937 crown with an all-time low of 281. Sam Snead had finished with 283 and Ralph was roaring down the home stretch to outscore him. His approach to the 15th hole struck a spectator and bounced into a trap. Guldahl quieted his temper, performed a perfect blast and the ball sat down three feet from the hole. He canned his putt for a par and rushed on to win.

Niblick In '38

Guldahl thinks a niblick won for him the following year. It came on the 18th hole of his third round at Cherry Hills, Denver. His ball landed in a hollow just off the green. It seemed he'd lose a shot or two to par. "I took my niblick and chopped true to the cup for a par 4," he recalls. On the final round he fired a 69 that boosted him past all his foes.

GENE SARAZEN

Tony Manero figures a bold shot he played on the 16th hole of the last round won him the 1936 tournament. For his approach to this green, Manero had the choice of playing safe for a par through a wide entrance to the green or of banging away for the pin, stuck near a trap guarding the green. He dared, and hit a 5-iron for the flag. It stopped a few feet away and he holed it for a birdie. That, with pars on the closing holes, permitted him to whip Harry Cooper.

Parks Recalls 30-Footer

You'll recall how the professionals yipped and yelped about the rolling, close-cropped slick greens at Oakmont in 1935. That was the year Sam Parks, the home town boys, won. And because he knew those greens. But despite his familiarity, they gave him the jitters, too. Sammy says the 30-foot chip he sank with a 5-iron to give him an eagle-3 on the par 5 ninth hole during the third round was the one that gave him the confidence to putt boldly and win. And it also gave him the two-stroke margin by which he beat Jimmy Thomson.

BYRON NELSON

Olin Dutra credits a tricky putt with bringing him the 1934 crown at Philadelphia's Merion Cricket club. It was at the 15th hole of the last round. He needed to sink a 30-footer for a par to hold a stroke margin over Gene Sarazen. "It was a left-to-right putt with a five or six-foot break," Dutra remembers. "Two-thirds of the distance was uphill. The last third was down and to the left. I had to carry the incline and I wanted the ball to die about five feet from the hole. It did. It trickled on down and into the cup."

An impossible trap shot that came off won the 1933 Open for amateur Johnny Goodman. It was on the 16th hole of the last round. Goodman pulled his iron to the short hole into the sand. The lie was difficult and Goodman doubted he would be able even to reach the green. But he did and sank a five-footer for his par.

Downhill To Win

Getting down a tricky 6-foot downhill putt on the ninth hole of the third round of the 1932 championship at Fresh Meadow set fire to Sarazen's game. That putt rolled in for a deuce and touched off one of the hottest stretches in Open history. Gene played the next 27 holes in just 98 strokes, with a closing 66 that won the crown.

RALPH GULDAHL

A sand wedge shot from the rough won golf's most famous marathon —the 72 extra hole playoff for the 1931 championship — for Billy Burke. It was on the 12th hole of the final playoff round. George Vo. Elm was on the 520-yard par 5 hole in two. Burke's second was off the fairway and his third was over the green in the rough. It seemed that Burke must lose two or three shots to Von Elm. But Billy holed out his sand wedge shot for a birdie-4 to tie Von Elm. "I felt then that I couldn't lose," Billy says. He finally beat Von Elm by a single stroke.

They were great shots, all of them, winning shots. And it won't be long new before you hear the new champion telling about the shot that won for him.

'Lefty' Bumpers Appears Set For Try At Pro Game

Posted Fine Record With Aggies

COLLEGE STATION—(Spl)—One baseball scout recently was quoted as saying it takes five years to make a good left handed pitcher and in the case of Lemuel (Lefty) Bumpers, Texas Aggie ace hurler, that apparently is true.

Bumpers played his first baseball at Texas A. & M. as a freshman five years ago and then became ineligible for athletic participation for the next two years but got back into good scholastic graces last year to be among the leading hurlers in the Southwest Conference. All during his ineligibility he worked out daily with the team perfecting control which showed some improvement over his wild freshman hurling.

This year he was right on top with the best crop of pitchers in the conference and held his 15 opponents to an average of 2.36 earned runs for each nine innings he worked.

He toiled 110 2/3 innings in 15 baseball games, allowed 83 hits and 29 earned runs while fanning 74 enemy batters and walking but 41.

He has several offers from professional baseball clubs but is weighing them all before affixing his signature to a contract. He will graduate this year and hopes to make professional baseball his career. If he falls down on that line he still has his education in animal husbandry to fall back upon and his grades over the past two years indicate that he will have no trouble in landing a good position with one of the several meat packers who are after him.

Jake Schuehle To Ellington

HOUSTON, Tex. —(AP)— Charles (Jake) Schuehle, former star fullback of the Rice Owls, has been appointed assistant athletic director of Ellington Field, and will take complete charge of the athletic program there within 15 days, it was announced Saturday by Col. Walter H. Reid, commander of the aviation field.

Schuehle recently was named assistant coach at Conroe high school, but passed up this appointment for the Ellington Field post, which comes under civil service.

The husky former gridder now is at Randolph Field in San Antonio, attending a meeting of athletic directors of the Gulf Coast area, and will report to the local field soon.

He will act as coach for the baseball, football and basketball teams at Ellington, and also will have charge of general physical conditioning of the cadets.

Schuehle's home is in Hondo.

Harlingen Selects Play Brownsville Team Today

HARLINGEN — The Harlingen Southern Selects will meet the Brownsville Merchants in a doubleheader at Fair Park here Sunday afternoon with the first game scheduled to get under way at 3 o'clock.

The Selects will be playing under a new manager Sunday, "Slim" Mills, former American Association hurler, taking over the reins. He will also pitch the first game with Guevara slated for mound duty in the nightcap.

Determined to climb out of the slump that cost them four games, the Selects will probably shift the lineup around to find more batting punch. No new players have been secured but the club is determined to put more figures in the win column and have high hopes of chalking up a double victory here Sunday.

It will be Ladies Day at Fair Park Sunday and with much advance interest being shown, a large crowd is expected.

The standings of the clubs in the Valley Semi-Pro League are as follows:

New York Wins IC4A Track Meet

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK —(AP)— Black-haired Leslie MacMitchell gave a courageous performance Saturday to lead New York University's track and field forces to an impressive victory over 40 other colleges in the 65th I.C.A.A.A.A. championships at Triborough Stadium.

After giving the Violets 10 points with his smashing wins in the mile and 880-yard runs, MacMitchell came back in the gloaming to run a vital second lap that enabled his team to capture the mile relay and clinch the team title with a total of 31 points.

Pittsburgh's well-balanced team took second honors with 21 19/28 points, despite the fact that the Panthers won only one first place all afternoon. Penn State took third with 20 3/7 points, with Rhode Island fourth at 18 3/4.

Great as was MacMitchell's individual showing, it was at least matched by that of Norwood Ewell, a fleet, springly little Negro running for Penn State. For the second straight year Ewell won the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump, smashing a long-standing intercollegiate record of 20.8 seconds for the 220 when he romped it off in 20.7 to beat his field by four yards. He tied the I. C. 4-A. record of 9.6 for the century.

Ewell became the first athlete ever to win three championships two years in succession, while MacMitchell's three long, winning runs gave N. Y. U. the first outdoor track title in ever won.

Big Al Blozis of Georgetown won both the shotput and the discus for the second straight year and established a new meet record of 54 feet, 3 inches for the shot. His own former mark of 53 feet, 9 1/2 inches was set in last year's championships.

The feature tidbit of the program, an extra-added attraction in which Greg Rice displayed his famous stride for two miles against Ralph Schwarzkopf, ex-Michigan captain, and Melvern Trutt, formerly of Indiana, didn't produce much excitement or particularly fast running.

Rice won it in 9 minutes, 5 6/10 seconds, with Schwarzkopf second about 10 yards back. As for Trutt, he resigned after five laps.

'Machines Beat Us' Menzies Declares

MELBOURNE, Australia —(AP)— Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, commenting on British reverses in Crete, declared Saturday that "machines are defeating us" and "it may be we have not yet reached the lowest ebb of our fortune."

The newspaper, Argus, declared, meanwhile that public opinion was prepared to pass over the defeat of British Imperial Forces in Greece without recrimination, but said such restraint was conditional on no further continuation of the "unreal policy" which brought about the situation in Crete.

Joe Kuhel was the first member of the White Sox to hit a home run at home this year. It beat Washington, 3 to 2. The same day, April 29, Chet Laabs was the first St. Louis Brown to hit a four-sacker in his own park and it also resulted in a 3 to 2 vitcory for his team.

Fishing Rodeo Folder Out Soon

PORT ISABEL—Folders for the Rio Grande Valley Fishing Rodeo are now under process of preparation at Saint Louis, Mo., under the direct supervision of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company. These folders should be in the hands of the Rodeo organization next week. They will follow a similar pattern to the folders of 1940 except their size has been slightly reduced in order that they will fit into the standard business envelope.

As in the past the Rodeo organization urges all Valley business institutions and individuals to secure a supply of these folders from their local Chamber of Commerce office or they may write directly to the Rodeo office at Port Isabel and that they be mailed out to out-of-Valley points in all correspondence. The folder, however, is arranged with space for address and may be mailed individually for one and one-half cents. Fifteen thousand of these folders will be supplied and it is urged by the Rodeo organization that all of these folders be distributed as soon as possible.

The Rodeo office at Port Isabel will be pleased to provide the postage and mail the folders direct from this office upon receipt of lists of names and addresses. The placing of folders in the hands of as many individuals as possible will not only increase the attendance at our contest in August but will carry the message of our excellent fishing opportunities to every corner of America.

Careful estimates show that 120,000,000 acres of former waterfowl habitat have been taken from use by agriculture, manufacturing, and other industries.

Omaha Matron Annexes Trans-Mississippi Golf Championship

Mrs. Mann Wins Over Agnes Wall

Putting Real Story Of Match

By WILLIAM T. RIVES

HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP)—Ten years of striving for the Women's Trans-Mississippi golf championship finally were rewarded for Mrs. Russell Mann Saturday. But the attractive Omaha, Nebr., matron had to beat her good friend and room-mate, 22-year-old Mary Agnes Wall, in a bitter 36-hole fight before emerging a one-up victor.

Briefly, putting told the story. Miss Wall, freckle-faced, amiable Menominee, Mich., miss, dolefully watched a 12-inch effort roll by the 35th hole of River Oaks, where the greens laugh at the players. That left her one down.

A bold brassie shot put her on the 36th green in 26. Mrs. Mann was to the right of the carpet in 2, shot over a trap and calmly rapped in a 15-foot putt for a half and the match.

Elated over her first Trans-Miss win, Mrs. Mann said: "That's what I've been working for all these years and at last I've done it." Miss Wall never had played in a 36-hole tilt before, and was weary from the tension and soaring heat of the afternoon round. She dubbed several shots on the last nine from sheer weariness but always was able to rise to the heights when necessary to keep the match alive.

Two down through 31 holes, she won the next with a par 5 when Mrs. Mann conceded after taking five to get on, and sacked the 34th with a great birdie, the result of two powerful wood shots to the green. Then fell the break that actually decided the contest, the loss of a hole when all signs pointed to nothing less than a half.

"The 17th hole has been hard for me all through the tournament," Miss Wall explained sadly later. Both missed the par 4, 17th, played Saturday afternoon as the 35th.

On in 3, Mrs. Mann took two putts. Miss Wall's first try went past the cup but nestled one foot away.

Remindful of her previous troubles on the hole, she took her time, stroked the putt well, but the ball rolled by the tip.

That was the end, although Mary Agnes wrestled on, her brassie second on the closing hole was one of her greatest shots but there was nothing she could do about Mrs. Mann's 15-foot putt for a half in par 4's.

"I knew Lucille was going to sink that putt," Miss Wall said. "She was long overdue."

Mrs. Mann, the former Lucille Robinson, Curtis Cup player, had trouble with her putting all day, three-putting four greens on the morning round.

Phooey On 'T', Says Jones, Nebraska'll Still Use Power

AP Feature Service

LINCOLN, Neb.—Major Lawrence M. Jones, Nebraska football coach, says the "feint," when backed with raw power, is football's best weapon of deception.

So the major is one top-notch coach who isn't worried about the "T" formation or any other sleight-of-hand performance, even though Coach Clark Shaughnessy's Stanford magicians whipped Nebraska in the 1941 Rose Bowl game.

He'll continue, he said, to teach his boys how to apply power plays, then how to feint the other fellow out of position and hit him—hard!

There's plenty of deception, Jones says, in the single wingback system he uses. He admits that many of the maneuvers employed by his team, such as the shifting of backs a yard or two this or that way, the angle at which the cutback is made by the ball carrier, and the "cut" of pass receivers, are the kind that escape the eyes of spectators. But he gives his word that the opposing player who gets caught in the middle knows what happens.

Thus the major says his eye will always be peeled for the player who can combine power with the ability to feint. Jones likes power and this is why he wants it always present:

"It's there when you've got to have it. It's there when you run into a rain or snow storm, a wet or frozen field following a storm and a wind that you can't pass against. That's why I like power football."

Jones lost 13 seniors off his Rose Bowl team, plus five men to the National Guard, but just the same he thinks his club next fall will be on the potent side if draft calls don't catch too many.

BUFFS 5; MISSIONS 1

HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP)—Fred Martin, Houston's sensational right hand hurler, hung up his ninth consecutive victory Saturday as the Buffs turned back San Antonio, 5-1.

Martin gave up but five hits, and had a shutout until the eighth, then Schleuter, with one out, doubled to center. He took third as George Hausmann, a pinch hitter, grounded out and scored on Busch's single to center. Martin then fanned Bob Neighbors for the third out.

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Tulsa's Oilers won their series opener here with Oklahoma City's Indians Saturday night, 3 to 0, sewing it up in the ninth with two runs off reliever Stan Goletz.

The contest was featured by fine performances from both teams, with the Indians' hurler Pete Mallory holding the Oilers to one run until he went out for a pinch-hitter in the last inning. Lefthander Max Thomas did equally well for the visitors, getting into danger only three times.

DALLAS —(AP)— Those ancient Texas League rivals—Fort Worth and Dallas—got together on local soil Saturday night for the first time this season and the homelings won, 2 to 1.

Grey Clarke's wind-blown double in the first inning scored Nick Gregory and Roy Mort for all the runs the Rebels needed.

SOFTBALL

McALLEN— Second place in the McAllen Softball League will be at stake when the McAllen Lions clash with the Sharyland TCX squad in the 8 p. m. game here Monday night.

At present the Lions are resting in the runner-up spot, boasting a half-game margin over the TCX team, which barely missed taking over second place Friday night.

Leading the Pharr Levins Garagemen 2-0 with one out in the seventh, Sharyland allowed the first place holders to escape with nothing worse than a 2-2 tie. The hour time limit was up after the Garagemen had put across their two-run rally.

First inning singles and a home run by Raymond Miller in the third gave TCX its lead. Cucu Hernandez' one-bagger, an error, and a long fly in the last of the seventh enabled the Garagemen to maintain their undefeated record.

Brilliant fielding and tight pitching made the game the best played this season. Monte Hetrick, on the mound for Sharyland, was up to his old tricks, struck out eight, walked none, and allowed three singles. His opponent, Mike McKinney, scattered five singles in addition to Miller's homer, fanned five, and walked a similar number.

In the second game, a non-conference tilt, the Lions smashed out a 16-3 victory over the Mission Lumbermen. Tommy Hermanson homered for the winners, while Wood hit a four-bagger with the bases packed for Mission.

Highlight of the week's schedule will come Friday night when Sharyland and Pharr take on the Cox and Hammon team of Freer, one of South Texas' stronger teams, in a doubleheader.

McAllen churches plan to inaugurate a league soon. First interchurch play of the year will be a non-league affair Wednesday night between the Methodists and the Baptists.

HARLINGEN—All upholstery of the sedan belonging to B. G. Barnett, Harlingen, was burned out early Saturday afternoon, when the vehicle caught fire just north of the Valley Refinery on the Combes road, while Barnett was driving it to town. Harlingen firemen summoned to put out the blaze, said it apparently was started by a battery cable, on which insulation had worn off. They said the car was not insured.

WHITE SOX 4; BROWNS 3

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Chicago White Sox, playing just good enough to protect their four-game winning streak, advanced to within a game and a half of first place Saturday with a 4 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

It was Chicago's sixth win in eight games with the Browns and their 14th triumph in their last 19 games.

Young Jack Hallett wobbled badly in the early innings, yielding five hits and four bases on balls in three games. Then he settled down and hurled hitless ball until the eighth, becoming the 30th White Sox pitcher to go the route in 41 games.

Take It From The Champion, Badminton's Easy To Learn

AP Feature Service

POMONA, Calif.—Adept beginners can become experts faster at badminton than at any other sport, says Dave Freeman, 20-year-old Pomona College athlete who reigns over America's 4,000,000 shuttlecock smashers.

"Anyone with a fair amount of ability, a pretty good eye and competitive spirit can quickly learn to play a good game of badminton," he says. "In tennis you have to polish your strokes for years. If you try hard in badminton you can get pretty good within a year by playing only three times a week."

'You Don't Get Far'

Shapely Evelyn Boldrick, 1940 champion and 1941 runner-up, says there are very few fat women players.

"It's the stretch, reach and run that keeps us slim," she says. "I train on steak and other good food, and never worry about my figure."

Mary Whittemore, Boston singles and doubles star who bounces throughout each match, says "the game is so much fun I never stop to think why I play it."

Freeman and Thelma Kingsbury, former English champions who came to this country nearly four years ago, won the 1941 national singles titles at Cleveland.

Title Monopoly

For Freeman it was the third successive national amateur singles crown, and for the second successive year he shared the men's and mixed doubles crowns.

It was the first American singles title for Miss Kingsbury, who also captured a share of the women's doubles championship.

Both champions are slim and sandy-haired, with live-rubber legs and a steel-snap of the wrist. Miss Kingsbury is left-handed, Freeman right-handed.

Dave stands slightly under six feet and weighs 150 pounds. He started playing tennis at 10, and a few years later captured the national junior championship. In his spare time he played table tennis, and soon captured the California title in that game.

FD's Chat, Bismarck Feature Of Newsreel

HARLINGEN—Flown here by air mail from New York, Paramount's latest news reel release, slated Saturday and Sunday at Arcadia Theatre, will feature President Roosevelt's recent "fireside chat," and the sinking of the Nazi battleship Bismarck.

Paramount has devoted the entire reel to these two momentous events, aides for Manager Jack King said.

Crows can sometimes be taught to talk. Contrary to popular opinion, the tongue need not be slit. Slitting the tongue is unnecessary cruelty. Birds produce vocal sounds within the body from the syrinx.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO—(AP)—After falling as much as a cent to the lowest levels in about two weeks, wheat prices Saturday recovered all of the loss and pushed upward for gains of almost a cent.
The market's about-face was attributed to short covering and evening-up operations prior to the close. Some traders credited buying to mills while others contended dealers were anticipating producers' two-thirds approval of the marketing quota system at Saturday's nation-wide referendum. A sharp rally of soybeans also strengthened wheat.
Early wheat weakness was associated with a heavy two-day accumulation of receipts at some terminals, climaxing a record-breaking movement for the month, expectations of upward revision of new crop estimates and war news.

By BERNARD S. O'HARA
NEW YORK—(AP)—You could have put Saturday's stock market in your right eye without bringing on even a slight case of astigmatism.
While there was a semblance of dealings, Wall Street was notably bare of customers as the majority extended Friday's holiday over the week-end.
So far as prices were concerned, the list stepped out of the week and month with a moderately lower drift although scattered aircrafts and specialties managed to emerge with fractional gains.
Transfers for the two hours of 107,100 shares were the smallest since Aug. 24, and compared with 160,260 a week ago. The Association Press average of 60 stocks was off .1 of a point at 39.6 and on the week was down .2. For the month the composite was up .4.
It was one of the narrowest markets, in the matter of the number of stocks traded, in two decades or more. Of about 1,260 listed issues, only 345 changed hands, actually a low market, since Aug. 24, when 303 were dealt in. In Saturday's total, 127 were off, 93 up and 125 unchanged.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE
NEW YORK—(AP)—Stocks—Easy; aircrafts resistant.
Bonds—Mixed; holiday cuts trading.
Foreign Exchange—Quiet; Hongkong and Shanghai dollars dip.
Cotton—Lower; New Orleans and commission house liquidation.
CHICAGO:
Wheat—Closed strong after weak opening; short covering.
Corn—Strong with wheat.

BOSTON WOOL
BOSTON—(AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Greasy combing domestic and foreign wools in the Boston market were slower than during the previous week. Inquiries were mostly for future delivery as most users were covered on current needs. Sizeable orders were placed for foreign wools for future delivery, but the demand for spot wools was slow. Scattered buying in combing three eighths and quarter blood bright fleece wools was mostly at steady prices ranging 46-47 cents, in the grease. Only a little fine Delaine bright fleece wool was moved at 42-44 cents, in the grease. Combing half blood bright fleece wool was quiet at 43-45 cents, in the grease.

'BLOOD AND SAND' AT CAPITOL, ARCADIA & PALACE THEATRES

Linda Darnell And Rita Hayworth Are Seen In Featured Supporting Roles

TYRONE POWER has his most colorful screen role in the Technicolor film production "Blood and Sand," with Linda Darnell and Rita Hayworth heading the featured supporting cast which includes Nazimova, Anthony Quinn, J. Carroll Naish and Lynn Bari.

The one screen star who in the past few years has appeared in more outstanding film than any other of Hollywood's leading actors, Tyrone Power was selected for the starring role in "Blood and Sand," not only for his popularity, but for his colorful and dashing qualities, characteristic of a great matador, whom he portrays in the picture.

To faithfully capture the true color of Spanish costumes, architecture and atmosphere, the picture was filmed in Mexico City; the Mexican capitol being one of the few places in the new world that retains the beauty, color and vibrantly rich Spanish atmosphere of the old world.

In addition to the vivid panorama portrayed on the screen in flaming Technicolor, the story of "Blood and Sand" is filled with thrilling romance, spectacle, adventure and beauty. The background and the spectacle of the bull fight arena highlight the dramatic love story of a death-defying matador torn between the love of a beautiful wife and the fatal charm of an alluring temptress.

"Blood and Sand," is booked for current showing today through Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre in Brownsville, the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen and the Palace Theatre in McAllen.

Popularity of Dance Results From Film

The motion picture "Blood and Sand" will make its contribution to the American dance by the popularity of the dance number, "The Dance Torero."

VALENTINO IN SILENT FILM

'Blood And Sand' Was Stars First Hit

In the early days of silent motion pictures one of the screen's greatest stars first received public acclaim as the dashing star of "Blood and Sand," the gripping story of a fearless matador who defies death in the bull fight arena for love and glory.

Valentino was the screen's leading star in the early 20's and in addition to his appearance in "Blood and Sand" was starred in such outstanding pictures of that day as "The Shiek" and "Son of The Shiek."

The new Technicolor screen production of "Blood and Sand" stars Tyrone Power who like Valentino in his day of stardom, gained fame for his appearances in romantic, action-filled roles. His most noted being in "Jesse James," "The Rain Came," "Johnny Apollo" and "The Mark of Zorro."

In "Blood and Sand," Power contributes an inspired performance as a fearless matador, who is torn between the love of his beautiful wife, played by Linda Darnell and the allure of a fiery temptress in the person of Rita Hayworth. The featured supporting cast includes Nazimova, Anthony Quinn, J. Carrol Naish, John Carradine and Lynn Bari.

Linda Darnell, Tyrone Power and Rita Hayworth in the sensational Technicolor screen production of "Blood And Sand," which heralds a month of outstanding screen entertainment at Valley Interstate Theatres during the month of June. "Blood And Sand" is booked for current showing today, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre in Brownsville, the Palace Theatre in McAllen and the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen.

Tyrone Power, starred in "Blood And Sand" is seen in the role of a famed matador. The picture was adapted to the screen from Vincente Blasco Ibanez' novel of the same title.

'Blood And Sand' Heralded As Most Thrilling Love Story Ever Filmed

Heralded as the most thrilling love story ever filmed "Blood and Sand," has as it's romantic stars Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell and Rita Hayworth with Nazimova, Anthony Quinn, J. Carroll Naish, John Carradine and Lynn Bari in featured supporting roles.

Depicting the romantic and thrilling adventures of a Spanish matador the story presents the eternal triangle of a hero torn between the love of a beautiful wife and an alluring temptress.

It is a drama of contrasts, showing, the poverty of a youthful bullfighter before he achieves overflowing wealth as the most famous of all matadors. The contrast between devotion and fidelity of his wife, and the callous fickleness of a beautiful siren.

In addition to the featured cast of stars thousands of extras were employed to combine all the sweep of a panorama with the sensitivity of a great love story in bringing this sensational romantic-drama to the screen.

Rita Hayworth Is Much Photographed

BUT SINCE EASY HAS BEGUN LEAVING FLOWERS AT HER CAVE, SHE IS TROUBLED, BEWILDERED.

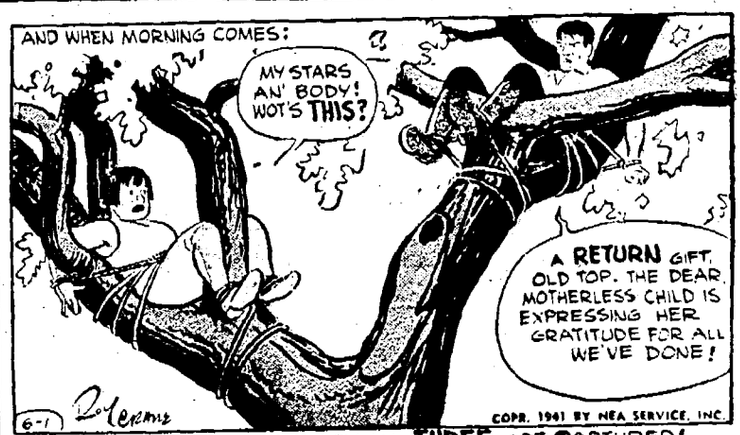

CAUTIOUSLY, THE "WOLF-GIRL" EATS THE FUDGE. BUT WHY, SHE WONDERS, HAVE THESE CREATURES COME TO HER ISLAND? WHY MUST THEY BEWILDER HER? WHY CAN'T THEY LEAVE HER ALONE TO SWIM AND PLAY?

THAT NIGHT SHE SLIPS SILENTLY THRU THE JUNGLE
